Framing the Sex Scene: A New Take on Israeli Film History Naomi Rolef,2021-02-22 This book retells the history of Israeli film in the 1960s and 1970s in sex scenes Through close readings of the first sex scenes in mainstream Israeli movies from this period it explores the cultural and social contexts in which these movies were made More specifically it discusses how notions of collective identity individual agency and the public and private spheres are inscribed into and negotiated in sex scenes especially in light of the historical events that marked these decades This study thus pushes away from the traditional academic perception of Israeli film and opens up new ways of understanding how it has developed in recent decades It draws on a growing international body of academic literature on the cinematic representation of sex in order to illuminate the particularities of the Israeli context in the 1960s and 1970s Apart from film scholars and scholars of Israeli film this study also addresses readers interested in Israeli cultural history more broadly Contemporary Jewish-American

Abraham Cahan Sanford E. Marovitz, 1996 In Abraham Cahan Sanford E Marovitz relates in telling detail Cahan's rise from green newspaperman to discriminating novelist and shrewd editor of the daily Yiddish Forward After a difficult start Cahan a founder of the Forward edited the paper for nearly 50 years bringing its circulation to an impressive quarter million during its heyday in the early 1920s An ardent advocate of assimilation Cahan saw the Forward as a means of acculturating newly arrived Jewish immigrants to America and helping them gain economic stability Although Cahan was first and last a newspaperman he wrote what is still considered one of the best fictional accounts of the American immigrant experience The Rise of David Levinsky Written in English as were all the novels and stories covered in Abraham Cahan and published in 1917 the novel tells the story of the title character's rise from poor Hebrew scholar in Russia to successful businessman in America and of the psychological and spiritual price he pays for neglecting his emotional life For this and other works of fiction such as the Yekl A Tale of the New York Ghetto 1896 and the short stories collected in The Imported Bridegroom 1898 Cahan was both praised and criticized for his brutal realism He populated his stories with flawed and often conflicted characters and spared his readers few of the grim details of existence in the Jewish ghetto Part of Cahan's motivation for writing fiction in English was to educate non Jewish American readers about Jewish culture history and persecution in both the Old and New Worlds His novel The White Terror and the Red 1905 particularly dramatized the violence Eastern European Jews suffered at the hands of czarist police Another motivation for writing in English was to humanize Jews in the eyes of America's Gentiles most of whom at that time perceived the Jewish people to be strangely different from themselves Interestingly in spite of

Cahan's sympathies with the plight of his fellow Jews he did not practice his religion but embraced socialism and promoted it as a means to help Jewish immigrants achieve social and economic security

BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Handbook of American-Jewish Literature Lewis F. Fried, Gene Brown, Jules Chametzky, Louis Harap, 1988-01-26

The title is perhaps a bit deceptive for this is assuredly more than a handbook might indicate. Fried's anthology is a truly complex work bringing together eighteen essays of mostly uniform high quality and masses of bibliographic resources to present a comprehensive overview. Fried's book does not present the original works themselves but rather culls mostly outstanding essays on the prose, poetry, drama, and literary criticism produced by Jewish writers in America from the final decades of the last century to the present.

Studies in American Jewish Literature Focusing on the Jewish contribution to American writing, this guide offers a comprehensive view of Jewish identity and experience in American society together with important bibliographic information for the scholar or researcher. In eighteen essays written by a distinguished group of specialists, it provides a wealth of fact, interpretation, and commentary relating to American Jewish literature, criticism, and other writing published since the 1880s. In his introduction, Fried reviews the history of American Jewish writing and the major social, moral, and political concerns that have affected it. The essays that follow focus primarily on the literary culture created by Eastern European Jewish immigrants and their children as they shaped and were shaped by their experiences in America. The first several chapters look at American Jewish fiction from 1880 to the present. Drama and autobiographical works also are discussed, as are American Yiddish poetry, criticism, and other writing. Other chapters assess the influence of theology, Zionism, and the Holocaust on American Jewish writers, as well as the relationship of their works to other literatures and international critical perspectives. Themes that are explored from several perspectives include the relevance of the diaspora to the American Jewish literary imagination, the forging of multiple loyalties, and reconciliation into an American Jewish culture and the making of an American Jewish identity.
