Preservation Comes Of Age From Williamsburg To The National Trust 1926:

Preservation Comes of Age Charles Bridgham Hosmer, 1981 Saving San Antonio Lewis F. Fisher, 2016-08-22 Few American cities enjoy the likes of San Antonio's visual links with its dramatic past. The Alamo and four other Spanish missions recently marked as a UNESCO World Heritage site are the most obvious but there are a host of landmarks and folkways that have survived over the course of nearly three centuries that still lend San Antonio an odd and antiquated foreignness. Adding to the charm of the nation's seventh largest city is the San Antonio River saved to become a winding linear park through the heart of downtown and beyond and a world model for sensitive urban development. San Antonio's heritage has not been preserved by accident. The wrecking balls and headlong development that accompanied progress in nineteenth century San Antonio roused an indigenous historic preservation movement the first west of the Mississippi River to become effective. Its thrust has increased since the mid 1920s with the pioneering work of the San Antonio Conservation Society. In Saving San Antonio Texas historian Lewis Fisher peels back the myths surrounding more than a century of preservation triumphs and failures to reveal a lively mosaic that portrays the saving of San Antonio's cultural and architectural soul. The process entertaining in the telling has reverberated throughout the United States and provided significant lessons for the built environments and economies of cities everywhere The Past is a Foreign Country - Revisited David Lowenthal, 2015-10

A completely updated new edition of David Lowenthal's classic account of how we reshape the past to serve present needs

The History of the Book in the West: 1914-2000 Alexis Weedon, 2017-03-02 This collection brings together published papers on key themes which book historians have identified as of particular significance in the history of twentieth century publishing. It reprints some of the best comparative perspectives and most insightful and innovatively presented scholarship on publishing and book history from such figures as Philip Altbach, Lewis Coser, James Curran, Elizabeth Long, Laura Miller, Angus Phillips, Janice Radway, Jonathan Rose, Shafquat Towheed, Catherine Turner, Jay Satterfield, Clare Squires, Eva Hemmungs Wirtén. It is arranged into six sections which examine the internationalisation of publishing businesses, changing notions of authorship, innovation in the design and marketing of books, the specific effects of globalisation on creative property and the book in a multimedia marketplace. Twentieth century book history attracts an audience beyond the traditional disciplines of librarianship, bibliography, history and literary studies. It will appeal to publishing educators, editors, publishers, booksellers as well as academics with an interest in media and popular culture A President, a Church, and Trails West Jon E. Taylor, 2008 Examines the efforts of Independence, Missouri to preserve and balance competing elements of the city's history as the hometown of President Harry S. Truman as the site where Joseph Smith established the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and as the historic gathering place for western emigration. Provided by publisher Destination Dixie Karen L. Cox, 2018-03-15 Once upon a time it was impossible to drive through the South without coming across signs to See Rock City or similar tourist attractions. From battlegrounds to birthplaces and sites in between heritage tourism has always been part of how the South attracts visitors and defines itself yet such sites are often understudied in the scholarly literature As the contributors to this volume make clear the narrative of southern history told at these sites is often complicated by race influenced by local politics and shaped by competing memories Included are essays on the meanings of New Orleans cemeteries Stone Mountain Georgia historic Charleston South Carolina Yorktown National Battlefield Selma Alabama as locus of the civil rights movement and the homes of Mark Twain Margaret Mitchell and other notables Destination Dixie reveals that heritage tourism in the South is about more than just marketing destinations and filling hotel rooms it cuts to the heart of how southerners seek to shape their identity and image for a broader touring public now often made up of northerners and southerners alike

The ^ARussians Are Coming! The Russians Are Coming!

Richard M. Fried,1999-08-12 At a time when Americans dedicate their national holidays to barbecues sporting events and driving madly on crowded interstate highways to vacation homes and theme parks it may be difficult to remember an era when patriotic observance was a matter of high seriousness and legislated pageantry But now the memory is restored in fascinating detail by Richard M Fried in this eye opening book After summarizing such patriotic developments as the sanctification of the American flag and the wide and occasionally coercive acceptance of the Pledge of Allegiance Fried describes how the Ad Council the American Heritage Foundation and other organizations created campaigns to sell America to the Americans through carefully constructed rededication celebrations like Know Your America Weeks Freedom Weeks and traveling exhibitions such as the Freedom Train which in the late 1940s brought original copies of seminal American documents directly to cities and towns across the country He vividly recreates the spectacle of clashing New York City parades involving thousands of participants as celebrants of the newly created Loyalty Day marched in opposition to pro Communist May Day demonstrations just blocks away Most startling though is Fried s account of how Mosinee Wisconsin was invaded by Communists in a staged media event sponsored by the American Legion Citizens allowed themselves to be searched at random while local officials acted the part of Stalinists and the town restaurants were required to serve only potato soup and black bread Meticulously researched and colorfully told The Russians Are Coming The Russians Are Coming recreates an absorbing and revealing dimension of American history

The Paradox of Preservation

Laura Alice Watt,2017 Point Reyes National Seashore has a long history as a working landscape with dairy and beef ranching fishing and oyster farming yet since 1962 it has also been managed as a National Seashore The Paradox of Preservation chronicles how national ideals about what a park ought to be have developed over time and what happens when these ideals are implemented by the National Park Service NPS in its efforts to preserve places that are also lived in landscapes Using the conflict surrounding the closure of the Drakes Bay Oyster Company Laura Alice Watt examines how NPS management policies and processes for land use and protection do not always reflect the needs and values of local residents Instead the resulting landscapes produced by the NPS represent a series of compromises between use and protection and between the area's historic pastoral character and a newer vision of wilderness. A fascinating and deeply researched book, The Paradox of Preservation, will appeal to those studying environmental history, conservation, public lands, and cultural landscape management, and to those looking to learn more about the history of this dynamic California coastal region. Preserving Different Pasts Hal Rothman, 1989
