Many Texts, Many Voices Penny Silvers, Mary C. Shorey, 2012 On any given day a visitor to Mary Shorey's classroom will find elementary students using a variety of learning tools from books to wikis and blogs to pose critical questions about the world and take action to make a difference in the lives of others Whether sponsoring a book drive for victims of Hurricane Katrina using a multimedia presentation to persuade the principal to adopt their recycling plan or challenging a senior citizen's eviction it's all in a day's work for Mary's students Her young learners are becoming conscious consumers creative thinkers and effective communicators even while fulfilling the mandated curriculum and Common Core Standards As Shorey and coauthor Penny Silvers write in Many Texts Many Voices Critical literacy requires that the reader consumer examine multiple perspectives and ask Whose interests are being served and Whose voice is heard or silenced Rather than an addition to a lesson or curriculum critical literacy is a way of thinking communicating analyzing and living a literate life Critical literacy also implies the possibility of taking some kind of social action in order to support a belief make a difference or simply help during a time of need Always mindful of what is appropriate for young children Shorey and Silvers continually search for opportunities to embed critical literacy and inquiry in the everyday lives of primary students Through a rich array of rubrics sample lessons text sets unit designs and professional resources Silvers and Shorey share their reflective practices so that all teachers can use print visual and digital tools to transform student learning
