RACIAL PROFILING Darin D. Fredrickson,Raymond P. Siljander,2002-01-01 This book was written to eliminate confusion regarding what has come to be called racial profiling by clarifying the legitimate law enforcement practice of criminal profiling and by clarifying what constitutes unfair discrimination and persecution This book was written to benefit sociology students law enforcement officers and anyone else in a position to be concerned with or affected by the profiling issue Police administrators judges and legislators must adequately understand the topics and their many ramifications if they are to make decisions that are based on fact rather than stereotype and myth and free from the influence of adverse social and political pressures And attorneys when prosecuting or defending cases wherein profiling and discrimination is an issue must have good insight into the many interrelated dynamics of the topics to properly prepare and argue their case This writing explores difficult social issues that are often poorly understood but issues that need to be understood if solutions are to be meaningful And a poorly conceived solution is especially likely when the issues are both complex and controversial In this book the writers acknowledge that while criminal profiling is a necessary and legitimate law enforcement practice unchecked bias can pollute the practice And while they acknowledge that measures to detect those whose enforcement practices reflect bias can have merit they emphasize that such efforts must be in addition to the hiring of high caliber officers providing quality training providing competent leadership and on a properly staffed and trained Internal Affairs department But the authors also emphasize the unfortunate fact that many efforts intended to prevent bias are to varying degrees ineffectual and create collateral problems Germane to that discussion is illumination of the difficulties of monitoring fair treatment policies and the unintended problems that often accompany consent decrees

Suspect Race Jack Glaser,2014-11-07 In Suspect Race social psychologist and public policy expert Jack Glaser leverages a century s worth of social psychological research to provide a clear understanding of how stereotypes even those operating outside of conscious awareness or control can cause police to make discriminatory judgments and decisions about who to suspect stop question search use force on and arrest Glaser argues that stereotyping even nonconscious stereotyping is a completely normal human mental process but that it leads to undesirable discriminatory outcomes Additionally he finds evidence that racial profiling can actually increase crime and he considers the implications for racial profiling in counterterrorism Suspect Race brings to bear the vast scientific literature on intergroup stereotyping to offer the first in depth and accessible understanding of the primary cause of racial profiling and to explore implications for policy
