Sight and Embodiment in the Middle Ages S. Biernoff, 2002-07-01 This book breaks new ground by bringing postmodern writings on vision and embodiment into dialogue with medieval texts and images an interdisciplinary strategy that illuminates and complicates both cultures This is an invaluable reference work for anyone interested in the history and theory of visuality and it is essential reading for scholars of art science or spirituality in the medieval period St Augustine

Ryan N. S. Topping, 2014-10-23 After setting Augustine's thought firmly within the context of his life and times Ryan Topping examines in turn the causes of education the purposes pedagogy curriculum and limits of learning as Augustine understood them Augustine's towering influence over Medieval and Renaissance theorists from Hugh of St Victor to Aquinas to Erasmus is traced The book concludes by drawing Augustine into dialogue with contemporary philosophers exploring the influence of his meditations on higher education and suggesting how his ideas can reinvigorate for our generation the project of liberal learning

Soliloquies ; And, Immortality of the Soul Saint Augustine (of Hippo), 1990 Augustine's Soliloquies and the Immortality of the Soul explore the primacy of mind over things of sense and the immortality of the soul These central tenets of Neoplatonism are not mere theoretical questions for Augustine the work offers an insight into his emotions at this time Latin text with facing translation introduction and commentary Encyclopedia of Medieval Philosophy Henrik Lagerlund, 2010-12-07 This is the first reference ever devoted to medieval philosophy It covers all areas of the field from 500 1500 including philosophers philosophies key terms and concepts It also provides analyses of particular theories plus cultural and social contexts

Augustiniana, 1951 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1993 Wealth and the Material World in the Old English Alfredian Corpus Amy Faulkner, 2023 A new materialistic reading of the Alfredian corpus drawing on diverse approaches from thing theory to Augustinian principles of use and enjoyment to uncover how these works explore the material world The Old English prose translations traditionally attributed to Alfred the Great versions of Gregory's Regula pastoralis Boethius De consolazione philosophiae Augustine's Soliloquia and the first fifty Psalms urge detachment from the material world but despite this its flotsam and jetsam from costly treasures to everyday objects abound within them This book reads these original and inventive translations from a materialist perspective drawing on approaches as diverse as thing theory and Augustine's principles of use and enjoyment By focussing on the material it offers a fresh interpretation of this group of translations bringing out their complex often contradictory relationship with the material world It demonstrates that as in the poetic tradition wealth in Alfredian literature is not simply a tool to be used or something to be enjoyed in excess rather in moving away from these two static binaries it shows that wealth is a current flowing both horizontally as an exchange of gifts between humans and vertically as a salvific current between earth and heaven The prose translations are situated in the context of Old English poetry including Beowulf The Wanderer The Seafarer the Exeter Book Riddles and The Dream of the Rood

Clarissa's Plots Lois E. Bueler, 1994 This study also examines the connections among the plots how

Clarissa's self-scrutinizing response to the pressures of test and trial and her refusal to achieve respectability at the expense of her integrity is explained by her pursuit of Christian prudence and how Lovelace's inability to fathom the disappearance of his tempter function after the rape as well as his inability to respond as does Belford to Clarissa's exemplary influence is an expression of his nature as protagonist in the Don Juan plot Richardson conducts all three plots concurrently Bueler demonstrates by exploiting the psychologically and dramatically rich resources of simultaneous dialogue and soliloquy inherent in the epistolary genre
