New Directions In Geographical Education:

New Directions in Geographical Education David Boardman, 1985 Geography in British Schools, 1850-2000 Rex Walford, 2001 This history of geography as a major subject in the British school curriculum in the past 150 years deconstructs some of the myths which have grown up around school geography's Victorian image considers geography's struggle for examination recognition in the early years of the 20th century and describes periods of different emphases in the field It analyzes the revolution in teaching geography in the 1960s and 1970s and examines the effect of the National Curriculum Includes bandw historical photos Walford taught postgraduate courses for geography teachers at the University of Cambridge from 1973 to 1999 Distributed by ISBS c Book News Inc International Handbook on Geographical Education Rod Gerber, 2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book Not least because of the twenty four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day to day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG My successors Joe Stoltman Hartwig Haubrich Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education Fieldwork in Geography: Reflections, Perspectives and Actions Rod Gerber, Goh Kim Chuan, 2013-03-14 Geographers regard fieldwork as a vital instrument for understanding our world through direct experience for gathering basic data about this world and as a fundamental method for enacting geographical education The range of international geography and educational experts who contributed to this volume has demonstrated that the concept of fieldwork has a considerable history in the field of geography They have demonstrated that the theoretical aspects of fieldwork have been interpreted differently in regions around the world but the importance of fieldwork remains strong globally A fresh look at the pedagogic implications for fieldwork in formal education offers ideas both for promoting it in geographical education and for maintaining its place in the geography curriculum Audience Forward looking geographers and educators now recognise that alternative strategies especially those involving the use of information technology should be developed to reaffirm the centrality of fieldwork in geographical and wider education Developments and Directions in Geographical Education Rodney Gerber, John Lidstone, 1996 Continuum practices in the classroom She brings together discourse analyses of research texts textbooks classroom talk students and teachers accounts with a detailed linguistic analysis of students written work This title is of particular interest to those working in literacy education and curriculum discourse analysis and applied linguistics feminisms and critical pedagogies

Williams,1995-12-07 These papers aim to provide a substantial review of the literature pertaining to a comprehensive range of traditional and contemporary research paradigms and research methods The book is designed as a reference work for novice researchers in the fields of geographical and environmental education Issues in Geography Teaching Chris Fisher,Tony Binns,2016-01-28 Issues in Geography Teaching examines a wide range of issues which are of interest to those teaching geography from the early years through to higher education including the role of research and the use of ICT in teacher training the significance of developing critical thinking skills broader educational issues such as citizenship and development the importance of environmental education the position and role of assessment the present state and status of geographical education and issues that are likely to be of concern in the future Issues in Geography Teaching details the contexts presents the facts and raises thought provoking questions which should stimulate further interest and discussion Teaching Geography 11-18:

a Conceptual Approach David Lambert,John Morgan,2010-01-16 This is a must read for all 11 18 geography educators It argues for a new geography curriculum founded on a set of major concepts that are profoundly relevant to 21st century life For years books on 11 18 geography education have focussed on classroom techniques new pedagogic technologies and alternative modes of student assessment Not this one Teaching Geography 11 18 digs deep It asks not only what geography is for but bases its answer on a set of key concepts able to sustain an exciting and relevant curriculum It also grounds its many arguments in the latest geographical research thus re establishing the broken connection between geography teaching in schools and that in higher education Professor Noel Castree University of Manchester UK This engaging and stimulating book aims to radically re shape and sharpen debates in geography education by taking an entirely fresh approach to both the subject and its place in secondary education Key questions addressed in this book include What is the place of geography within the secondary school curriculum To what extent does school geography reflect and engage with contemporary issues and theories from the wider subject What are the issues challenges and opportunities of a concept led approach to teaching geography What are the implications of ICT media and technology for the future of geography teaching in schools Influenced by the revised national curriculum for geography which has reduced the prescribed content to be covered this book offers an objective view of the concept led approach The new focus on concepts represents a significant shift in how geography is to be taught in schools yet there has been little extended discussion of what a concept led approach to teaching and learning would entail This book fills that void by examining geography s key concepts and providing teachers with a theoretically robust and practical approach to curriculum planning using a concept led approach This is essential reading for all secondary geography teachers trainee teachers and anyone involved with education and curriculum planning

Geography of Education Colin Brock, 2016-09-22 Geography of Education sets out the scope of this emergent interdisciplinary field It illustrates the essential affinity of geographical and educational studies by emphasising the geographical factors influencing formal education systems and other forms of knowledge transfer Colin Brock begins by arguing the theoretical synergy that exists between the nature of both geography and educational studies as disciplines This is then exemplified by an analysis of the emergence of systems of schooling under the influence of religious political and economic forces The author also considers informal and non formal modes of education and argues that the huge diversity of such provision creates a rich resource for research into geographies of education In the final chapters the author turns his attention to the role of cyberspace which has its own geography in learning and considers education as a form of humanitarian response to issues of environmental sustainability By bringing together a wide range of themes and topics relating to both education and geography Colin Brock argues that the geographical approach should inform the evolution of all types of educational provision around the world
