The Testimonial Uncanny Julia V. Emberley, 2014-09-30 Through the study of Indigenous literary and artistic practices from Canada Australia New Zealand and the United States Julia V Emberley examines the ways Indigenous storytelling discloses and repairs the traumatic impact of social violence in settler colonial nations She focuses on Indigenous storytelling in a range of cultural practices including novels plays performances media reports Internet museum exhibits and graphic novels In response to historical trauma such as that experienced at Indian residential schools as well as present day violence against Indigenous bodies and land Indigenous storytellers make use of Indigenous spirituality and the sacred to inform an ethics of hospitality They provide uncanny configurations of political and social kinships between people between the past and the present and between the animate and inanimate This book introduces readers to cultural practices and theoretical texts concerned with bringing Indigenous epistemologies to the discussion of trauma and colonial violence Child Welfare

Kathleen Kufeldt, Brad McKenzie, 2011-07-22 Children who receive child welfare services are a vulnerable group and their numbers are growing All who care about them need to be fully informed about current outcomes indicators of success and failure and best practices This second edition of Child Welfare Connecting Research Policy and Practice has a special focus on Canadian child welfare and contains entirely new material on these important themes The book highlights major developments in child welfare and shows how these inform directions taken in research policy and practice The book includes new sections on Indigenous issues and best practices and several of its chapters review efforts to increase supports for families in need Contributions from new and international authors illustrate the endemic nature of child welfare challenges and how we can learn from these experiences Contributors provide recommendations for promoting best practice and enhancing resilience among children and families Closing chapters within each section and at the end of the book summarize key theoretical and practice issues along with recommendations to improve the research policy and practice continuum in child welfare The challenge is to translate good research into policy and practice in ways that enhance the life chances of children who need our care and protection Postcolonial Locations Robert Spencer, Anastasia

Valassopoulos, 2020-10-19 Postcolonial Locations seeks to clarify the meaning of the postcolonial through close textual readings and prioritises material and located readings over more abstract theoretical discussions it seeks to re orient the field by providing practical explorations of what the discipline is for The book begins with an introduction of the key theoretical debates in the field between the universal and the particular the global and the local but it then goes on to demonstrate via a series of close textual readings that these distinctions are not always useful and that we can achieve a more comprehensive and complete reading of the multiple times places and texts in which colonial power is both exerted and fought An engaging and comprehensive guide to contemporary postcolonial studies this book is essential reading for students as well as professors Adoption: What You Should Know Janine Myung Ja, Has the global man made market for children
