

Close to the water, the bowsprit of the boat dips into the ocean, creating a massive splash of white water. The bowsprit is the part of the boat that extends forward from the mast. It is used to support the forestay, which holds the mast in place. The bowsprit is also used to support the jib, which is the sail in front of the mast. The bowsprit is a crucial part of the boat's structure and is often the most vulnerable part in a collision.
