Nationalism and Civil War in Burma Ashley South, 2003 Foreign Intervention, Warfare and Civil Wars Adam Lockyer, 2017-09-01 This book examines the impact of foreign intervention in the course and nature of warfare in civil wars Throughout history foreign intervention in civil wars has been the rule rather than the exception The involvement of outside powers can have a dramatic impact on the course and nature of internal conflicts Despite this there has been little research which has sought to explain how foreign intervention influences the course of civil wars This book seeks to rectify this gap It examines the impact of foreign intervention on the warfare that characterises civil wars through by studying the cases of the Angolan and Afghan civil wars It investigates how foreign resources affect the military power of the recipient belligerent and examines how changes in the balance of capabilities influence the form of warfare that characterises a civil war Warfare in civil wars is often highly fluid with belligerents adapting their respective strategies in response to shifts in the balance of military capabilities This book shows how the intervention of foreign powers can manipulate the balance of capabilities between the civil war belligerents and change the dominant form of warfare The findings presented in this book offer key insights for policy makers to navigate the increasing internationalization of civil wars around the globe This book will be of much interest to students of civil wars intra state conflict war and conflict studies and security studies Law, Society and

Lowell Dittmer, 2010 Burma is one of the largest and most richly endowed states in Southeast Asia Yet it remains both economically and politically underdeveloped Why is this so This book argues that much of the reason has to do with an ongoing struggle for national identity It is suitable for students and professionals interested in development studies

General Ne Win's Legacy of Burmanization in Myanmar Saw Eh Htoo, Tony Waters, 2024-05-15 This book focuses on how Burmanization created and reinforced ethnic divides since the 1962 coup d'etat when General Ne Win concentrated all authority in the Burmese speaking army Background research for the book includes Burmese language materials from the Burmese Socialist Party BSP and others that describe with what the BSP believed in their own terms This is unique from previous works on the topic which either simply pointed out that the policies didn't work and therefore are uninteresting or to claim that they were necessary given the chaos of the previous regime The authors agree that Ne Win's policies didn't work However the book goes further by elaborating why Burmanization policies developed in the 1960s are important for understanding Burmese society today Most importantly Ne Win's ideology reflects how patterns of interethnic relationships in Myanmar lead to the intractability of the battles in early twenty first century Myanmar

The "other" Karen in Myanmar Ardeth Maung Thawnghmung, 2012-01-01 The Other Karen in Myanmar looks at the other or quiet minorities who are members of ethnic groups associated with well known armed resistance organizations but who pursued non violent approaches to promote their individual and collective interests This is the first in depth study to uncover the existence and activities of the other Karen and analyze the nature of relationships with their rebel counterparts and the state authorities It also discusses other ethnic armed organizations that have experienced similar situations and assesses their implications for inter ethnic relations negotiations with state authorities and political reform Most previous studies have focused on violent aspects of ethnic relations and on ethnic armed organizations such as the Karen National Union KNU in Burma the Moro Islamic Liberation Front MNLF in the Philippines and the LTTE in Sri Lanka However even among these minorities which are locked in armed conflicts the majority of people have shunned armed resistance and sought to remain quietly beyond the struggle and pursued non violent approaches to promote their individual and collective interests in the face of authoritarian governments This study which sheds light on the lives and growing political significance of non armed non insurgent members of ethnic minorities in Burma draws heavily on opinion surveys and open ended interviews among Karen diaspora among individuals who lived a minimum of 20 years in Burma quiet Karens who live inside Burma KNU officials personnel and soldiers and Karen refugees and IDPs who are currently living in Thai Burma border areas These interviews which covered approximately two hundred respondents have been conducted since 2002 It is mainly directed toward social scientists historians humanitarian workers policy makers and practitioners and non specialist ordinary audience who are interested in Southeast Asian Burmese politics and society comparative politics identity politics ethnic conflict social movements conflict resolution and political reform

Nick Cheesman, Monique Skidmore, Trevor Wilson, 2010 November 2010 sees the first elections in Myanmar/Burma since 1990 to be held as the culmination of the military regime's Road Map for Democracy. The conditions under which the elections are being held are far from favourable, although the laws and procedures under which they will be conducted have been in place for seven months and quite widely publicized. Political controls remain repressive, freedom of expression and assembly does not exist and international access is restricted by government controls as well as sanctions. While the elections represent a turning point for Myanmar/Burma, the lead-up period has not been marked by many notable improvements in the way the country is governed or in the reforming impact of international assistance programmes. Presenters at the Australian National University 2009 Myanmar/Burma Update conference examined these questions and more. Leading experts from the United States, Japan, France and Australia as well as from Myanmar/Burma have contributed to this collection of papers from the Conference.
