Forest Service,1952 Governance Principles for Concessions and Contracts in Public Forests Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,Andrew Frank Howard,John A. Gray,2001-01-01 This report reviews the types of contracts used in the management of public forests Agreements for forest utilisation are analysed along with contracts for the acquisition of goods and services The study illustrates the importance of an effective institutional and legal framework The key elements to consider when awarding contracts are detailed along with valuation administration and ensuring the terms of the contract are fulfilled Special attention is given to the importance of awarding contracts through a transparent and competitive process Forest Policy for Private Forestry Lawrence Dale Teeter,Benjamin William Cashore,Daowei Zhang,2002-12-06 Annotation There is currently great concern about the sustainability of forestry and the contribution of private forestry towards this aim The need to better understand the impact of different policy choices on private forestry has never been more important This book includes a selection of peer reviewed papers from a conference held in Atlanta in March 2001 Forest Policy Analysis Max Krott,2005-10-04 Although forest policy is an established course in most European university forestry curricula apart from a special predilection of the teacher its content varies from country to country according to the position of the forest sector in the domestic economy and society In some countries forestry is the backbone of a strong wood processing industry in others recreational uses and amenity values of forests dominate Despite these differences all countries have in common the fact that the diversity of interests in forests has increased Although timber production will not lose its importance in the future as timber is a renewable resource the demand for non wood products and services has increased considerably This is best reflected by the new notion of sustainable forest management which strives at the reconciliation of economic ecological social cultural and spiritual interests in forests In addition the diversity of stakeholders has increased Forestry is no longer solely the topic of forest associations and forest administration but also of a multitude of governmental and non governmental organisations dealing with activities which either affect forest management or are affected by it Finally the relationships of the various stakeholders with diverse interests and varying empowerment have become more complex because in some issues the relationships are compatible and in others not Bargaining on forest issues no longer takes place on a national level alone but also on European and international levels because many forest policy issues are transboundary European Forest Policy and Governance Filip Aggestam,2024-11-29 This book provides a state of the art overview covering distinct and relevant aspects of forest policy processes in Europe presenting a fresh perspective on different analytical approaches theories and frameworks Set against the background of a changing world driven by significant social environmental and economic developments in Europe and elsewhere there is a growing need for an improved understanding of forest governance and how to analyse the forest policymaking processes This book introduces the reader to some of the key issues typically encountered in reviewing proposed as well as established forest policies focusing on five socially relevant topics for the forest based sector today namely European forest governance under a green new deal Systemic changes and the circular bio economy Social changes connected with forest ownership and forest actors Nature conservation and the pursuit of multifunctional forests Living with forest fires and climate change In so doing this book presents a set of timely and rich case studies relevant to the study of forest governance In the final chapter it puts forward an innovative and systematic method for selecting the most appropriate analytical tool that accounts for the constraints and objectives involved in monitoring forest policy The book is accompanied by chapter level exercises and online Support Material which details the various approaches theories and frameworks discussed in the book providing direct links back to individual chapters discussion points and a step by step guide for how each method can be applied This book will be an essential read for forestry students and scholars and professionals and policymakers working on forest policy and forest management Forestry Policies of Selected Countries in Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,1996-01-01 Proceedings of a Regional Expert Consultation on Forestry Policies in Africa Accra Ghana October 1995 Parallel texts in English French Forestry Policies in the Caribbean ,1998

Forest Policies and Social Change in England Sylvie Nail,2008-05-08 Forestry has been witness to some dramatic changes in recent years with several Western countries now moving away from the traditional model of regarding forests merely as sources of wood Rather these countries are increasingly recognizing their forests as multi purpose resources with roles which go far beyond simple economics In this innovative book Sylvie Nail uses England as a case study to explore the relationships between forests society and public perceptions raising important questions about forest policy and management both now and in the future Adopting a sociological approach to forest policy and management the book discusses the current validity of the two principles underlying forestry since the Middle Ages first that forestry should only exist when no better use of the land can be made and second that forestry itself should be profitable The author stresses how values and perceptions shape policies and conversely how policies can modify perceptions and also how policies can fail if they do not take perceptions into account She concludes that many of the issues facing English forestry in the 21st century from leisure health and amenity provision through education and rural as well as urban regeneration to biodiversity conservation go well beyond both national borders and the scope of forestry Indeed forestry in the 21st century seems to be less about planting and managing trees than about being a vector and a mirror of social change This novel synthesis provides a valuable resource for advanced students and researchers from all areas of natural resource studies including those interested in social history socio economics cultural geography and environmental psychology as well as those studying landscape ecology environmental history policy analysis and natural resource management Canadian Forest Policy Michael Howlett,2001-01-01 Arguing that the complexity of policy making in the forest sector has led many analysts to focus exclusively on specific sectoral activities or jurisdictions this collection of essays offers a simplifying framework of analysis Report of the Chief of the Forest Service United States. Forest Service,1947 Forest Policy for the Future Marion Clawson,2016-03-22 The use and management of forests in the United States especially the public owned ones have been the focus of considerable controversy First published in 1974 this volume a collection of papers originally delivered at the RFF Forest Policy Forum explores alternative forest management programmes to see what is biologically economically socially and politically possible This title is a valuable resource for students interested in environmental studies as well as for policy makers Policies for Sustainable Forestry in Belarus, Russia and Ukraine Max Krott,Ilpo Tikkanen,Anatoly Petrov,Yuri Tunytsya,Boris Zheliba,Volker Sasse,Irina Rykounina,Taras Tunytsya,2021-10-25 Policies for Sustainable Forestry in Belarus Russia and Ukraine provides a thorough analysis of the key factors in the transition process affecting the forest sector in the eponymous countries Moreover it designs new strategies for sustainable development in these areas The book attempts to strengthen selected trends in the forest sector in each country so that they may gradually achieve sustainability and create a market economy The key factors are identified by making use of several different sources scientific papers interviews with experts from the three countries and the personal experiences of the co authors living in the countries The strategies propose new and interesting options for improving forest management by optimizing forestry within closed production units Further strategies deal with reorientation of forest planning transition oriented labor management and acquisition of resources for forestry from state and markets Policies for Sustainable Forestry in Belarus Russia and Ukraine also gives new insights into the political factors and informal strategies within the forestry sector It serves as an important addition to existing economic market models and will draw attention to the political process driving the transition This information is helpful to both experts in economics as well as foresters in the field as it gives them an understanding of the complexity of building up a market economy by transition

Research in Forest Economics and Forest Policy Marion Clawson,2021-10-29 In order to fill a growing need for research into forestry issues Resources for the future held a symposium in 1977 Originally published in the same year all papers in this collection were written specifically for this symposium to highlight the most important forestry issues including pricing policy supply and demand and the role of the public and private forestry sector This title will be of interest to Environmental Students and professionals

European Union External Environmental Policy Camilla Adelle,Katja Biedenkopf,Diarmuid Torney,2017-11-14 This book considers the environmental policies that the EU employs outside its borders Using a systematic and coherent approach to cover a range of EU activities environmental issues and geographical areas it charts the EU s attempts to shape environmental governance beyond its borders Key questions addressed include What environmental norms rules and policies does the EU seek to promote outside its territory What types of activities does the EU engage in to pursue these objectives How successful is the EU in achieving its external environmental policy objectives What factors explain the degree to which the EU attains its goals The book will be of interest to students and academics as well as practitioners in governments both inside and outside of the EU the EU institutions think tanks and research institutes

Making Forest Policy Work A.I. Fraser,2013-04-17 Policy issues relating to forestry have been the subject of much debate in recent years and many countries and international agencies have recently or are currently in the process of revising their policies for forestry Much of this debate has implied that previous policies have failed or been much less successful than had been hoped There is a tendency to think of policy as a matter for governments but it is now more widely appreciated that all shareholders in the forestry sector have a legitimate interest in both the policy objectives and the means that will be used to implement it This book is mainly concerned with the process of developing policy and the subsequent implementation than in specific content though many of the important issues which policies must address are discussed It is based on a review of many case studies with which the author has been personally involved over the past 40 years
