Decoding Racial Ideology in Genomics Johnny E. Williams,2016-05-27 Although the human genome exists apart from society knowledge about it is produced through socially created language and interactions As such genomicists thinking is informed by their inability to escape the wake of the race concept This book investigates how racism makes genomics and how genomics makes racism and race and the consequences of these constructions Specifically Williams explores how racial ideology works in genomics The simple assumption that frames the book is that race as an ideology justifying a system of oppression is persistently recreated as a practical and familiar way to understand biological reality This book reveals that genomicists preoccupation with race regardless of good or ill intent contributes to its perception as a category of differences that is scientifically rigorous

Islamophobia and Radicalisation Tahir Abbas,2019 Since the 1970s there have been three challenges to traditional homogeneous national identities across the Western world political and socioeconomic inequality neoliberal globalization and more diverse multicultural societies As in the US and elsewhere in Western Europe the decline of an old masculinized national identity has now begun to open a new dark era for Britain Ever since the war on terror was added to the mix others in Britain have been brutally demonized Muslims routinely presented as the source of society's ills are subjected to both symbolic and actual violence Deep seated and structurally racialized norms amplify the isolation and alienation impeding Muslim integration Both these left behind Muslims and white British groups who perceive themselves as the true nation are under pressure from ongoing geopolitical concerns in the Muslim world as well as widening divisions at home Tahir Abbas argues that in this context the symbiotic intersections between Islamophobia and radicalization intensify and expand His book is a warning of the world that results a rise in hate crime the institutionalization of Islamophobia and the normalization of war and conflict Natchitoches Parish Rolonda D.

Teal, 2012-09-18 From 1722 to the present thousands of people of African descent have occupied the region that today encompasses Natchitoches Parish For almost 300 years African Americans have made significant contributions to the area's economic and social development In Natchitoches Parish the lives of some of those individuals are documented as they share their views on work religion education socialization and community leadership Race and Place in Birmingham Bobby M. Wilson, 2000 This pioneering book explores the implications of postmodernism for the black community through an analysis of the civil rights and neighborhood movements in Birmingham Alabama Grounded not only in class struggle the Civil Rights Movement was tied to the politics of racial identity the neighborhood movement to the politics of place identity Bobby M Wilson critically examines these two movements which together transformed race and place in Birmingham He shows that although the civil rights struggle and neighborhood empowerment served a valuable purpose they cannot now overcome post Fordist forces of domination and exclusion Successful political movements the author argues must venture beyond the politics of identity and difference based on race and neighborhood Racial Discrimination Masoud Kamali, 2010-08-18

There is an institutionalized dilemma in Europe that counteracts social cohesion and stability It is a result of the collision and incompatibility between declarations of universal values such as human rights and democracy and institutionalized actions which exclude and discriminate against Europeans of immigrant background and against ethnic minorities This book analyzes the institutional patterns and politics of racial discrimination in modern day Europe Based on a research project that has been carried out under the leadership of the author in eight European countries Racial Discrimination seeks the answers to some of the key questions posed by the latest developments in European political and public spheres concerning immigration and the increase in xenophobic sentiments and parties The book will appeal to all social and political scientists interested in the latest political developments in Europe and in the problems of democratic citizenship and the efforts to move toward an integrated European community Globalization, Urbanization, and Civil Society Bagoes

Globalization and the Critique of Political Economy Lucia Pradella,2014-11-27 The nature of the contemporary global political economy and the significance of the current crisis are a matter of wide ranging intellectual and political debate which has contributed to a revival of interest in Marx s critique of political economy This book interrogates such a critique within the broader framework of the history of political economy and offers a new appreciation of its contemporary relevance A distinctive feature of this study is its use of the new historical critical edition of the writings of Marx and Engels MEGA2 their partially unpublished notebooks in particular The sheer volume of this material forces a renewed encounter with Marx It demonstrates that the international sphere and non European societies had an increasing importance in his research which developed the scientific elements elaborated by Marx s predecessors This book questions widespread assumptions that the nation state was the starting point for the analysis of development It explores the international foundations of political economy from mercantilism to Adam Smith and David Ricardo and to Hegel and investigates how the understanding of the international political economy informs the interpretations of history to which it gave rise The book then traces the developments of Marx s critique of political economy from the early 1840s to Capital Volume 1 and shows that his deepening understanding of the laws of capitalist uneven and combined development allowed him to recognise the growth of a world working class Marx s work thus offers the necessary categories to develop an alternative to methodological nationalism and Eurocentrism grounded in a critique of political economy This book is essential reading for anyone interested in the development of Marx s thought and in the foundations of International Political Economy American Slavery, American Imperialism Catherine Armstrong,2020-07-30 Details how Americans perceptions of the institution of slavery changed between the end of the Civil War and the onset of World War I Marxist Humanism and Communication Theory Christian Fuchs,2021-03-16 This book outlines and contributes to the foundations of Marxist humanist communication theory It analyses the role of communication in capitalist

Conceptualizing Racism Noel A. Cazenave, 2015-11-19 Conceptualizing Racism is a provocative book that confronts the language we use to discuss and understand racism Author Noel A Cazenave argues that American social science has since its inception practiced linguistic racial accommodation that blurs our understanding of systemic racism and makes it difficult to effect meaningful change Conceptualizing Racism highlights how words matter in racism studies The author traces the history of linguistic racial accommodation through the development of sociology as a discipline and illustrates how it is at play today not only within the discipline but in public life

Contours of African American Politics Georgia A. Persons, 2017-07-05 Contours of African American Politics chronicles the systematic study of African American politics and its subsequent recognition as an established field of scholarly inquiry African American politics emanates from the demands of the prolonged struggle for black liberation and empowerment Hence the study of African American politics has sought to track codify and analyse the struggle that has been mounted and to understand the historic and changing political status of African Americans within American society This two volume set presents a selection of scholarship on African American politics as it appeared in The National Political Science Review from its initial launch in 1989 to the spring of 2009 Represented are contributions from some of the leading scholars of African American politics who have helped to establish and sustain the field The volumes are organised around themes that derive from the unfolding real life drama of African American politics and its subsequent scholarly treatment The result is a window into the political efforts that meld the historically disparate strands of black political expressions into a reconstructed and strategically nimble electoral based mass mobilisation necessary for optimising the impact of the African American vote Sections in the volumes also chronicle the evolution of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists as a professional organisation The two volumes illuminate a pivotal epoch in black political empowerment and provide a context for the future of black politics

Americans Noel A. Cazenave, 2018-05-16 Killing African Americans examines the pervasive disproportionate and persistent police and vigilante killings of African Americans in the United States as a racial control mechanism that sustains the racial control system of systemic racism Noel A Cazenave s well researched and conceptualized historical sociological study is one of the first books to focus exclusively on those killings and to treat them as political violence Few issues have received as much conventional and social media attention in the United States over the past few years or have for decades now sparked so many protests and so often strained race relations to a near breaking point Because of both its timely and its enduring relevance Killing African Americans can reach a large audience composed not only of students and scholars but also of Movement for Black Lives activists politicians public policy analysts concerned police officers and other criminal justice professionals and anyone else eager to better understand this American nightmare and its solutions from a progressive and informed African American perspective Beyond the Boundaries Georgia A. Persons, 2017-09-29 In the past African American aspirations for political office were assumed to be limited to areas with sizeable black population bases By and large black candidates have rarely been successful in statewide or national elections This has been attributed to several factors limited resources available to African American candidates or identification with a black liberationist ideological thrust Other factors have been a relatively small and spatially concentrated primary support base of black voters and the persistent resistance of many white voters to support black candidates For these reasons the possibility of black candidates winning elections to national office was presumably just a dream Conventional wisdom conceded a virtual cap on both the possible number of black elected officials and the level of elective office to which they could ascend But objective political analysis has not always made sufficient allowances for the more universal phenomenon of individual political ambitions The contributors to this volume explore the ways ambitious individuals identified and seized upon strategies that are expanding the boundaries of African American electoral politics This volume is anchored by a symposium that focuses on new possibilities in African American politics Both the electoral contests of 2006 and the Barack Obama presidential campaign represent an emergent dynamic in American electoral politics Analysts are beginning to agree that the contours of social change now make the electoral successes of black candidates who are perceived as ideologically and culturally mainstream increasingly likely The debate captured in this volume will likely inspire further scholarly inquiry into the changing nature and dimensions of the larger dynamic of race in American politics and the subsequent changing political fortunes of African implications Leila Fielding, 2012-10-19 Essay from the year 2012 in the subject History Africa grade 11 First Class language English abstract In order to comprehend acts of oppression such as the slave trade not to mention the atrocities which accompanied it an investigation into the psychological reasoning of the oppressors must be considered People are not inherently evil however all human beings have the capacity to commit evil acts Dehumanisation is commonplace in instances of persecution John Wade describes dehumanisation as a psychological state and linguistic transition which occurs during conflict which both justifies past behaviour and encourages future aggressive conflict In another definition to dehumanise is to deprive a person or group of human qualities stripping them of their personal identity and individuality In instances of persecution dehumanisation serves as a justification and rationalisation of past and future behaviour With these definitions in mind slavery is the epitome of dehumanisation Many take for granted the dehumanisation of slaves However the power of this psychological spur must be considered in depth chiefly because dehumanisation is still taking place and leading to disastrous consequences such as genocide and mass murder in the twenty first century      Race, Class, and the State in Contemporary Sociology Jack Niemonen, 2002 Situating Wilson's work on race and class in the overall contexts of sociology and radical politics this book considers the contribution of and the debate surrounding each of his major works including The Declining Significance of Race The Truly Disadvantaged and When Work Disappears The crucial place of segregation in the critiques of Wilson's theory is emphasized and the role of the state is considered Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
