Racial and Ethnic Relations in America: Politics and racial Carl Leon Bankston, 2000 Volume 2 Spirit and Resistance George E. Tinker, 2004-09-15 Writing from a Native American perspective theologian Tinker probes American Indian culture its vast religious and cultural legacy and its ambiguous relationship to the tradition historic Christianity that colonized and converted it He offers novel proposals about cultural survival and identity sustainability and the endangered health of Native Americans Orientations Kandice Chuh, Karen Shimakawa, 2001-09-03 A critical examination of what constitutes the varied positions grouped together as Asian American seen in relation to both American and transnational forces Asian/American David Palumbo-Liu, 1999 This book argues that the invention of Asian American identities serves as an index to the historical formation of modern America By tracing constructions of Asian American to an interpenetrating dynamic between Asia and America the author obtains a deeper understanding of key issues in American culture history and society The formation of America in the twentieth century has had everything to do with westward expansion across the Pacific frontier and the movement of Asians onto American soil After the passage of the last piece of anti Asian legislation in the 1930s the United States found it had to grapple with both the presence of Asians already in America and the imperative to develop its neocolonial interests in East Asia The author argues that under these double imperatives a great wall between

Asian and American is constructed precisely when the two threatened to merge Yet the very incompleteness of American identity has allowed specific and contingent fusion of Asian and American at particular historical junctures From the importation of Asian labor in the mid nineteenth century the territorialization of Hawaii and the Philippines in the late nineteenth century through wars with Japan Korea and Vietnam and the Cold War with China to today s Asian Pacific Economic Cooperation group the United States in the modern age has seen its national identity as strongly attached to the Pacific As this has taken place so has the formation of a variety of Asian American identities Each contains a specific notion of America and reveals a particular conception of Asian and American Complicating the usual notion of identity politics and drawing on a wide range of writings sociological historical cultural medical anthropological geographic economic journalistic and political the author studies both how the formation of these identifications discloses the response of America to the presence of Asians and how Asian Americans themselves have inhabited these roles and resisted such categorizations inventing their own particular subjectivities as Americans
