Green Industrial Policy in Emerging Countries Anna Pegels,2014-03-05 For decades governments have tried to foster industrial competitiveness and economic growth Many instruments are known to work and many lessons have been learned However humanity is increasingly feeling the effects of natural resource depletion The rate of this depletion is deeply unsustainable and it is as of yet inextricably linked to economic growth and development To preserve acceptable living conditions for future generations while at the same time creating these conditions for millions of poor in the first place we must achieve a de linking of economic activity and resource depletion This book identifies the drivers and success factors of green industrial policy which seeks to reconcile the synergies and trade offs which exist between economic and environmental goals Greening the economy is a goal which will require enormous investment As markets are currently failing to provide the required incentives for environmental sustainability governments must intervene and provide policy rents for investments in sustainability while withdrawing rents from polluting investments In this they will face the risk of political capture by interest groups and difficult choices among technologies Rent management is therefore the heart of green industrial policy and the focus of this book On top of this the country

examples provided in this volume focus on the emerging powers which will have an important influence the future of our planet However the lessons learned are valuable not only for countries introducing green industrial policies for the first time but also for those under pressure to reform existing policies This book will be of interest to students researchers and policymakers in the areas of energy policy sustainable development industrial economics and ecological economics

Bell,Avner de-Shalit,2013-10-27 A lively and personal book that returns the city to political thought Cities shape the lives and outlooks of billions of people yet they have been overshadowed in contemporary political thought by nation states identity groups and concepts like justice and freedom The Spirit of Cities revives the classical idea that a city expresses its own distinctive ethos or values In the ancient world Athens was synonymous with democracy and Sparta represented military discipline In this original and engaging book Daniel Bell and Avner de Shalit explore how this classical idea can be applied to today s cities and they explain why philosophy and the social sciences need to rediscover the spirit of cities Bell and de Shalit look at nine modern cities and the prevailing ethos that distinguishes each one The cities are

Jerusalem religion Montreal language Singapore nation building Hong Kong materialism Beijing political power Oxford learning Berlin tolerance and intolerance Paris romance and New York ambition Bell and de Shalit draw upon the richly varied histories of each city as well as novels poems biographies tourist guides architectural landmarks and the authors own personal reflections and insights They show how the ethos of each city is expressed in political cultural and economic life and also how pride in a city s ethos can oppose the homogenizing tendencies of globalization and curb the excesses of nationalism The Spirit of Cities is unreservedly impressionistic Combining strolling and storytelling with cutting edge theory the book encourages debate and opens up new avenues of inquiry in philosophy and the social sciences It is a must read for lovers of cities everywhere In a new preface Bell and de Shalit further develop their idea of civicism the pride city dwellers feel for their city and its ethos over that of others

Wind Power and Power Politics Peter Strachan,David Lal,David Toke,2009-09-10 The aim of the book is to analyse the factors that have influenced wind power outcomes in a range of countries which have featured significant wind power deployment programmes A central theme is the relationship between patterns of ownership and the outcomes These flow from different social environments but they are associated with different types of planning outcome and deployment rates Grass roots ownership is more widespread than is commonly thought although it is not a panacea for effective wind power programmes Financial policies used to promote wind power also have important influences of the rates of deployment However what seems to be most important for wind power deployment is a double coincidence of widespread social support for wind power deployment and effective financial support systems for wind power
