Values and the Reflective Point of View Robert Dunn,2016-02-17 Values are inescapable They pervade and shape our psychology our agency and our lives as reflective and self knowing subjects This book explores the crucial ways in which values figure within reflection and thereby shape our theoretical and practical lives against the backdrop of an expressivist moral psychology that is sensitive to the vicissitudes of valuing Combining a discussion of the role that values play within reflection with a critique of a range of influential contemporary views in moral psychology and the theory of agency Dunn shows how such views obscure or distort the nature of that role and that there is a natural fit between an expressivist account of values and the best account of the role of values in the lives of reflective agents Writers discussed include Simon

Blackburn Michael E Bratman Donald Davidson Harry Frankfurt Christine Korsgaard Thomas Nagel and J David Velleman
The book is also an important addition to the literature on self knowledge Dunn argues that by reasoning about truth and values we possess a unique non observational way of coming to know our own minds and hearts together with what we are going to make happen in the world The discussion criticizes recent contributions to the theory of self knowledge by Richard Moran and J David Velleman
