

A Mother's Reflections

Our girls, now gone, move forward with their lives ...

Two parts of me – and yet, not me at all,
They've fashioned their own ways, and what survives
Is Beauty that's more colorful than fall.

Two boys – nay, men – still linger under roof
And yet their launchings happened long before
My heart concurred. They come, they go, aloof,
Preparing for their lives beyond our door.

And here I sit, maternal thoughts in tow,
Amazed by these four creatures! Can it be
They've sailed the world but managed to forego
The moorings that would lash their ships to me?
My second half of life – this empty nest –
Proposes new adventures: I am blessed.

Reflection Mrs. Hofland (Barbara),1835 Reflections of a Broken Mirror Nilanjana Bhadra,2024-02-21 Fiction often serves as an escape from reality but poetry acts as a tool to express it The collection of 40 poems is a journey of healing and growth experienced from the perspective of a mother recovering from post partum depression The poems reflect the poet s conflict with her social role her religious beliefs and her spiritual hunger The poems speak of alienation the duplicities of social media and the pressures of a superficial society The poems bear an autobiographical element but is reflective of women at large and motherhood in focus Surveillance of Modern Motherhood Helen Simmons,2020-06-18 This book explores the reflections and experiences of mothers of children aged 0 3 years that have attended universal parenting courses Simmons considers the factors that motivated mothers to attend a universal parenting course and explore the wider experiences of early modern motherhood in the UK She investigates participants perceptions of benefits of attending a parenting course different forms of parenting advice accessed by mothers and how this provides an insight into the wider constructs and experiences of modern motherhood Ultimately the book considers through a feminist post structuralist lens the social and cultural pressures within modern motherhood in relation to different levels of surveillance and produces new knowledge for practice within the early years and health sectors in relation to the support currently offered to new mothers It will be of interest to students and scholars across the sociology of education gender studies and childhood studies Bodies as Sites of Cultural Reflection in Early Childhood Education Rachael S. Burke,Judith Duncan,2014-10-30 Taking the body as a locus for discussion Rachael S Burke and Judith Duncan argue not only that implicit cultural practices shape most of the interactions taking place in early childhood curricula and pedagogy but that many of these practices often go unnoticed or unrecognized as being pedagogy. Current scholars inspired by Foucault acknowledge that the body is socially and culturally produced and historically situated; it is simultaneously a part of nature and society as well as a representation of the way that nature and society can be conceived. Every natural symbol originating from the body contains and conveys a social meaning and every culture selects its own meaning from the myriad of potential body symbolisms.

Bodies as Sites of Cultural Reflection in Early Childhood Education uses empirical examples from qualitative fieldwork conducted in New Zealand and Japan to explore these theories and discuss the ways in which children's bodies represent a central focus in teachers' pedagogical discussions and create contexts for the embodiment of children's experiences in the early years.

Motherhood, Spirituality and Culture Noelia Molina, 2019-02-25

Motherhood Spirituality and Culture explores spiritual skills that may assist women in changes, challenges, and transformations undergone through the transition to motherhood. This study comprises rich qualitative data gathered from interviews with 11 mothers. Results are analysed by constructing seven unique maternal narratives that elucidate and give voice to the mothers in their transition by in-depth exploration of six themes emerging from the analysis. Overall, the discussion ranges across such realities as desires, expectations, and illusions for mothering; birth and spiritual embodied experiences of mothering; instinctual knowing; identity and crisis; and connections of motherhood changes and transformations undergone through motherhood. This study presents a unique framework for qualitative studies of spirituality within motherhood research by weaving together transpersonal psychology, humanistic psychology, spiritual intelligence, and the spiritual maternal literature. This book will appeal to all women who have transitioned to motherhood. It will also be of assistance to professionals who wish to approach any aspect of maternity care and support from a transpersonal perspective. It will also provide unique insights for academics and postgraduate students in the fields of anthropology, psychology, psychotherapy, and feminism studies.
