Rembrandts Enterprise The Studio And The Market:

Rembrandt's Enterprise Svetlana Alpers, 1990 Drawing on and furthering the enterprise of Rembrandt scholars who have been reinterpreting the artist and his work over the past 25 years Alpers presents new considerations about Rembrandt's handling of paint his theatrical approach to his models his use of his studio as an environment under his control and his relationship to those who bought his work Her study is timely in light of recent research showing that well known works attributed to Rembrandt are by followers instead Alpers developed her text from a lecture series and the prose gains readability by retaining some of the flavor of a talk Still this will find its audience chiefly among scholars and specialists in the field Kathryn W Finkelstein M Ln Cincinnati Copyright 1988 Reed Business Information Inc From Library Journal A History of the Theatre Laboratory Bryan Brown, 2018-10-26 The term theatre laboratory has entered the regular lexicon of theatre artists producers scholars and critics alike yet use of the term is far from unified often operating as a catch all for a web of intertwining practices territories pedagogies and ideologies Russian theatre however has seen a clear emergence of laboratory practice that can be divided into two distinct organisational structures the studio and the masterskaya artisanal guild By assessing these structures Bryan Brown offers two archetypes of group organisation that can be applied across the arts and sciences and reveals a complex history of the laboratory's characteristics and functions that support the term's use in theatre This book's discursive historical approach has been informed substantially by contemporary practice through interviews with and examinations of practitioners including Slava Polunin Anatoli Vassiliev Sergei Zhenovach and Dmitry Krymov Willem Drost (1633-1659) Jonathan Bikker, Willem Drost, 2005-01-01 The book draws on extensive research to revise what has been known about Drost's life his stylistically diverse oeuvre and his influences The artist's training and his relationship to Rembrandt and other artists in the Rembrandt circle are examined as is his Venetian period and the relation of his style to that of German born painter Johann Carl Loth Drost emerges as one of Rembrandt's most talented imitators and despite his very short career an artist with a variety of faces BOOK JACKET The Visible and the Invisible Daniela Hammer-Tugendhat, 2015-03-10 The book addresses the scientific debates on Rembrandt Metsu Vermeer and Hoogstraten that are currently taking place in art history and cultural studies These focus mainly on the representation of gender difference the relationship between text and image and the emotional discourse They are also an appeal for art history as a form of cultural studies that analyses the semantic potential of art within discursive and social contemporary practices Dutch painting of the seventeenth century reflects its relationship to visible reality It deals with ambiguities and contradictions As an avant garde artistic media it also contributes to the emergence of a subjectivity towards the modern bourgeois It discards subject matter from its traditional fixation with iconology and evokes different imaginations and semantizations aspects that have not been sufficiently taken into account in previous research The book is to be understood as an appeal for art history as a form of cultural science that analyses the semantic potential of art within discursive and social contemporary practices and at the same time demonstrates its relevance today Works by Rembrandt Metsu Vermeer Hoogstraten and others serve as exemplary case studies for addressing current debates in art history and cultural studies such as representation of gender difference relationship between text and image and emotional discourse

Power and Image in Early Modern Europe

Jessica Goethals, Valerie McGuire, 2009-05-27 Are images and spectacles fundamental mediators of power relationships in the West This book draws upon the language of cultural studies to investigate a contemporary hypothesis in the shifting ideological landscape of early modern Europe Apparently aesthetic choices by artists may also have been the means to consolidate and subvert institutionalized or non institutionalized bodies of power Meanwhile communities in Europe reacted to the intrinsic power of the image in literature and letters commenting upon both its use and abuse Both diachronic and geographic connections are made among disparate but important moments of image making in the twelfth through seventeenth centuries The influence of Descartes is traced from La Rochefoucauld and the communal spectacles of the Ancien R gime salon to the Netherlands and Rembrandt s sketch Death of the Virgin Shakespeare bears similar anxieties about Joan of Arc s transgression of gender boundaries in Henry VI as does Castiglione s Courtier when serving the Renaissance Prince Spenser s dilemma about the non difference between fiction and history resolves itself in the same way as does the Byzantine rejection of iconoclasm Other articles in the collection examine anomie in Vatican frescoes by Giorgio Vasari corporeal decay and the supernatural as spectacle on the early modern English stage and affective self perception and subjectivity in the scoring of Italian opera not as just a conference volume but as an organic group of essays on early modernity The essays span an impressive number of cultures from Byzantium to England Italy and Spain to the Netherlands and theorize the image from a number of disciplinary vantage points Not surprisingly art history and theatre are well represented but so are music history and literary studies Most of the essays are short but sufficiently developed to allow for thoughtful arguments on the status of the visual in early modern culture on the stage on the page and as artistic and musical representation they do deliver fine close readings and leave me sufficiently intrigued to want to return to or familiarize myself with the original texts I come away from this collection encouraged about the state of graduate studies in Europe and North America Jane Tylus Professor of Italian and Comparative Literature and Vice Provost for Academic Affairs New York University The essays are interdisciplinary and touch upon many themes that lie outside my own field of specialization I was therefore surprised and pleased to find them not only original and instructive but also inviting and accessible to the non specialist Although they range far with respect to chronology and theoretical suppositions they are coherently united in their concern for the functioning of the image in the conservation revision or critique of socio political power in their respective cultural contexts I will mention three essays representing three different fields as striking examples of disparate images used to consolidate reconstruct or overthrow the dominant powers of their times Kathryn Falzareno s essay Mother s Milk and Deborah s Sword is a close reading of Shakespeare s portrayal of Joan of Arc in Henry VI It is a close analysis of the paradoxical status of Joan Saint of the French strumpet for the English Christian warrior maiden contrasting with Deborah in the Ancient Testament The dominant and totally unexpected image which brings together the contradictions embodied by Joan are the breasts the source of nurture in the figure of Mary but an encumbrance for the mythological amazons who removed one breast to facilitate their use of the bow Ljubica Ilic s Echo and Narcissus Labyrinths of the Self is an elegant reading of echo music the apparently impossible translation of the Ovidian story into music and opera Ovid s story represents the nymph Echo as the auditory equivalent of Narcissus reflection echoing sound as reflecting light Ovid s echo myth undoubtedly influenced opera by Jacopo Peri during the time of the Medici and then Monteverdi in the musical setting of Orfeo Finally Elissa Auerbach s Taking Mary s Pulse Cartesianism and Modernity in Rembrandt s Death of the Virgin is a brilliant commentary on the Dutch painter s rendering of an ancient theme the dormition of the Virgin but at the center of the painting is the figure of a physician taking the pulse of her limp hand The intrusion of this scientific element in the ancient iconography of the event of Mary s death is the unmistakable sign of the wave of modernity that swept over the Netherlands with the popularity of Cartesian philosophy and science John Freccero Professor of Italian and Comp Lit NYU

Depiction Michael Podro, Linda Merrill, 1998-01-01 This text is both a philosophical inquiry into the nature of depiction and a critical study of particular artists Donatello Rembrandt Chardin and Hogarth Michael Podro examines how the materials and procedure of the painter or sculptor are absorbed into imagining the subject This interplay between medium and subject is crucial for the work s expressiveness and to the viewer s involvement Abstract art in the early 20th century Podro argues has a closely related structure The notion of the surface plane is explored by examining Donatello s relief sculpture and the viewer s orientation by reference to Rembrandt He explains that Rembrandt s way of disallowing a dominant plane provides multiple orientations different paths of access to the subject including different ways in which the viewer interacts with depicted figures He then shows how in the case of portrayal the role of sitter artist and viewer interconnect and in the case of the self portrait converge The Invisible Hand in Popular Culture Paul Arthur Cantor, 2012-11-05 Popular culture often champions freedom as the fundamentally American way of life and celebrates the virtues of independence and self reliance But film and television have also explored the tension between freedom and other core values such as order and political stability What may look like healthy productive and creative freedom from one point of view may look like chaos anarchy and a source of destructive conflict from another Film and television continually pose the question Can Americans deal with their problems on their own or must they rely on political elites to manage their lives In this groundbreaking work Paul A Cantor explores the ways in which television shows such as Star Trek The X Files South Park and Deadwood and films such as The Aviator and Mars Attacks have portrayed both top down and bottom up models of order Drawing on the works of John Locke Adam Smith Alexis de Tocqueville and other proponents of freedom Cantor contrasts the classical liberal vision of America particularly its emphasis on the virtues of spontaneous order with the Marxist understanding of the culture industry and the Hobbesian model of absolute state control The Invisible Hand in Popular Culture concludes with a discussion of the impact of 9 11 on film and television and the new anxieties emerging in contemporary alien invasion narratives the fear of a global technocracy that seeks to destroy the nuclear family religious faith local government and other traditional bulwarks against the absolute state Picturing Punishment Anuradha Gobin,2021-07-30 Picturing Punishment examines representations of criminal bodies as they moved in through and out of publicly accessible spaces in the city during punishment rituals in the seventeenth century Dutch Republic Once put to death the criminal cadaver did not come to rest Its movement through public spaces indicated the potent afterlife of the deviant body especially its ability to transform civic life Focusing on material culture associated with key sites of punishment Anuradha Gobin argues that the circulation of visual media related to criminal punishments was a particularly effective means of generating discourse and formulating public opinion especially regarding the efficacy of civic authority Certain types of objects related to criminal punishments served a key role in asserting republican ideals and demonstrating the ability of officials to maintain order and control Conversely the circulation of other types of images such as inexpensive paintings and prints had the potential to subvert official messages As Gobin shows visual culture thus facilitated a space in which potentially dissenting positions could be formulated while also bringing together seemingly disparate groups of people in a quest for new knowledge Combining a diverse array of sources including architecture paintings prints anatomical illustrations and preserved body parts Picturing Punishment demonstrates how the criminal corpse was reactivated reanimated and in many ways reintegrated into society The Naked Heart Peter Gay,1996 In investigating the inner life of the whole Victorian bourgeoisie that vast class in Emile Zola s words reaching from the common people to the aristocracy Gay turns also to the letters and confessional diaries of both obscure and prominent men and women Jacket The Sociology of Arts and Markets Andrea Glauser,Patricia Holder,Thomas Mazzurana,Olivier Moeschler,Valérie Rolle,Franz Schultheis,2020-06-15 This edited collection offers an in depth analysis of the complex and changing relationship between the arts and their markets Highly relevant to almost any sociological exploration of the arts this interaction has long been approached and studied However rapid and far reaching economic changes have recently occurred Through a number of new empirical case studies across multiple artistic historic and geographical settings this volume illuminates the developments of various art markets and their sociological analyses The contributions include chapters on artistic recognition and exclusion integration and self representation in the art market sociocultural changes the role of the gallery owner and collectives rankings and constraints across the cultural industries Drawing on research from Japan Switzerland France Italy China the US UK and more this rich and global perspective challenges current debates surrounding art and markets and will be an important reference point for scholars and students across the sociology of arts cultural sociology and culture economy Aesthetic Spaces Brigitte Peucker,2019-02-15 Films provide valuable spaces for aesthetic experimentation and analysis for cinema's openness to other media has always allowed it to expand its own. In Aesthetic Spaces Brigitte Peucker shows that when painterly or theatrical conventions are appropriated by the medium of film the dissonant effects produced open it up to intermedial reflection and tell us a great deal about cinema itself. The films studied in these chapters include those by Abbas Kiarostami, Alfred Hitchcock, Michelangelo Antonioni, Jean-Luc Godard, Carl Th. Dreyer, Peter Greenaway, Rainer Werner Fassbinder, Ingmar Bergman, Jacques Rivette, Fritz Lang, F. W. Murnau, Lars von Trier, Spike Jonze, Ric Rohmer, Lech Majewski and others. Where two media are in evidence in these films there is usually a third and often theater mediates between film and painting. Aesthetic Spaces interrogates issues of cinematic space and mise en scène from different but interconnected theoretical perspectives, organizing its chapters around some of the formal principles: space, spectator, frame, color and lighting, props, décor and actor that shape films. Drawing on the older arts to renew cinema, the films examined deploy paintings as material. Poussin and Bruegel, Rembrandt, Hals and Klimt and medieval illustrations and modernist abstractions are used to expand our notions of cinematic space. Peucker shows that when different media come together in film they create effects of dissonance out of which new modes of looking may arise.

Experimental Selves Christopher Braider, 2018-10-11. Drawing on the generous semantic range the term enjoyed in early modern usage, Experimental Selves argues that person as early moderns understood this concept was an experimental phenomenon at once a given of experience and the self-conscious arena of that experience. Person so conceived was discovered to be a four-dimensional creature, a composite of mind or inner personality of the body and outward appearance of social relationship and of time. Through a series of case studies keyed to a wide variety of social and cultural contexts including theatre, the early novel, the art of portraiture, pictorial experiments in vision and perception, theory of knowledge and the new experimental science of the late seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, the book examines the manifold shapes person assumed as an expression of the social, natural and aesthetic experiments or experiences to which it found itself subjected as a function of the mere contingent fact of just having them.

Seventeenth-century Art & Architecture Ann Sutherland Harris, 2005. Encompassing the socio-political cultural background of the period, this title takes a look at the careers of the Old Masters and many lesser-known artists. The book covers artistic developments across six countries and examines in detail many of the artworks on display.

Quid est secretum? Ralph Dekoninck, Agnès Guiderdoni, Walter Melion, 2020-09-10. Quid est secretum Visual Representation of Secrets in Early Modern Europe 1500-1700 is the companion volume to Intersections 65.1 Quid est sacramentum Visual Representation of Sacred Mysteries in Early Modern Europe 1400-1700. Whereas the latter volume focused on sacramental mysteries, the current one examines a wider range of secret subjects. The book examines how secret knowledge was represented visually in ways that both revealed and concealed the true nature of that knowledge, giving and yet impeding access to it. In the early modern period, the discursive and symbolical sites for the representation of secrets were closely related to epistemic changes that transformed conceptions of the transmissibility of knowledge. Race and Photography Amos Morris-Reich, 2016-01-11 Race and Photography studies the changing function of photography from the 1870s to the 1940s within the field of the science of race what many today consider the paradigm of pseudo science Amos Morris Reich looks at the ways photography enabled not just new forms of documentation but new forms of perception Foregoing the political lens through which we usually look back at race science he holds it up instead within the light of the history of science using it to explore how science is defined how evidence is produced used and interpreted and how science shapes the imagination and vice versa Exploring the development of racial photography wherever it took place including countries like France and England Morris Reich pays special attention to the German and Jewish contexts of scientific racism Through careful reconstruction of individual cases conceptual genealogies and patterns of practice he compares the intended roles of photography with its actual use in scientific argumentation He examines the diverse ways it was used to establish racial ideologies as illustrations of types statistical data or as self evident record of racial signs Altogether Morris Reich visits this troubling history to outline important truths about the roles of visual argumentation imagination perception aesthetics epistemology and ideology within scientific study
