Remediation J. David Bolter, Richard Grusin, 1999 Remediation emphasises how all forms of media constantly borrow from and refashion other types of media The authors argue that the new media of the 90s pay homage to earlier forms and thereby achieve their own cultural significance Remediation Jay David Bolter, Richard Grusin, 2000-01-06 A new framework for considering how all media constantly borrow from and refashion other media Media critics remain captivated by the modernist myth of the new they assume that digital technologies such as the World Wide Web virtual reality and computer graphics must divorce themselves from earlier media for a new set of aesthetic and cultural principles In this richly illustrated study Jay David Bolter and Richard Grusin offer a theory of mediation for our digital age that challenges this assumption They argue that new visual media achieve their cultural significance precisely by paying homage to rivaling and refashioning such earlier media as perspective painting photography film and television They call this process of refashioning remediation and they note that earlier media have also refashioned one another photography remediated painting film remediated stage production and photography and television remediated film vaudeville and radio New Media Leah A.
