Mediation in Contemporary Native American Fiction James Ruppert, 1995 Mediation is the term James Ruppert uses to describe his important new theory of reading Native American fiction Focusing on novels of six major contemporary American writers N Scott Momaday James Welch Leslie Silko Gerald Vizenor D Arcy McNickle and Louise Erdrich Ruppert analyzes the ways in which these writers draw upon their bicultural heritage guiding Native and non Native readers alike to a different and expanded understanding of each other s worlds While Native American writers may criticize white society revealing its past and present injustices their emphasis Ruppert argues is on healing survival and continuance Their fiction aims to produce cross cultural understanding rather than divisiveness To that end they articulate the perspectives and values of competing world views In particular they create characters who manifest what Ruppert calls multiple identities determined by both Native and non Native perceptions of the self These writers use a variety of narrative techniques deriving from different cultural traditions They might incorporate Native oral storytelling techniques adapting them to written form or they might reconstruct Native mythologies investing them with new meaning and relevance by applying them to contemporary situations As novel writers they also include features more characteristic of western European writing such as the omniscient narrator or the detective story plot The Columbia Guide to American Indian Literatures of the United States Since 1945 Eric Cheyfitz, 2006-04-04 The Columbia Guide to American Indian Literatures of the United States Since 1945 is the first major volume of its kind to focus on Native literatures in a postcolonial context. Written by a team of noted Native and non Native scholars, these essays consider the complex social and political influences that have shaped American Indian literatures in the second half of the twentieth century with particular emphasis on core themes of identity, sovereignty, and land. In his essay comprising part I of the volume, Eric Cheyfitz argues persuasively for the necessary conjunction of Indian literatures and federal Indian law from Apsákwika to Alexie. Part II is a comprehensive survey of five genres of literature: fiction, Arnold Krupat and Michael Elliott poetry, Kimberly Blaeser drama, Shari Huhndorf nonfiction, David Murray and autobiography. Kendall Johnson discusses the work of Vine Deloria Jr., N. Scott Momaday, Joy Harjo, Simon Ortiz, Louise Erdrich, Leslie Marmon Silko, Gerald Vizenor, Jimmy Santiago Baca, and Sherman Alexie among many others. Drawing on historical and theoretical frameworks, the contributors examine how American Indian writers and critics have responded to major developments in American Indian life and how recent trends in Native writing build upon and integrate traditional modes of storytelling. Sure to be considered a groundbreaking contribution to the field, The Columbia Guide to American Indian Literatures of the United States Since 1945 offers both a rich critique of history and a wealth of new information and insight. Postindian Aesthetics Debra K. S. Barker, Connie A. Jacobs, 2022-05-03 Postindian Aesthetics is a collection of critical, cutting-edge essays on a new generation of Indigenous writers who are creatively and powerfully contributing to a thriving Indigenous literary canon that is redefining the parameters of Indigenous literary aesthetics.

Coming Into Contact Annie Merrill Ingram, 2007 A snapshot of ecocriticism in action. Coming into Contact collects sixteen previously unpublished essays that explore some of the most promising new directions in the study of literature and the environment. They look to previously unexamined or underexamined aspects of literature's relationship to the environment, including swamps, internment camps, Asian American environments, the urbanized Northeast, and lynching sites. The authors relate environmental discourse to practice, including the teaching of green design in composition classes, the restoration of damaged landscapes, the persuasive strategies of environmental activists, the practice of urban architecture, and the impact of human technologies on nature. The essays also put ecocriticism into greater contact with the natural sciences, including elements of evolutionary biology, biological taxonomy, and geology. Engaging both ecocritical theory and practice, these authors more closely align ecocriticism with the physical environment with the wide range of texts and cultural practices that concern it and with the growing scholarly conversation that surrounds this concern. Coming Into Contact Ann A. Merrill, Ian Marshall, Daniel J. Philippon, Adam W. Sweeting, 2010-01-25 A snapshot of ecocriticism in action. Coming into Contact collects sixteen previously unpublished essays that explore some of the most promising new directions in the study of literature and the environment. Native American Studies Clara Sue Kidwell, Alan R. Velie, 2005-01-01 Native American Studies covers key issues such as the intimate relationship of culture to land the nature of cultural exchange and conflict in the period after European contact the unique relationship of Native communities with the United States government the significance of language the vitality of contemporary cultures and the variety of Native artistic styles from literature and poetry to painting and sculpture to performance arts

The Future Imaginary in Indigenous North American Arts and Literatures Kristina Baudemann, 2021-12-30 This book examines the future in Indigenous North American speculative literature and digital arts Asking how different Indigenous works imagine the future and how they negotiate settler colonial visions of what is to come the chapters illustrate that the future is not an immutable entity but a malleable textual digital product that can function as both a colonial tool and a catalyst for decolonization Central to this study is the development of a methodology that helps unearth the signifying structures producing the future in selected works by Darcie Little Badger Gerald Vizenor Stephen Graham Jones Skawennati Danis Goulet Scott Benesiinaabandan Postcommodity Kite Jeff Barnaby and Ryan Singer Drawing on Jason Lewis's future imaginary as the theoretical core the book describes the various forms of textual representation and virtual simulation through which notions of Indigenous continuation are expressed in literary and new media works Arguing that Indigenous authors and artists apply the aesthetics of the future as a strategy in their works the volume conceptualizes its multimedia corpus as a continuously growing archive of and for Indigenous futures
