Reading Writing Interfaces Lori Emerson,2014-06-01 Lori Emerson examines how interfaces from today s multitouch devices to yesterday s desktops from typewriters to Emily Dickinson s self bound fascicle volumes mediate between writer and text as well as between writer and reader Following the threads of experimental writing from the present into the past she shows how writers have long tested and transgressed technological boundaries Reading the means of production as well as the creative works they produce Emerson demonstrates that technologies are more than mere tools and that the interface is not a neutral border between writer and machine but is in fact a collaborative creative space Reading Writing Interfaces begins with digital literature s defiance of the alleged invisibility of ubiquitous computing and multitouch in the early twenty first century and then looks back at the ideology of the user friendly graphical user interface that emerged along with the Apple Macintosh computer of the 1980s She considers poetic experiments with and against the strictures of the typewriter in the 1960s and 1970s and takes a fresh look at Emily Dickinson s self printing projects as a challenge to the coherence of the book Through archival research Emerson offers examples of how literary engagements with screen based and print based technologies have transformed reading and writing She reveals the ways in which writers from Emily Dickinson to Jason Nelson and Judd Morrissey work with and against media interfaces to undermine the assumed transparency of conventional literary practice

A Narrative Approach to Social Media Mourning Korina Giaxoglou,2020-06-04 This book investigates how social media are reconfiguring dying death and mourning Taking a narrative approach it argues that dying death and mourning are shared online as small stories of the moment which are organized around transgressive moments and events with motivational participatory or connective scope Through the different case studies discussed this book presents an empirical framework for analyzing small stories of dying death and mourning as practices of sharing which become associated with specific modes of affective positioning i e modulations of different degrees of distance or proximity to the death event and the dead the networked audience s and the affective self The book calls for the study of affect as integral to narrative activity and opens up broader questions about how stories and emotion are mobilized in digital cultures for accruing audiences value social or economic and visibility It will be of interest to researchers in narrative analysis the anthropology and sociology of emotion digital communication media and cultural studies and digital death and dying Shimmering Literacies Bronwyn T.

Williams,2009 This book examines the powerful role of popular culture in the daily online literacy practices of young people Whether as subject matter discourse or through rhetorical patterns popular culture dominates both the form and the content of online reading and writing In order to understand not only how but why online technologies have changed literacy and popular culture practices this book looks at online participatory popular culture from MySpace and Facebook pages to fan forums to fan fiction Interviews and observations reveal the skills and practices students develop as they sit multitasking at their computers across popular culture genres and electronic media For educators the book provides significant insights into popular culture literacy practices thus illuminating how students are making meaning and performing identity every day as they read and write online
