Rocke,2010-05-15 Nineteenth century chemists were faced with a particular problem how to depict the atoms and molecules that are beyond the direct reach of our bodily senses In visualizing this microworld these scientists were the first to move beyond high level philosophical speculations regarding the unseen In Image and Reality Alan Rocke focuses on the community of organic chemists in Germany to provide the basis for a fuller understanding of the nature of scientific creativity Arguing that visual mental images regularly assisted many of these scientists in thinking through old problems and new possibilities Rocke uses a variety of sources including private correspondence diagrams and illustrations scientific papers and public statements to investigate their ability to not only imagine the invisibly tiny atoms and molecules upon which they operated daily but to build detailed and empirically based pictures of how all of the atoms in complicated molecules were interconnected These portrayals of chemical structures both as mental images and as paper tools gradually became an accepted part of science during these years and are now regarded as one of the central defining features of chemistry In telling this fascinating story in a manner accessible to the lay reader Rocke also suggests that imagistic thinking is often at the heart of creative thinking in all fields Image and Reality is the first book in the Synthesis series a series in the history of chemistry broadly construed edited by Angela N H Creager John E Lesch Stuart W Leslie Lawrence M Principe Alan Rocke E C Spary and Audra J Wolfe in partnership with the Chemical Heritage Foundation Philosophical Transactions of the Royal Society of London Royal Society (Great Britain),1833 Proceedings of the Royal Society of London Royal Society (Great Britain),1864 Proceedings of the Royal Society of London ,1913 Index to the Proceedings of the Royal Society of London \(old Series\) ,1913 Abstracts of the Papers Printed in the Philosophical Transactions of the Royal Society of London Royal Society (Great Britain),1913 Index to the Proceedings of the Royal Society of London ,1913 *Catalogue of the Library of the School of Mines of Columbia College, New York.
