Response To The Aids Epidemic A Survey Of Homose:

Response to the AIDS Epidemic, 1991 This report documents the results of a telephone survey conducted between October 1989 and January 1990 on a random sample of 300 self identified gay and bisexual men in Los Angeles County The survey measured knowledge about transmission of human immunodeficiency virus HIV infection the occurrence of sexual and drug related risk behaviors linked to HIV transmission attitudes and beliefs about prevention measures personal decisions regarding testing for HIV antibodies health insurance coverage and use of health care services Results indicate that nearly all gay and bisexual men in the county know how HIV is transmitted Despite a major decrease in the occurrence of high risk behavior in this population there is room for further change many men still practice behaviors that could lead to HIV transmission if one partner is infected About two thirds of those interviewed had voluntarily sought testing for HIV antibodies and 85 percent thought gay and bisexual men in Los Angeles County should be encouraged to seek testing Twenty percent of those interviewed lacked health insurance coverage and many others were vulnerable to loss of coverage should they lose their employment Coordinating the Government's Response to AIDS United States. In Changing Times Martin P. Levine,Peter M. Nardi,John H. Gagnon,1997-08-18 The HIV AIDS epidemic has been a major catastrophe for gay communities In less than two decades the disease has profoundly changed the lives of gay men and lesbians Not just a biological and viral agent HIV has become an opportunistic social invader reshaping communities and the distribution of wealth altering the social careers of gay professionals and the patterns of entry into gay and lesbian life and giving birth to groups like ACT UP and Queer Nation The distinguished contributors to this volume discuss the ways HIV/AIDS has changed collective and individual identities as well as lives of gay men and lesbians and how these alterations have changed our perceptions of the epidemic They cover such topics as the impact of the epidemic on small towns cultural barriers to AIDS prevention gay youth and intergenerational relations and the roles of lesbians in AIDS organizations This collection provides compelling insights into the new communities among gay men and lesbians and the new kinds of identities and relationships that are emerging from the social and cultural ferment engendered by HIV/AIDS Contributors include Barry D Adam Lourdes Arguelles Rafael Miguel Diaz John H Gagnon Gilbert Herdt Gregory M Herek Nan D Hunter Peter M Nardi John L Peterson Anne Rivero Gayle S Rubin Beth E Schneider and Nancy E Stoller

Unequal Opportunity Richard J. Wolitski, Ron Stall, Ronald O. Valdiserri, 2008 Most public health students academicians and practitioners recognize the association between racial ethnic minority status and the disproportionate burden of preventable disease in the United States Much less attention has been directed however toward health disparities that affect gay and bisexual men These disparities affect the lives of an estimated 5 3 7 4 million American men and are an important concern for public health Until very recently the relative invisibility of this group and a paucity of empirical data have hampered attempts to identify health disparities experienced by gay and bisexual men This book proposes to review and synthesize evidence of health disparities among gay and bisexual men identify individual and community factors that contribute to these disparities and articulate strategies for public health efforts to eliminate disparities To date these disparities have been largely discussed in isolation in the research literature in a manner that does not permit a comprehensive examination of these problems their underlying causes and potential solutions Thus a primary emphasis of the book will be to document health disparities among gay and bisexual men while also describing public health solutions to these challenges
