Shakespeare, Film Studies, and the Visual Cultures of Modernity A. Guneratne, 2016-04-30 This book is the first in depth cultural history of cinema's polyvalent and often contradictory appropriations of Shakespearean drama and performance traditions The author argues that these adaptations have helped shape multiple aspects of film from cinematic style to genre and narrative construction

Farewell to Visual Studies James Elkins, Gustav Frank, Sunil Manghani, 2015-10-28 Each of the five volumes in the Stone Art Theory Institutes series brings together a range of scholars who are not always directly familiar with one another's work The outcome of each of these convergences is an extensive and unpredictable conversation on knotty and provocative issues about art This fifth and final volume in the series focuses on the identity nature and future of visual studies discussing critical questions about its history objects and methods The contributors question the canon of literature of visual studies and the place of visual studies with relation to theories of vision visuality epistemology politics and art history giving voice to a variety of inter and transdisciplinary perspectives Rather than dismissing visual studies as its provocative title might suggest this volume aims to engage a critical discussion of the state of visual studies today how it might move forward and what it might leave behind to evolve in productive ways The contributors are Emmanuel Alloa Nell Andrew Linda B ez Rub Martin A Berger Hans Dam Christensen Isabelle Decobecq Bernhard J Dotzler Johanna Drucker James Elkins Michele Emmer Yolaine Escande Gustav Frank Theodore Gracyk Asbj rn Gr nstad Stephan G nzel Charles W Haxthausen Miguel Hern ndez Navarro Tom Holert K van K l n Charlotte Klonk Tirza True Latimer Mark Linder Sunil Manghani Anna Notaro Julia Orell Mark Reinhardt Vanessa R Schwartz Bernd Stiegler yvind V gnes Sjoukje van der Meulen Terri Weissman Lisa Zaher and Marta Zarzycka

Embodiment and Education Marjorie O'Loughlin, 2006-06-27 This book brings together some of the most important philosophical works on the body These are then subjected to a critical analysis of what bodies do and have done to them in contemporary social life and particularly in education The author acknowledges the importance of discursive bodies while focusing attention on the active experiencing body and its anchoring in the creatural Thinking in these terms the author argues can better situate human beings in their environment thus emphasizing a kind of ecological notion of subjectivity in which place based existence is understood anew

Visual Literacy James Elkins, 2009-09-11 What does it mean to be visually literate Does it mean different things in the arts and the sciences In the developed West or in developing nations This groundbreaking collection explores what impact the new concept of visual literacy has on art history

Visual Culture in Contemporary China Xiaobing Tang, 2015-01-08 Exploring a wealth of images ranging from woodblock prints to oil paintings this beautifully illustrated full color study takes up key elements of the visual culture produced in the People's Republic of China from its founding in 1949 to the present day In a challenge to prevailing perceptions Xiaobing Tang argues that contemporary Chinese visual culture is too complex to be understood in terms of a simple binary of government propaganda and dissident art and that new ways must be sought to explain as well as

appreciate its multiple sources and enduring visions Drawing on rich artistic literary and sociopolitical backgrounds Tang presents a series of insightful readings of paradigmatic works in contemporary Chinese visual arts and cinema Lucidly written and organized to address provocative questions this compelling study underscores the global and historical context of Chinese visual culture and offers a timely new perspective on our understanding of China today Picture World Rachel Teukolsky,2020-08-16 The modern media world came into being in the nineteenth century when machines were harnessed to produce texts and images in unprecedented numbers In the visual realm new industrial techniques generated a deluge of affordable pictorial items mass printed photographs posters cartoons and illustrations These alluring objects of the Victorian parlor were miniaturized spectacles that served as portals onto phantasmagoric versions of the world Although new kinds of pictures transformed everyday life these ephemeral items have received remarkably little scholarly attention Picture World shines a welcome new light onto these critically neglected yet fascinating visual objects They serve as entryways into the nineteenth century s key aesthetic concepts Each chapter pairs a new type of picture with a foundational keyword in Victorian aesthetics a familiar term reconceived through the lens of new media Character appears differently when considered with caricature in the new comics and cartoons appearing in the mass press in the 1830s likewise the book approaches realism through pictorial journalism illustration via illustrated Bibles sensation through carte de visite portrait photographs the picturesque by way of stereoscopic views and decadence through advertising posters Picture World studies the aesthetic effects of the nineteenth century s media revolution it uses the relics of a previous era s cultural life to interrogate the Victorian world s most deeply held values arriving at insights still relevant in our own media age The Grove Encyclopedia of American Art Joan M. Marter,2011 Arranged in alphabetical order these 5 volumes encompass the history of the cultural development of America with over 2300 entries Handbook of Research in the Social Foundations of Education Steven Tozer,Bernardo P. Gallegos,Annette Henry,Mary Bushnell Greiner,Paula Groves Price,2011-07-05 This groundbreaking volume helps readers understand the history evolution and significance of this wide ranging often misunderstood and increasingly important field of study W.J.T. Mitchell's Image Theory Krešimir Purgar,2016-11-25 W J T Mitchell one of the founders of visual studies has been at the forefront of many disciplines such as iconology art history and media studies His concept of the pictorial turn is known worldwide for having set new philosophical paradigms in dealing with our vernacular visual world This book will help both students and seasoned scholars to understand key terms in visual studies pictorial turn metapictures literary iconology image text biopictures or living pictures among many others while systematically presenting the work of Mitchell as one of the discipline s founders and most prominent figures As a special feature the book includes three comprehensive authoritative and theoretically relevant interviews with Mitchell that focus on different stages of development of visual studies and critical iconology Schools and Screens Victoria Cain,2024-02-06 Why screens in schools from film screenings to instructional television to personal computers did not bring about the educational revolution promised by reformers Long before Chromebook giveaways and remote learning screen media technologies were enthusiastically promoted by American education reformers Again and again as schools deployed film screenings television programs and computer games screen based learning was touted as a cure for all educational ills But the transformation promised by advocates for screens in schools never happened In this book Victoria Cain chronicles important episodes in the history of educational technology as reformers technocrats public television producers and computer scientists tried to harness the power of screen based media to shape successive generations of students Cain describes how beginning in the 1930s champions of educational technology saw screens in schools as essential tools for training citizens and presented films to that end Among the films screened for educational purposes was the notoriously racist Birth of a Nation In the 1950s and 1960s both technocrats and leftist educators turned to screens to prepare young Americans for Cold War citizenship and from the 1970s through the 1990s as commercial television and personal computers arrived in classrooms screens in schools represented an increasingly privatized vision of schooling and civic engagement Cain argues that the story of screens in schools is not simply about efforts to develop the right technological tools rather it reflects ongoing tensions over citizenship racial politics private funding and distrust of teachers Ultimately she shows that the technologies that reformers had envisioned as improving education and training students in civic participation in fact deepened educational inequities

Visual Culture: What is visual culture studies? Joanne Morra, Marquard Smith, 2006 These texts represent both the formation of visual culture and the ways in which it has transformed and continues to transform our understanding and experience of the world as a visual domain

Visual Sense Elizabeth Edwards, Kaushik Bhaumik, 2024-11-01 Vision is more than looking or seeing It is integral to all human action Visual Sense presents a series of readings which offer a range of alternatives to conventional psychological and social scientific approaches to the study of the ocular The book highlights the multitude of ways in which vision is linked to the other senses by virtue of being embedded in complex cultural processes Visual Sense introduces students to the analysis of a wide range of ways of experiencing sight across time and across cultures from Renaissance Italy Aztec Mexico and early Christian Europe to Tibet West Africa Aboriginal Australia and South America amongst others It is arranged around broad themes of visual experience ranging from navigating the sacred and ordering knowledge about the world to thinking creatively socially and beyond vision into cyberspace and daydream This unique approach allows cross cultural and thematic connections to be made A Guide to Further Reading allows students to expand their learning independently and section introductions place the readings in context Visual Sense expands the field of visual studies and explores the place of vision in the sensory world

Visual Politics and North Korea David Shim, 2013-10-15 In the realm of international relations there are seemingly few states like North Korea Whether it is the country's human rights situation its precarious everyday life or its so called foreign policy of coercion and nuclear brinkmanship no matter what this pariah nation says and does it affects the state and stability of regional and global politics But what do we know about North Korea and how do we come to know it This book argues that visual imagery plays a decisive role in this operation By discussing two exemplary areas everyday photography and satellite imagery the book takes into account the role of images in the way that particular issues related to North Korea are understood in contemporary geopolitics Images work They do something by evoking a particular perspective of what is shown in them allowing only specific ways of seeing and knowing In this sense images are deeply political Individual methodological usages in the book can provide a procedural basis from which to start or rethink further studies on visuality both in IR and beyond It also opens an innovative path for future studies on East Asia making the book attractive to a range of specialists and thus holding an appeal beyond the boundaries of a single discipline An Analysis of John Berger's Ways of Seeing Emmanouil Kalkanis, 2018-02-21 Ways of Seeing is a key art historical work that continues to provoke widespread debate It is comprised of seven different essays three of which are pictorial and the other containing texts and images Berger first examines the relationship between seeing and knowing discussing how our assumptions affect how we see a painting He moves on to consider the role of women in artwork particularly regarding the female nude The third essay deals with oil painting looking at the relationship between subjects and ownership Finally Berger addresses the idea of ownership in a consumerist society discussing the power of imagery in advertising with particular regards to photography Sound, Image, Silence Michael Gaudio, 2019-11-26 A visionary new approach to the Americas during the age of colonization made by engaging with the aural aspects of supposedly silent images Colonial depictions of the North and South American landscape and its indigenous inhabitants fundamentally transformed the European imagination but how did those images reach Europe and how did they make their impact In Sound Image Silence noted art historian Michael Gaudio provides a groundbreaking examination of the colonial Americas by exploring the special role that aural imagination played in visible representations of the New World Considering a diverse body of images that cover four hundred years of Atlantic history Sound Image Silence addresses an important need within art history to give hearing its due as a sense that can inform our understanding of images Gaudio locates the noise of the pagan dance the discord of battle the din of revivalist religion and the sublime sounds of nature in the Americas such as lightning thunder and the waterfall He invites readers to listen to visual media that seem deceptively couched in silence offering bold new ideas on how art historians can engage with sound in inherently mute media Sound Image Silence includes readings of Brazilian landscapes by the Dutch painter Frans Post a London portrait of Benjamin Franklin Thomas Edison's early Kinetoscope film Sioux Ghost Dance and the work of Thomas Cole founder of the Hudson River School of American landscape painting It masterfully fuses a diversity of work across vast social cultural and spatial distances giving us both a new way of understanding sound in art and a powerful new vision of the New World

Mormon Visual Culture and the American West Nathan Rees, 2021-03-17 This book explores the place of art in Latter day Saint society during the first 50 years of the Utah settlement beginning in 1847 Nathan Rees uncovers the critical role that images played in nineteenth century Mormon religion politics and social practice These artists not only represented but actively participated in debates about theology politics race gender and sexuality at a time when Latter day Saints were grappling with evolving doctrine conflict with Native Americans and political turmoil resulting from their practice of polygamy The book makes an important contribution to art history Mormon studies American studies and religious studies

Seeing South Asia Dev Nath Pathak, Biswajit Das, Ratan Kumar Roy, 2022-04-11 This book critically examines the cultural politics of visuals in South Asia It makes a key contribution to the study of visuals in the social sciences in South Asia by studying the interplay of the seen and unseen and the visual and nonvisual The volume explores interrelated themes including the vernacular visual and visibility ways of seeing in South Asia and the methodology of hermeneutic sensorium anxiety and politics of the visuals across the region and the trajectory of visual anthropology significance of visual symbols and representations in contemporary performances and folk art visual landscapes of loss and recovery and representation of refugees visual public in South Asia and making of visuals for contemporary consumptions The chapters unravel the concepts of visual visibility visibility while attending to determinant meta ideas such as memory and modernity trajectories of tradition fluidity and hybridity and visual performative politics Based on interdisciplinary resources the chapters in this volume present a wide array of empirical findings across India Pakistan Sri Lanka Nepal and Bangladesh along with analytical readings of the visual culture of the subcontinent across borders The book will be useful to scholars and researchers of visual and cultural studies social and cultural anthropology sociology political studies media and communications studies performance studies art history television and film studies photography studies and South Asian studies It will also interest practitioners including artists visual artists photographers filmmakers and media critics
