Documenting America, 1935-1943 Carl Fleischhauer, Beverly W. Brannan, 1988 Between 1935 and 1943 a group of photographers under the direction of Roy Emerson Stryker set out to photograph the United States for the Farm Security Administration and the Office of War Information. Photographs taken by this celebrated group whose ranks included Dorothea Lange, Ben Shahn, Gordon Parks, Russell Lee, and Walker Evans have since become icons of the 1930s and 1940s. In recent years, however, their work has been reproduced with little discussion of the particular circumstances surrounding its creation. Documenting America takes a fresh look at these remarkable photographs. The book opens with two incisive essays by Lawrence Levine and Alan Trachtenberg that examine issues central to photography and American culture. While Levine explains how the pictures portray the complexity of life in the period, balancing scenes of Depression hard times with images of the pleasures of life, Trachtenberg analyzes the way in which viewers read photographs and the role of the government picture file that stands between the creation of the photographs and their use. Both essayists raise important questions about Stryker's grand ambition of a photographic record of America about the ways of seeing that have grown up around the most famous of these photographs and about the whole enterprise of documentary photography and the conventions of realism. The images themselves are presented in series selected from groups of pictures created by single photographers. A documentary photographer often makes dozens of exposures to portray different elements of the subject, experiment with camera angles, and cover the stages of an event or steps of a process. By studying these pictures in series, we come closer to the photographer working in the field. We see a tenant farming community in Gee's Bend, Georgia; the activities of the Salvation Army in San Francisco; and the hubbub and commotion that filled Chicago's Union Railway Station in 1943. Texts accompanying each of the book's fifteen series describe the circumstances that gave rise to the creation of the pictures and discuss the relation between government policy and the subjects of the photographs. The nearly three hundred images included vividly portray America in the last bitter years of the Great Depression and the first years of the Second World War.

The World of the Southern Indians Virginia Pounds Brown, Laurella Owens, 2011-03-15 Out of print for years and after thousands of copies sold NewSouth brings an important resource for young readers The World of Southern Indians back into print Seeing the Elephant Joseph Allan Frank, George A. Reaves, 2003-02-25 One of the bloodiest battles in the Civil War the two day engagement near Shiloh Tennessee in April 1862 left more than 23 000 casualties Fighting alongside seasoned veterans were more than 160 newly recruited regiments and other soldiers who had yet to encounter serious action In the phrase of the time these men came to Shiloh to see the elephant Drawing on the letters diaries and other reminiscences of these raw recruits on both sides of the conflict Seeing the Elephant gives a vivid and valuable primary account of the terrible struggle From the wide range of voices included in this volume emerges a nuanced picture of the psychology and motivations of the novice soldiers and the ways in which their attitudes toward the war were affected by their experiences at Shiloh The Badax Tigers Thomas P. Nanzig, 2007-11-09 When the Badax County Tigers left the small town of Viroqua Wisconsin in the autumn of 1861 they had little notion of what military service would demand of them The Badax Tigers were as common a company in as common a regiment as may be found in the annals of the Civil War They marched camped and fought their way through four years of service with their fair share of battle honors and few blemishes to mar their record They rallied at Shiloh stood firm at Corinth laid siege to Vicksburg rescued Chattanooga and saved Allatoona In short they represented the backbone of the Federal volunteer army from 1861 to 1865 When the original Tigers returned to Viroqua at the close of the war they numbered only fourteen men out of the more than 100 recruits who had been mustered into service This intimate unit history of the Badax Tigers chronicles the experiences of Company C of the 18th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry during the entire Civil War as seen through the eyes of Private Thomas Jefferson Davis Davis's letters provide an extraordinarily complete picture of a typical Federal volunteer company in the Civil War Supplemented by newspaper articles and the letters of some soldiers that were written and intended for publication in local newspapers The Badax Tigers is a detailed and comprehensive portrait of the Civil War from the perspective of the average soldier On the Road to Freedom Charles E. Cobb Jr., 2008-01-15 This in depth look at the civil rights movement goes to the places where pioneers of the movement marched sat in at lunch counters gathered in churches where they spoke taught and organized where they were arrested where they lost their lives and where they triumphed Award winning journalist Charles E Cobb Jr a former organizer and field secretary for SNCC Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee knows the journey intimately He guides us through Washington D C Maryland Virginia North Carolina South Carolina Georgia Alabama Mississippi and Tennessee back to the real grassroots of the movement He pays tribute not only to the men and women etched into our national memory but to local people whose seemingly small contributions made an impact We go inside the organizations that framed the movement travel on the Freedom Rides of 1961 and hear first person accounts about the events that inspired Brown vs Board of Education An essential piece of American history this is also a useful travel guide with maps photographs and sidebars of background history newspaper coverage and firsthand interviews Main Pass Energy Hub Deepwater Port License Application ,2006

The Appalachian mountain chain once contained the highest and most dramatic mountains on earth Worn down over time these mountains still hold some of the most diverse climactic zones and singular geological formations in existence In East 40 Degrees An Interpretive Atlas Jack Williams examines a succession of beautiful but little known towns along this cordillera a term descended from the Latin chorda meaning braided rope revealing in their layers of history and geography how both their diverse cultural and social circumstances and their geological history were instrumental in forming each town s distinctive character Referring to the spatial orientation of the Appalachian mountain chain the east 40 degrees of the title runs from Alabama through fifteen states to the coast of Maine Each town Williams examines sits within the folds of these mountains or beside a river nourished in their moist uplands Beginning his record with the continental collisions that shaped each town s history more than 300 million years ago Williams allows us to see the tenuous web of connections between ourselves and the natural processes that shape this earth Featuring a wealth of beautiful and significant illustrations and maps this unique work brings into focus the critical issues of environmental and cultural sustainability confronting us today

Elegant poetic and erudite East 40 Degrees will appeal to architects and landscape architects planners environmental historians ecologists geographers and anyone interested in the history and origins of our modern landscapes and towns Publication of this volume was assisted by a grant from Furthermore a program of the J M Kaplan Fund Federal Register ,2012-06 Teddy's Child Virginia Van der Veer Hamilton,2009-01-01 Historian and biographer Virginia Hamilton explores the deep roots of family and place in her coming of age memoir set in Birmingham Alabama in the period between World Wars I and II Viewing the Future in the Past H. Thomas Foster II,Lisa M. Paciulli,David J. Goldstein,2016-05-05 Viewing the Future in the Past is a collection of essays that represents a wide range of authors loci and subjects that together demonstrate the value and necessity of looking at environmental problems as a long term process that involves humans as a causal factor Editors H Thomas Foster II Lisa M Paciulli and David J Goldstein argue that it is increasingly apparent to environmental and earth sciences experts that humans have had a profound effect on the physical climatological and biological earth Consequently they suggest that understanding any aspect of the earth within the last ten thousand years means understanding the density and activities of Homo sapiens The essays reveal the ways in which archaeologists and anthropologists have devised methodological and theoretical tools and applied them to pre Columbian societies in the New World and ancient sites in the Middle East Some of the authors demonstrate how these tools can be useful in examining modern societies The contributors provide evidence that past and present ecosystems economies and landscapes must be understood through the study of human activity over millennia and across the globe Subject Catalog Library of Congress,1982
