

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a large flock of birds, possibly terns, flying in a clear blue sky. Below the birds, the dark, intricate branches of bare trees are visible, creating a dense, textured foreground. The overall scene is captured in a slightly desaturated, artistic style.

Selected John Hewitt:

Ancestral Voices John Harold Hewitt, 1987      The Selected John Hewitt John Harold Hewitt, 1981 Northern Ireland poetry      The Cambridge Companion to Irish Poets Gerald Dawe, 2018 A fresh accessible and authoritative study that conveys the richness and diversity of Irish poets their lives and times      The City of Coventry Adrian Smith, 2006-10-27 The image of Coventry in flames was one of the most haunting of the Second World War Yet the excitement and optimism of the 1950s and 1960s were succeeded by a quarter century of urban blight and economic slump The collapse of manufacturing industry machine tools aeroplanes cars left a proud community adrift and demoralised Today a revitalised twenty first century city Coventry has embraced the new millennium and evolved from bleak post industrial desert to vibrant cultural oasis in the process rediscovering a sense of purpose and a vision for the future The City of Coventry tells the story of an experiment in social democracy carried out by a Labour controlled council which envisaged the bomb shattered city as a model of urban regeneration and imaginative planning Post war reconstruction could be a striking success as in the pedestrian friendly Precinct and the bold new cathedral or a notable failure as in the ever more intrusive ring roads and grim high rise flats In offering a fresh perspective on the city this innovative volume of essays rediscovers Coventry as an inspiration for poets and painters such as Philip Larkin and Terry Frost musicians as varied as Benjamin Britten and The Specials and film makers such as Humphrey Jennings whose Heart of Britain was shot in the immediate aftermath of the Blitz Adrian Smith skilfully mixes memoir family history and meticulous scholarship to paint a complete and incisive portrait of Coventry Drawing on new research into topics as diverse as the place of Surrealism in West Midlands culture and the shadowy presence of rugby league in a union bastion Smith brings a unique insight into the recent history of his native city Attractively presented highly readable and with broad appeal The City of Coventry is a lively re examination of an iconic city of the twentieth century illuminating the profound changes that engulfed industrial England during and after the Second World War      American Indian Nonfiction Bernd Peyer, 2007 A survey of two centuries of Indian political writings      Ireland, Literature, and the Coast Nicholas Allen, 2020-11-05 The island of Ireland is home to one of the world's great literary and artistic traditions This book reads Irish literature and art in context of the island's coastal and maritime cultures beginning with the late imperial experiences of Jack and William Butler Yeats and ending with the contemporary work of Anne Enright and Sinéad Morrissey It includes chapters on key historical texts such as Erskine Childers's The Riddle of the Sands and on contemporary writers including Eilís Ní Chuiléain and Kevin Barry It sets a diverse range of writing and visual art in a fluid panorama of liquid associations that connect Irish literature to an archipelago of other times and places Situated within contemporary conversations about the blue and the environmental humanities this book builds on the upsurge of interest in seas and coasts in literary studies presenting James Joyce Elizabeth Bowen John Banville and many others in new coastal and maritime contexts In doing so it creates a literary and visual narrative of Irish coastal cultures

across a seaboard that extends to a planetary configuration of imagined islands

Modernism from the Margins Chris Wigginton, 2020-10-01 Modernism from the Margins is an accessible and challenging account of the 1930s writing of two of the most popular authors of the time Locating the work of Louis MacNeice and Dylan Thomas historically the book questions standard accounts of the period as Auden dominated and offers an inclusive and theoretical account of the engagement of both writers with the varieties of Modernism It is the first reading at length of either MacNeice's or Thomas's work in the light of literary theory and one of only a handful of texts to look at the writing of the 1930s in these terms This book is an important contribution to contemporary discussions of both of these writers and of the general issues of modernism postmodernism literary identity and cultural identity it raises

The Ulster Renaissance Heather Clark, 2006-04-06 This is the first full length study of the extraordinary period of intense poetic activity in Belfast known as the Ulster Renaissance a time when young Northern Irish poets such as Seamus Heaney Derek Mahon Michael Longley James Simmons and Paul Muldoon began crafting their art and tuning their voices through each other Drawing extensively upon new archival material as well as personal interviews and correspondence The Ulster Renaissance argues that these poets friendships and rivalries were crucial to their autonomous artistic development The book also sheds new light on the idea of a collaborative Belfast coterie often treated derisively by critics and shows that the poets frequently engaged in efforts to promote a cohesive Northern literary community distinct from that which existed in London and Dublin It suggests that it was this cohesion at turns inclusive and confining which ultimately challenged the Belfast poets to find their individual voices

Inventing the Myth Connal Parr, 2017-07-25 This book approaches Ulster Protestantism through its theatrical and cultural intersection with politics re-establishing a forgotten history and engaging with contemporary debates Anchored by the perspectives of ten writers some of whom have been notably active in political life it uniquely examines tensions going on within Through its exploration of class division and drama from the early twentieth century to the present the book restores the progressive and Labour credentials of the community's recent past along with its literary repercussions both of which appear in recent decades to have diminished Drawing on over sixty interviews unpublished scripts as well as rarely consulted archival material it shows contrary to a good deal of clichéd polemic and safe scholarly assessment that Ulster Protestants have historically and continually demonstrated a vigorous creative pulse as well as a tendency towards Left wing and class politics

St John Ervine Thomas Carnduff John Hewitt Sam Thompson Stewart Parker Graham Reid Ron Hutchinson Marie Jones Christina Reid and Gary Mitchell profoundly challenge as well as reflect their communities Illuminating a diverse and conflicted culture stretching beyond Orange Order parades the weaving together of the lives and work of each of the writers highlights mutual themes and insights on their identity as if part of some grander tapestry of alternative twentieth century Protestant culture Ulster Protestantism's consistent delivery of such dissenting voices counters its monolithic and reactionary reputation
