Monitoring the Quality of Education in Schools Vanessa Scherman, Roel J. Bosker, Sarah J. Howie, 2016-12-27 The monitoring of quality has been part of the educational landscape for many decades Originally the need to monitor arose as part of an economic process whereby policy makers wanted to discern the return on investment in education This bottom line thinking while still prominent has receded into the background in light of global changes and the emergence of a global economy Now in addition to the question what is the return on investment the more important question is are the students in schools ready to participate in the economy of a 21st century society This is underpinned by the inquiry into what knowledge and competencies are required for students to participate meaningfully in nation building This inquiry can only be undertaken by means of monitoring evaluating where the students are and what is required so that students reach their potential In an ever changing technologically oriented world the manner in which competencies and knowledge are identified and how these need to be measured and identified is important In this book the theory and practice of underpinning the monitoring of the quality of education is described This is followed by a number of practical examples in the form of country case studies on how theory plays out in practice The book further provides common themes across developed and developing emerging economies underscoring the need for approaches which are locally relevant but internationally transferable

International Handbook of School Effectiveness and Improvement Tony Townsend, 2007-09-21 This book reviews of the development implementation and practice of the disciplines of school effectiveness and school improvement Seven main topics are addressed History of the school effectiveness movement over the last 25 years Changes in accountability and standards Leadership in school effectiveness Changes in teacher education Impact of Diverse Populations Education Funding and its Impact and Best Practice Case Studies The contributors are active in school effectiveness research worldwide

Equity and Quality Dimensions in Educational Effectiveness Leonidas Kyriakides, Bert Creemers, Evi Charalambous, 2018-01-03 This book aims to make a contribution to the theory research and practice on quality and equity in education by providing a comprehensive overview of these two dimensions of educational effectiveness and proposing a methodological instrument that may be used to measure the contribution that each school can make to promoting equity The importance of using this instrument is demonstrated by analysing results of various effectiveness studies conducted over the last decade The book draws upon research across the world especially research conducted in the Europe the United States and Australasia It is shown that promoting equity has no negative effect on the promotion of quality The importance of using this methodological instrument to identify factors that promote both quality and equity at different educational levels i e teacher school and educational system is stressed The book also demonstrates how we can measure stability and changes in the effectiveness status of schools over time in terms of fostering quality and equity In addition it underlines the importance of identifying factors measuring changes in the effectiveness status of schools in terms of equity and points to the alternative strategies that can be used at school and system level In our attempt to encourage the further development and use of this methodology for school improvement purposes we demonstrate how experimental studies can be conducted to discover whether and under which conditions the proposed methodology can help schools promote both quality and equity Finally implications for school evaluation research educational policy and practice are drawn In this way the book contributes significantly to the debate on how quality and equity can be achieved and encourages policy makers and practitioners not to view these two dimensions of effectiveness as being in competition with each other but as constituting the major objectives of any reform policy and or improvement effort at school and or national levels

The International Handbook of School Effectiveness Research

David Reynolds, Charles Teddlie, 2002-11-01 What constitutes quality schooling What are the implications for educational practice and administration The text looks at these questions and examines international research evidence and reform initiatives with particular emphasis on North America UK Australasia and the Third World It offers a synopsis of the Third World School Effects Research SER The authors claim that the challenges now facing educational leaders is to find a balance between SER and the other school movements and to ask more demanding questions of our educational systems

Monitoring Educational Performance in the Caribbean Emanuela Di Gropello, 2003-01-01 This study represents a first attempt of providing a comprehensive quantification of educational outcomes in the Caribbean region Its main objectives are a to define a set of operationally relevant education indicators b to provide a database of comparable education indicators in Caribbean countries where data is available namely Belize Dominica Dominican Republic Grenada Guyana Jamaica St Kitts and Nevis St Lucia St Vincent and the Grenadines and Trinidad and Tobago and c to propose methods on how the common set of indicators can be used for analyses of the education sectors This exercise is all the more important within the framework of the current Education For All EFA and Millenium Development Goals MDGs initiatives which require the identification and monitoring of relevant indicators to establish where the countries stand in relation to the target of universal primary education After a systematic review of educational indicators in coverage efficiency and quality which leads to specific recommendations on the type of indicator relevant to operational diagnostics of the education sectors the study provides a detailed review of the Caribbean status in producing education indicators and demonstrates how a new database can be used to depict where the education sectors stand Building on these methods and findings its final section presents a set of specific recommendations to the Caribbean countries on how to improve the diagnostics of their education sectors
