McKibben,2006-01-04 Presenting a nuanced story of women migration community industry and civic life at the turn of the twentieth century Carol Lynn McKibben s Beyond Cannery Row analyzes the processes of migration and settlement of Sicilian fishers from three villages in Western Sicily to Monterey California and sometimes back again McKibben s analysis of gender and gender roles shows that it was the women in this community who had the insight the power and the purpose to respond and even prosper amid changing economic conditions Vividly evoking the immigrants everyday experiences through first person accounts and detailed description McKibben demonstrates that the cannery work done by Sicilian immigrant women was crucial in terms of the identity formation and community development These changes allowed their families to survive the challenges of political conflicts over citizenship in World War II and intermarriage with outsiders throughout the migration experience The women formed voluntary associations and celebrated festas that effectively linked them with each other and with their home villages in Sicily Continuous migration created a strong sense of transnationalism among Sicilians in Monterey which has enabled them to continue as a viable ethnic community today The History of North America:

The Pacific Slope and Alaska, by J. Schafer Guy Carleton Lee,Francis Newton Thorpe,1905 Storied Land John Walton,2003-12 John Walton never writes predictable books and Monterey California is not a predictable place the pairing is perfect Although rooted in Monterey this book explores how people in general construct historical narratives Storied Land is as thought provoking a discussion of public history and what it means to tell stories about the past as anything that I have read Richard White author of Remembering Ahanagran A History of Stories With deep research shrewd analysis and vivid writing John Walton reveals how we live in a web of competing stories that connect future and present to a contested past In recovering the particular riches of Monterey s literally storied past Walton finds universal experiences of labor resistance loss and silencing His own masterful storytelling lets us develop a fuller more humane tie to the people of our past Alan Taylor author of the Pulitzer Prize winning William Cooper s Town Power and Persuasion on the Frontier of the Early American Republic In the borderlands between archived event and public memory John Walton has found a pathway to understanding the process whereby a community remembers forgets denies affirms or otherwise structures or re structures

its understanding of itself Excavating a region and a city important to Native American Spanish Mexican and American California A Storied Land makes a welcomed contribution to California studies and the larger history and sociology of place Kevin Starr author of Inventing the Dream California Through the Progressive Era Once again John Walton has turned the facts about California into a compelling narrative and a profound meditation on the nature of history and collective memory Howard Becker author of Art Worlds The Politics of Public Memory Martha K. Norkunas, 1993-01-01 This book examines American public culture and the means by which communities in the U S reconstruct the past and reinterpret the present in the development of tourism Norkunas shows how public culture is not confined to just museums or monuments but can be constructed on many different levels and in different settings such as community ethnicity natural setting environment literary landscape and history In her case study of Monterey the author explores the particular ideologies that prompt the community to represent itself in tourism and that also act to legitimate the current social structure
