Printing for Profit Lucille Chia, 2020-10-26 From the eleventh through the seventeenth centuries the publishers of Jianyang in Fujian province played a conspicuous role in the Chinese book trade. Unlike the products of government and educational presses, their publications were destined for the retail book market. These publishers survived by responding to consumer demands for dictionaries, histories, geographies, medical texts, encyclopedias, primers, how-to books, novels, and anthologies. Their publications reflect the varied needs of the full range of readers in late imperial China and allow us to study the reading habits, tastes, and literacy of different social groups. The publishers of Jianyang were also businessmen, and their efforts to produce books efficiently, meet the demands of the market, and distribute their publications provide a window on commerce and industry and the growth of regional and national markets. The broad cultural, historical, and geographical scope of the Jianyang book trade makes it an ideal subject for the study of publishing in China. Based on an extensive study of Jianyang imprints, genealogies of the leading families of printers, local histories, documents, and annotated catalogs and bibliographies, Lucille Chia has written not only a history of commercial printing but also a wide-ranging study of the culture of the book in traditional China. A Guide to the Study of Occupations Frederick James Allen, 1921 Arabic-Type Books Printed in Wallachia, Istanbul, and Beyond Radu-Andrei Dîpratu, Samuel Noble, 2024-01-29 This first volume of Collected Works of the ERC Project TYPARABIC focuses on the history of printing during the 18th century in the Ottoman Empire and the Romanian Principalities among diverse linguistic and confessional communities. Although most roads lead to Istanbul, the many pathways of early modern Ottoman printing also connected authors, readers, and printers from Central and South Eastern Europe, Western Europe, and the Levant. The papers included in this volume are grouped in three sections. The first focuses on the first Turkish language press in the Ottoman capital, examining the personality and background of its founder, Ibrahim M. Teferrika, the legal issues it faced, and its context within the multilingual Istanbul printing world. The second section brings together studies of printing and readership in Central and South East Europe, in Romanian, Greek, and Arabic. The final section is made up of studies of the Arabic liturgical and biblical texts that were the main focus of Patriarch Athanasios III Dabb's efforts in the Romanian Principalities and Aleppo. This volume will be of interest to scholars of the history of printing, Ottoman social history, Christian Arabic literature, and Eastern Orthodox liturgy. The Oxford Handbook of British Romanticism David Duff, 2018-09-13 The Oxford Handbook of British Romanticism offers a comprehensive guide to the literature and thought of the Romantic period and an overview of the latest research on this topic.
