Prions en Chantant Marcia J. Epstein, 1997-12-15 The rich medieval French tradition of vernacular devotional songs has not received much scrutiny With Prions en chantant Marcia Epstein aims to remedy that situation by offering an edition of largely anonymous trouv re devotional songs designed for both scholars and performers from two late thirteenth century manuscripts The majority of the music is published here for the first time Sixty one songs are presented with forty nine songs exhibited in Old French with a facing page modern English translation followed by old musical notation and facing page with modern musical transcription An additional twelve songs which lack music in the original sources are represented by the Old French text and the modern English translation only The introduction extensively describes the social musical literary and theological aspects of the trouv re songs contained in the volume This is a valuable and welcome addition to the study of medieval music

Songs of the Women Trouvères Eglal Doss-Quinby, Elizabeth Aubrey, Joan Tasker Grimbert, Wendy Pfeffer, 2008-10-01 This groundbreaking anthology brings together for the first time the works of women poet composers or trouveres in northern France in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries Refuting the long held notion that there are no extant Old French lyrics by women from this period the editors of the volume present songs attributed to eight named female trouveres along with a varied selection of anonymous compositions in the feminine voice that may have been composed by women The book includes the Old French texts of seventy five compositions extant music for eighteen monophonic songs and nineteen polyphonic motets English translations and a substantial introduction

Eight Centuries of Troubadours and Trouvères John Haines, 2004-07-08 This 2004 book traces the changing interpretation of troubadour and trouvere music a repertoire of songs which have successfully maintained public interest for eight centuries from the medieval chansonniers to contemporary rap renditions A study of their reception therefore serves to illustrate the development of the modern concept of medieval music Important stages include sixteenth century antiquarianism the Enlightenment synthesis of scholarly and popular traditions and the infusion of archaeology and philology in the nineteenth century leading to more recent theories on medieval rhythm More often than now writers and performers have negotiated a compromise between historical research and a more imaginative approach to envisioning the music of troubadours and trouveres This book points not so much to a resurrection of medieval music in modern times as to a continuous tradition of interpreting these songs over eight centuries

Song, Landscape, and Identity in Medieval Northern France Jennifer Saltzstein, 2023 Song Landscape and Identity in Medieval Northern France offers a new perspective on how medieval song expressed relationships between people and their environments Informed by environmental history and harnessing musicological and ecocritical approaches author Jennifer Saltzstein draws connections between the nature imagery that pervades songs written by the trouv res of northern France to the physical terrain and climate of the lands on which their authors lived In doing so she analyzes the different ways in which composers lived environments related to their songs and categorizes their use of nature imagery as realistic aspirational or nostalgic Demonstrating a cycle of mutual impact between nature and culture Saltzstein argues that trouv re songs influenced the ways particular groups of medieval people defined their identities encouraging them to view themselves as belonging to specific landscapes The book offers close readings of love songs pastourelles motets and rondets from the likes of Gace Brul Adam de la Halle Guillaume de Machaut and many others Saltzstein shows how their music text relationships illuminate the ways in which song helped to foster identities tied to specific landscapes among the knightly classes the clergy aristocratic women and peasants By connecting social types to topographies trouv re songs and the manuscripts in which they were preserved presented models of identity for later generations of songwriters performers listeners patrons and readers to emulate thereby projecting into the future specific ways of being on the land Written in the long thirteenth century during the last major era of climate change trouv re songs as Saltzstein demonstrates shape our understanding of how identity formation has rested on relationships between nature culture and change Female-Voice Song and Women's

Cohen, Justine Firnhaber-Baker, 2016-12-05 Difference in medieval France was not solely a marker for social exclusion provoking feelings of disgust and disaffection but it could also create solidarity and sympathy among groups Contributors to this volume address inclusion and exclusion from a variety of perspectives ranging from ethnic and linguistic difference in Charlemagne s court to lewd sculpture in B arn to prostitution and destitution in Paris Arranged thematically the sections progress from the discussion of tolerance and intolerance through the clearly defined notion of foreignness to the complex study of stranger identity in the medieval period As a whole the volume presents a fresh intriguing perspective on questions of exclusion and belonging in the medieval world "Chancon Legiere a Chanter" Samuel N. Devotion in Thirteenth-century French Lyric Daniel E. O'Sullivan, 2005-01-01 Texts centred on the mother of Jesus abound in religious traditions the world over but thirteenth century Old French lyric stands apart both because of the enormous size of the Marian cult in thirteenth century France and the lack of critical attention the genre has garnered from scholars As hybrid texts Old French Marian songs combine motifs from several genres and registers to articulate a devotional message In this comprehensive and illuminating study Daniel E O Sullivan examines the movement between secular and religious traditions in medieval culture that Old French religious song embodies He demonstrates that Marian lyric was far more than a simple mindless imitation of secular love song On the contrary Marian lyric participated in a dynamic interplay with the secular tradition that different composers shaped and reshaped in light of particular doctrinal and aesthetic concerns It is a corpus that reveals itself to be far more malleable and supple than past readers have admitted With an extensive index of musical and textual editions of dozens of songs Marian Devotion in Thirteenth Century French Lyric brings a heretofore neglected genre to light

The Malmariée in the Thirteenth-Century Motet Dolores Pesce, 2023-02-08 This monograph offers a comprehensive study of the topos of the malmari e or the unhappily married woman within the thirteenth century motet repertory a vocal genre characterized by several different texts sounding simultaneously over a foundational Latin chant Part I examines the malmari e motets from three vantage points 1 in light of contemporaneous canonist views on marriage 2 to what degree the French malmari e texts in the upper voices treat the messages inherent in the underlying Latin chant through parody and or allegory and 3 interactions among upper voice texts that invite additional interpretations focused on gender issues Part II investigates the transmission profile of the motets as well as of their refrains revealing not only intertextual refrain usage between the motets and other genres but also a significant number of shared refrains between malmari e motets and other motets Part II furthermore offers insights on the chronology of composition within a given intertextual refrain nexus and examines how a refrain s meaning can change in a new context Finally based on the transmission profile Part II argues for a lively interest in the topos in the 1270s and 1280s both through composition of new motets and compilation of earlier ones with Paris and Arras playing a prominent role

The Refrain and the Rise of the Vernacular in Medieval French Music and Poetry Jennifer Saltzstein, 2013 A survey of the use of the refrain in thirteenth and fourteenth century French music and poetry showing how it was skilfully deployed to assert the validity of the vernacular The relationship between song quotation and the elevation of French as a literary language that could challenge the cultural authority of Latin is the focus of this book It approaches this phenomenon through a close examination of the refrain a short phrase of music and text quoted intertextually across thirteenth and early fourteenth century musical and poetic genres The author draws on a wide range of case studies from motets trouv re song plays romance vernacular translations and proverb collections to show that medieval composers quoted refrains as vernacular auctoritates she argues that their appropriation of scholastic Latinate writing techniques worked to authorize Old French music and poetry as media suitable for the transmission of knowledge Beginning with an exploration of the quasi scholastic usage of refrains in anonymous and less familiar clerical contexts the book goes on to articulate a new framework for understanding the emergence of the first two named authors of vernacular polyphonic music the cleric trouv res Adam de la Halle and Guillaume de Machaut It shows how by blending their craft with the writing practices of the universities composers could use refrain quotation to assert their status as authors with a new self consciousness and to position works in the vernacular as worthy of study and interpretation Jennifer Saltzstein is Assistant Professor of Musicology at the University of Oklahoma

Medieval Sex Lives Elizabeth Eva Leach, 2023-12-15 Medieval Sex Lives examines courtly song as a complex cultural product and social force in the early fourteenth century exploring how it illuminates the relationship between artistic production and the everyday lives of the elites for whom this music and poetry was composed and performed In a focused analysis of the Oxford Bodleian Library's Douce 308 manuscript a fourteenth century compilation that includes over five hundred Old French lyrics composed over two centuries alongside a narrative account of elaborate courtly festivities centered on a week long tournament Elizabeth Eva Leach explores two distinct but related lines of inquiry first why the lyric tradition of courtly love had such a long and successful history in Western European culture and second why the songs in the Bodleian manuscript would have been so important to the book's compilers owners and readers The manuscript's lack of musical notation and authorial attributions make it unusual among Old French songbooks its arrangement of the lyrics by genre invites inquiry into the relationship between this long musical tradition and the emotional and sexual lives of its readers Combining an original account of the manuscript's contents and their likely social milieu with in depth musical and poetic analyses Leach proposes that lyrics whether read or heard aloud provided a fertile means of propagating and enabling various sexual scripts in the Middle Ages Drawing on musicology literary history and the sociology and psychology of sexuality Medieval Sex Lives presents a provocative hypothesis about the power of courtly songs to model inspire and support sexual behaviors and fantasies

cultural appropriation that created a founding moment for French literary history the rescripting and domestication of troubadour song a prestige corpus in the European sphere as French This book also documents the simultaneous creation of an alternative point of origin for French literary history a body of faux archaic Occitanizing songs Most scholars would find the claim that troubadour poetry is the origin of French literature uncomplicated and uncontroversial However Stolen Song shows that the Frenchness of this tradition was invented constructed and confected by francophone medieval poets and compilers keen to devise their own literary history Stolen Song makes a major contribution to medieval studies both by exposing this act of cultural appropriation as the origin of the French canon and by elaborating a new approach to questions of political and cultural identity Eliza Zingesser shows that these questions usually addressed on the level of narrative and theme can also be fruitfully approached through formal linguistic and manuscript oriented tools

The Sense of Sound Emma Dillon, 2012-04-27 The Sense of Sound is a radical recontextualization of French song 1260 1330 Situating musical sound against sonorities of the city madness charivari and prayer it argues that the effect of verbal confusion popular in music abounds with audible associations and that there was meaning in what is often heard as nonsensical

Performing Desire Elizabeth Eva Leach, Jonathan Morton, 2025-06-15 Performing Desire examines the intellectual and philosophical complexity of a monument of medieval literature the mid thirteenth century Bestiaire d'amours of Richard de Fournival Although the Bestiaire was recognized in its time as significant as evinced by numerous surviving manuscript copies and its influence on other literary works modern scholarship has tended to neglect it Performing Desire remedies this omission by detailing the contributions of the Bestiaire to medieval literature and thought Attending to the phenomenology psychology and philosophy of Fournival's Bestiaire Elizabeth Eva Leach and Jonathan Morton reconsider the work as a literary experiment that explores erotic desire and the construction of a self Leach and Morton further show that the Bestiaire is as much a meditation on sound and performance as it is a study of desire Synthesizing methods from musicology literary studies and manuscript studies Leach and Morton consider the complex and hybridized workings of text image sound and cues for performance in the surviving manuscripts of the Bestiaire Through their analysis Leach and Morton find that the distinctive aspect of the Bestiaire's philosophical method is its self conscious status as a performance between the oral and the literary the voice and the page It is this aspect they contend that left such a mark on the medieval European tradition of philosophical fiction In Performing Desire Richard de Fournival's hybrid text emerges as one of the most philosophically sophisticated and important works of medieval literature not only in French but in any language
