Quo Vadis Henryk Sienkiewicz, 2013-02-17 First century Rome is the setting for Sienkiewicz's classic novel of love intrigue and Emperor Nero's persecution of Christians. Rich in historical detail, the story follows the experience of Vinicius, an arrogant Roman nobleman who tries to save Princess Lygia from death. The Bookman, 1912 Henryk Sienkiewicz - Quo Vadis: The Bestseller of 1897

Henryk Adam Aleksander Pius Sienkiewicz was born on May 5th 1846 into an impoverished Polish noble family in Russian ruled Congress Poland. He normally published under the shortened version as Henryk Sienkiewicz. It was only in 1866 that he completed his secondary school diploma. At first he tried to study medicine then law at the Imperial University of Warsaw but he soon transferred to the university's Institute of Philology and History where he acquired a thorough knowledge of literature and Old Polish language. His living circumstances meant he was living in poverty and existing only by tutoring the children of other families. In 1868 his circumstances improved when he became tutor to the princely Woroniecki family. In 1869 his analysis of a play was published in the Weekly Review and shortly afterward The Illustrated Weekly printed his essay about the late Renaissance Polish poet Mikolaj S p Szarzy ski. Sienkiewicz completed his university studies in 1871 though he failed to receive a diploma because he did not pass the examination in Greek language. However he was gaining some traction writing for such publications as Gazeta Polska The Polish Gazette and Niwa magazine under the pen name Litwos. In 1873 he began writing a column Bez tytułu Without a title in The Polish Gazette and in 1874 one for Niwa Sprawy bieżące Current matters and in 1875 the column Chwila obecna The Present Moment. He also collaborated on a Polish translation published in 1874 of Victor Hugo's last novel Ninety Three. In June of the same year he became co owner of Niwa. This was followed by Humoreski z teki Woroszylla Humorous Sketches from Woroszylla's Files. 1872 Stary Sluga The Old Servant 1875 Hania Sienkiewicz 1876 and Selim Mirza 1877. These last three are known as the Little Trilogy. Together these publications made him a prominent figure in Warsaw's journalistic literary world. In the late 1870s he traveled to the United States writing many travel essays which helped win him further popularity with Polish readers. From the 1880s he also began serializing his novels and soon became one of the most popular Polish writers of the 19th and 20th centuries. His numerous translations gained him international renown. In Poland he is best known for his Trilogy of historical novels Fire and Sword The Deluge and Sir Michael all set in the 17th century Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth. However in the rest of the world his fame is set with Quo Vadis, an epic in length and scope and set in Emperor Nero's Rome. It easily became the best selling book of 1897, a enduring and literary sensation. In 1905 he won a Nobel Prize for his lifetime achievements as an epic writer. In his acceptance speech he said this honor was of particular value to a son of Poland. She was pronounced dead yet here is proof that she lives on. She was pronounced defeated and here is proof that she is victorious. Henryk Adam Aleksander Pius Sienkiewicz died on 15th November 1916 at the Grand Hotel du Lac in Vevey Switzerland from ischemic heart disease. Documents of the Senate of the State of New York and periodicals during her first decade as a professional writer Selected from 520 articles and columns the text is divided into three parts corresponding to major developments in Cather s career the period from 1893 to 1896 when she first began to write regularly for Lincoln newspapers the years in Pittsburgh when she was working for the Home Monthly and the Leader and sending her famous Passing Show column back to Nebraska and the period from the spring of 1900 to 1903 when she freelanced in Pittsburgh and Washington taught in a Pittsburgh high school and made her first trip abroad The text has been edited with three main objectives 1 to enable the reader to trace Cather s development as a writer 2 to group the material so that the reader interested in a particular subject the theatre or music or literature for example can readily locate pertinent selections and 3 to provide a context sufficient to relate these pieces to Willa Cather s life and to the times and to suggest some of their connections with the body of her work Chronologies have been included for each of the three parts and the Bibliography is the most complete yet available for the for the nonfiction writing up to 1903 Not the least remarkable feature of this collection is the range and variety of forms and subject matter reviews of books plays operas concerts art exhibits lectures feature stories interviews straight reportage columns of miscellaneous comment and travel letters Seemingly with no apparent effort Willa Cather could adjust her sights to any assignment and any audience And if it is astonishing that she could write so much about so many matters at so many levels it is perhaps even more astonishing that so much of it was so good Undeniably however the chief interest to the general reader and the peculiar value to the scholar of these journalistic writings reside in their manifold and crucial connections with Cather s later work and in the unparalleled insights they afford into the process by which a gifted writer becomes a great artist The Methodist Review ,1922
