Human Rights and Migrant Domestic Work Maria Deanna P. Santos,2005-09-01 On a general level this research project concerns ways in which the domestic and international laws relating to the situation of migrant domestic workers MDWs are shaped by broader socio political and economic factors More specifically this dissertation examines the human rights situation of Filipina MDWs who participate in Canada s Live in Caregiver Program LCP It attempts to meet these objectives in part by undertaking a limited comparison of the situation of these Filipina MDWs and the Filipina MDWs in Hong Kong The comparison is meant to further test and validate the arguments and proposals presented in this dissertation regarding the socio legal status of Filipina MDWs under Canada s LCP This is done through an analysis of existing data on Filipina MDWs and a consideration of the ways in which the relevant laws and policies in these two jurisdictions affect create and or perpetrate the status quo in this area of social life The main explanatory theoretical framework that is deployed is the Third World Approaches to International Law the TWAIL theory      Gendering Struggles Against Informal and Precarious Work Rina Agarwala, Jennifer Jihye Chun, 2018-12-10 This volume examines how gender shapes the varying and intersecting dynamics of informal precarious worker struggles in two gender typed sectors domestic work and construction Drawing upon cases across the global North and South it explores how gender is intertwined into collective organizing efforts why gender is addressed and to what end      The African Diaspora in Canada Wisdom

Tettey, Korbla P. Puplampu, 2005 This book addresses the conceptual difficulties and political contestations surrounding the applicability of the term African Canadian In the midst of this contested terrain the volume focuses on first generation Black Continental Africans who have immigrated to Canada in the last four decades and have traceable genealogical links to the continent      Working Feminism Geraldine Pratt, 2019-08-07 Working Feminism looks at key concepts and debates within feminist theory and puts them to work concretely in relation to the real problems faced by Filipina domestic workers and Asian youth in Canada It draws to the fore the metaphorical and concrete geographies that lie implicit and underdeveloped within much feminist theory and suggests that a geographical imagination offers a means of reframing debates beyond polarised theoretical and political positions Alternating between theoretical and empirical chapters substantial and wide ranging discussions of human rights multiculturalism transnationalism and feminist politics are brought to earth and by putting them into the context of individual predicaments to life The empirical chapters build from a decade long collaboration with an activist group the Philippine Women Centre in Vancouver Canada They demonstrate the fruits of a close and innovative engagement between poststructuralist feminist theory and participatory action research The book demonstrates the immediate practicality of abstract debate and works away at divisions between culturalist and materialist theoretical and practical feminisms      Negotiating Power and Privilege Philomina Ezeagbor Okeke-Ihejirika, 2004 Annotation Philomina

Okeke Ihejirika recorded life history interviews and discussions during the 1990s with educated women of differing ages and professions Her interviews bring up both familiar and surprising aspects of the women s experiences their victories and compromises within their families marriages and workplaces      Migration in Performance Caleb Johnston, Geraldine Pratt, 2019-02-08 This book follows the travels of Nanay a testimonial theatre play developed from research with migrant domestic workers in Canada as it was recreated and restaged in different places around the globe This work examines how Canadian migration policy is embedded across and within histories of colonialism in the Philippines and settler colonialism in Canada Translations between scholarship and performance and between Canada and the Philippines became more uneasy as the play travelled internationally raising pressing questions of how decolonial collaborations might take shape in practice This book examines the strengths and limits of existing framings of Filipina migration and offers rich ideas of how care the care of children and elderly and each other might be rethought in radically new ways within less violently unequal relations that span different colonial histories and complex triangulations of racialised migrants settlers and Indigenous peoples This book is a journey towards a new way of doing and performing research and theory It is part of a growing interdisciplinary exchange between the performing arts and social sciences and will appeal to researchers and students within human geography and performance studies and those working on migration colonialisms documentary theatre and social reproduction Cahiers de la Femme, 2003 Contested Voices M. Githens, 2013-05-09 A comprehensive and stimulating examination of how the migration of women affects attitudes in receiving countries among the women themselves and how changing women's attitudes shapes their relations with men and between generations within ethnic groups Global Feminism Myra Marx Ferree, Aili Mari Tripp, 2006-07-01 Explores the social and political developments that have energized movements of global feminism Increasingly feminists around the world have successfully campaigned for recognition of women's full personhood and empowerment Global Feminism explores the social and political developments that have energized this movement Drawn from an international group of scholars and activists the authors of these original essays assess both the opportunities that transnationalism has created and the tensions it has inadvertently fostered By focusing on both the local and global struggles of today's feminist activists this important volume reveals much about women's changing rights treatment and impact in the global world Contributors Melinda Adams Aida Bagic Yakin Erturk Myra Marx Ferree Amy G Mazur Dorothy E McBride Hilka Pietilä Tetyana Pudrovska Margaret Snyder Sarah Swider Aili Mari Tripp Nira Yuval Davis

Ibss: Political Science: 1998 Compiled by the British Library of Political and Economic Science, 2000-02 Renowned for its international coverage and rigorous selection procedures this series provides the most comprehensive and scholarly bibliographic service available in the social sciences Arranged by topic and indexed by author subject and place name each bibliography lists and annotates the most important works published in its field during the year of 1997 including hard to locate journal articles Each volume also includes a complete list of the periodicals consulted Three Plays of Maureen Hunter Hunter, Maureen, 2003 Book is clean and tight No writing in text Like New Doing the Dirty Work? Bridget Anderson, 2000-02 There has been a tendency amongst feminists to see domestic work as the great leveller a common burden imposed on all women equally by patriarchy This unique study of migrant domestic workers in the North uncovers some uncomfortable facts about the race and class aspects of domestic oppression Based on original research it looks at the racialisation of paid domestic labour in the North a phenomenon which challenges feminism and political theory at a fundamental level The book opens with an exploration of the public private divide and an overview of the debates on women and power The author goes on to provide a map of employment patterns of migrant women in domestic work in the North she describes the work they perform their living and working conditions and their employment relations A chapter on the US explores the connections between slavery and contemporary domestic service while a section on commodification examines the extent to which migrant domestic workers are not selling their labour but their whole personhood The book also looks at the role of the Other in managing dirt death and pollution and the effects of the feminisation of the labour market as middle class white women have greater presence in the public sphere they are more likely to push responsibility for domestic work onto other women In its depiction of the treatment of women from the South by women in the North the book asks some difficult questions about the common bond of womanhood Packed with information on the numbers of migrant women working as domestics the racism immigration or employment legislation that constrains their lives and testimonies from the workers themselves this is the most comprehensive study of migrant domestic workers available Revolution at Point Zero Silvia Federici, 2020-08-01 Written between 1974 and 2016 Revolution at Point Zero collects four decades of research and theorizing on the nature of housework social reproduction and women s struggles on this terrain to escape it to better its conditions to reconstruct it in ways that provide an alternative to capitalist relations Indeed as Federici reveals behind the capitalist organization of work and the contradictions inherent in alienated labor is an explosive ground zero for revolutionary practice upon which are decided the daily realities of our collective reproduction Beginning with Federici s organizational work in the Wages for Housework movement the essays collected here unravel the power and politics of wide but related issues including the international restructuring of reproductive work and its effects on the sexual division of labor the globalization of care work and sex work the crisis of elder care the development of affective labor and the politics of the commons This revised and expanded edition includes three additional essays and a new preface by the author
