Race And Place Equity Issues In Urban America:

Race And Place John W. Frazier, Florence Margai, Eugene Tettey-fio, 2003-03-18 Racism racial equity and the race place connections related to racial inequalities in the U S are the major themes of this book The long history of U S White racism toward Blacks Hispanics and Asians is deeply rooted in the political socioeconomic and intellectual frameworks of America permitting racial inequities to become expressed as cultural landscapes the places where many racial minorities exist The contemporary geographic patterns of segregation and isolation are different from those of earlier U S history but are equally damning and present extremely difficult challenges for social action in a nation that will change its racial ethnic composition dramatically during the current generation As America changes over the next quarter century the visible and invisible race place inequalities that help define U S urban geography will continue in housing education employment travel requirements shopping choices environmental hazards and other living conditions Minority groups ever increasing in numbers will find inequalities unacceptable How America deals with racial inequalities will likely have consequences for all its citizens

Race And Place John W. Frazier, 2019-05-20 This book addresses the issues in an empirical fashion after examining different sociological and geographic perspectives It provides a basic understanding of the multi faceted nature of racial inequalities in urban America both in a broad context and in separate analyses of housing Race And Place John W. Margai, 2010-09-01 In an approach that differs from other publications on U S multiculturalism Multicultural Geographies examines the changing patterns of race and ethnicity in the United States from geographical perspectives It reflects the significant contributions made by geographers in recent years to our understanding of the day to day experiences of American minorities and the historical and current processes that account for living spaces persistent patterns of segregation and group inequalities and the complex geographies that continue to evolve at local and regional levels across the country One of the book s underlying themes is the dynamic and complex nature of U S multiculturalism and the academic difficulty in evaluating it from a single viewpoint or theoretical stance As such Multicultural Geographies is derived from the joint efforts of selected scholars to bring together diverse perspectives and approaches in documenting the experiences of American minorities and the issues that affect them Atlas of the 2008 Elections Stanley D. Brunn, Stephen J. Lavin, J. Clark Archer, 2011-07-15 The U S presidential election of 2008 was one of the most significant elections in recent American history Bringing together leading geographers and political scientists this unique atlas analyzes and maps the campaigns primaries general election and key state referenda to provide a rich picture of this watershed event

Shepherd, 2010-04-15 Though not as well known as the U S military campaigns against the Apache the ethnic warfare conducted against indigenous people of the Colorado River basin was equally devastating In less than twenty five years after first encountering Anglos the Hualapais had lost more than half their population and nearly all their land and found themselves consigned to a reservation This book focuses on the historical construction of the Hualapai Nation in the face of modern American colonialism Drawing on archival research interviews and participant observation Jeffrey Shepherd describes how thirteen bands of extended families known as The Pai confronted American colonialism and in the process recast themselves as a modern Indigenous nation Shepherd shows that Hualapai nation building was a complex process shaped by band identities competing visions of the past creative reactions to modernity and resistance to state power He analyzes how the Hualapais transformed an externally imposed tribal identity through nationalist discourses of protecting aboriginal territory and he examines how that discourse strengthened the Hualapais claim to land and water while simultaneously reifying a politicized version of their own history Along the way he sheds new light on familiar topics Indian white conflict the creation of tribal government wage labor federal policy and Native activism by applying theories of race space historical memory and decolonization Drawing on recent work in American Indian history and Native American studies Shepherd shows how the Hualapai have strived to reclaim a distinct identity and culture in the face of ongoing colonialism We Are an Indian Nation is grounded in Hualapai voices and agendas while simultaneously situating their history in the larger tapestry of Native peoples confrontations with colonialism and modernity Becoming Creole Melissa A. Johnson, 2018-11-01 Becoming Creole explores how people become who they are through their relationships with the natural world and it shows how those relationships are also always embedded in processes of racialization that create blackness brownness and whiteness Taking the reader into the lived experience of Afro Caribbean people who call the watery lowlands of Belize home Melissa A Johnson traces Belizean Creole peoples relationships with the plants animals water and soils around them and analyzes how these relationships intersect with transnational racial assemblages She provides a sustained analysis of how processes of racialization are always present in the entanglements between people and the non human worlds in which they live
