Race Class And The Apartheid State:

Race, Class & the Apartheid State Harold Wolpe, 1990 Predicaments of Knowledge Suren Pillay, 2024-09

Predicaments of Knowledge explores the difficult questions South African universities face after apartheid. Is there a difference between Africanising a university and decolonising a university? What about differences between deracialising and decolonising the curricula taught at universities across disciplines? Through a range of reflections on race, language, colonial, postcolonial and decolonial knowledge projects from Africa and Latin America, this book explores the pitfalls and possibilities that face a post-apartheid generation inventing the future of knowledge. The distinctions between Africanisation, decolonisation and deracialisation are often conflated in the political demands put to universities. Suren Pillay emphasises all three as important but distinct imperatives. If an intervention is undertaken with the aim of decolonising the university while actually addressing deracialisation, it can undermine the effort to decolonise. Similarly, if an initiative to Africanise the university does not address decolonisation, both processes can be undermined. Drawing on more than two and a half decades of the author's participation in these debates, these essays aim to intervene in and elucidate questions and predicaments rather than offering blueprints. They are dialogical in spirit, even when polemical in tone. In conversation with existing continental African and Latin American experiences, they offer incisive reflections on current South African debates.

The essays reveal how historians of gender are crossing disciplinary, methodological and national boundaries to explore new opportunities for viewing gender as a category of historical analysis. Essays present epistemological and theoretical debates central in gender history over the past two decades. Contributions within this volume to the work on gender history are approached from a wide range of disciplinary locations and approaches. The volume demonstrates that recent approaches to gender history suggest surprising crossovers and even the discovery of common grounds.

United States Relations with South Africa Y. G.-M. Lulat, 2008 Relations between the United States and South Africa or the parts of the world these nations now occupy go nearly as far back as the very beginning of their inception as permanent European colonial intrusions This book is a critical overview of these relations from the late seventeenth century to the present Unprecedented in its scope and supported by substantive and detailed notes together with an extensive bibliography chronology glossary and appendices the book distinguishes itself from extant works in a number of other ways Set against the backdrop of a wider interdisciplinary exploration of both ideational and structural issues of historical context it not only gives attention to the importance of contributions from nonofficial actors in shaping official relations but also considers the impact of the geo political location of South Africa within southern Africa where the presence of other nations particularly Angola Mozambique Namibia and Zimbabwe looms large Methodologically written from the perspectives of both traditional narrative history and Khaldunian interpretive historical analysis the book consequently sits at the interdisciplinary interstice of political economy and sociology where the aim is to advance our understanding of the Braudelian interconnectedness of world history as an important diachronic determinant of the diplomacy of foreign relations Written for both scholars and policy analysts this book's examination of the agency of the marginalized should also be of interest to activists and the reading public

Shadow of Liberation Vishnu Padayachee, Robert Van Niekerk, 2019-10-01 Shadow of Liberation explores the intricate twists turns contestations and compromises of ANC economic and social policymaking with a focus on the transition era of the 1990 s and the early years of democracy With the damning revelations by the Zondo Commission of Inquiry into State Capture on the massive corruption of the South African body politic the timing of this book could not be more relevant South Africans need to confront the economic and social policy choices that the liberation movement made and to see how these decisions may have facilitated the conditions for corruption to emerge and flourish Answers are needed Padayachee and van Niekerk focus their attention on the primary question of how and why the ANC given its historical anti inequality re distributive stance come in the 1990s to such a dramatic turn around and move towards an essentially market dominated approach Were they pushed or did they go willingly What role if any did Western governments and international financial institutions play And what of the role of the late apartheid state and South African business Did leaders and comrades sell out the ANC s emancipatory policy vision Shadow of Liberation tries to provide answers to these questions drawing on the best available primary archival evidence as well as extensive interviews with key protagonists across the political non government and business spectrum The authors argue that the ANC s emancipatory policy agenda was broadly to establish a social democratic welfare state upholding rights of social citizenship However its economic policy framework to realise this emancipatory mission was either non existent or egregiously misguided

Katz, Yeheskel Hasenfeld, 2002-06-28 Mobilizing for Peace brings together the work of international experts to provide an in depth study of thirty three peace conflict organizations in Northern Ireland South Africa and Israel Palestine The contributors show how the sociopolitical and cultural context of the conflict in each region has shaped the type of resolution organizations that have emerged and their conception of the conflict and its resolution By promoting more humane images of the contestants and by offering alternative peaceful approaches to resolve the conflict the organizations have successfully galvanized previously weak or non existent pro peace political forces to become important players in the political struggle for peace

Anti-Impunity and the Human Rights

Agenda Karen Engle,Zinaida Miller,D. M. Davis,2016-12-15 In the twenty first century fighting impunity has become both the rallying cry and a metric of progress for human rights The new emphasis on criminal prosecution represents a fundamental change in the positions and priorities of students and practitioners of human rights and transitional justice it has become almost unquestionable common sense that criminal punishment is a legal political and pragmatic imperative for addressing human rights violations This book challenges that common sense It does so by documenting and critically analyzing the trend toward an anti impunity norm in a variety of institutional and geographical contexts with an eye toward the interaction between practices at the global and local levels Together the chapters demonstrate how this laser focus on anti impunity has created blind spots in practice and in scholarship that result in a constricted response to human rights violations a narrowed conception of justice and an impoverished approach to peace

A Theory of Universal Democracy

L. Ali Khan,2021-10-18 Democracy is often associated with Western liberal values such as free markets individual rights and secularism Some scholars assert that liberal democracy is the end of history Disputing such claims this work presents the concept of Universal Democracy to think beyond the values of Western democracy A Theory of Universal Democracy empowers cultures and communities across the world to custom design democracy in consonance with their traditional values For example the book makes concrete proposals for Muslim countries to democratize their constitutions without accepting Western values and without violating the principles of Islamic law More importantly Universal Democracy further develops the idea of Free State which the author first presented in his previous book The Extinction of Nation States The proposed fusion of Universal Democracy and Free State is designed to revolutionize the classical theory of government and to offer a new paradigm that accommodates both universality and uniqueness

History from South Africa

Joshua Brown,1991 More starkly than any other contemporary social conflict the crisis in South Africa highlights the complexities and conflicts in race gender class and nation These original articles most of which were written by South African authors are from a special issue of the Radical History Review published in Spring 1990 that mapped the development of interpretations of the South African past that depart radically from the official history The articles range from the politics of black movements in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries to studies of film television and theater as reflections of modern social conflict History from South Africa is presented in two main sections discussions of the historiography of South Africa from the viewpoint of those rewriting it with a radical outlook and investigations into popular history and popular culture the production and reception of history in the public realm In addition two photo essays dramatize this history visually maps and a chronology complete the presentation The book provides a fresh look at major issues in South African social and labor history and popular culture and focuses on the role of historians in creating and interacting with a popular movement of resistance and social change

Systemic Racism in South Africa Rupert Taylor, 2024-12-06 This book takes a critical macro level political sociological perspective to understanding South African politics and society Applying systemic racism theory to South Africa the author argues that South African society through its exclusionary social mechanisms has assumed a systemically racist form that deeply compromises questions of truth and justice Constitutive of and embedded in the structure of South African society racism has a reach and a durability that runs deep through the successive stages of segregationism apartheid and liberal democracy Showing the limits of the rule of law in a racist society the author offers a theoretically informed interpretation as to why the national liberation struggle has fallen short of its promise to deliver a better life for all and as to why truth and justice remain so deeply compromised in South Africa today The arguments advanced are supported by over thirty semi structured interviews conducted by the author with high profile South African politicians jurists and intellectuals as well as by using Truth and Reconciliation Commission hearing transcripts both public and top secret This thought provoking book is driven by the imperative to offer a compelling and sustained argument for taking a systemic racism approach to interpreting South Africa for scholars and students of sociology political science race and ethnic studies law and South African history

Fractured Militancy Marcel Paret, 2022-02-15 Drawing on extensive ethnographic fieldwork and interviews with activists Fractured Militancy tells the story of postapartheid South Africa from the perspective of Johannesburg's impoverished urban Black neighborhoods Nearly three decades after South Africa's transition from apartheid to democracy widespread protests and xenophobic attacks suggest that not all is well in the once celebrated rainbow nation Marcel Paret traces rising protests back to the process of democratization and racial inclusion This process dangled the possibility of change but preserved racial inequality and economic insecurity prompting residents to use militant protests to express their deep sense of betrayal and to demand recognition and community development Underscoring remarkable parallels to movements such as Black Lives Matter in the United States this account attests to an ongoing struggle for Black liberation in the wake of formal racial inclusion Rather than unified resistance however class struggles within the process of racial inclusion produced a fractured militancy Revealing the complicated truth behind the celebrated success of South African democratization Paret uncovers a society divided by wealth urban geography nationality employment and political views Fractured Militancy warns of the threat that capitalism and elite class struggles present to social movements and racial justice everywhere Encyclopedia of Government and Politics Mary Hawkesworth, Maurice Kogan, 2013-11-07 This is a brand new edition of the critically acclaimed Encyclopedia of Government and Politics which has been fully revised and updated to provide a systematic account of politics and political studies at the beginning of the new millennium Providing a penetrating analysis of government and politics at a global regional and nation state level the Encyclopedia assesses both traditional and contemporary approaches and projects the paths of future research The articles provide a degree of critical analysis far beyond a simple descriptive outline of the subject Internationally respected contributors have been carefully selected to present contending approaches to related topics both to clarify the political implications of the various methodologies and to enrich the portrayal of political life With its expanded revised and updated coverage Encyclopedia of Government and Politics is more than ever an indispensable tool for students teachers professional analysts and policy makers Encyclopedia of Government and Politics M. challenge of dismantling colonial schooling and how entangled power relations of the past have lingered in post apartheid South Africa It examines the on the ground history of colonialism from the vantage point of a small town in the Karoo region showing how patterns of possession and dispossession have played out in the municipality and schools Using the strong political and ontological critique of decoloniality theories the book demonstrates the ways in which government interventions over many years have allowed colonial relations and the construction of racialised differences to linger in new forms including unequal access to schooling Written in an accessible style the book considers how the dream of decolonial schooling might be realised from the vantage point of research on the margins This Karoo region also offers an interesting case study as the site where the world s largest radio telescope was recently located and highlights the contrasting logics of international big science and local development needs This book will be of interest to academics and scholars in the education field as well as to social geographers sociologists human geographers historians and policy makers Chapters 1 and 10 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
