Racial and Ethnic Identity in School Practices ROSA HERNANDEZ SHEETS, 1999-04 Presents work of scholars and practitioners who are exploring the interconnections of racial and ethnic identity to human development for the purpose of promoting successful pedagogical practices and services Encyclopedia of Education and Human Development Stephen J. Farenga, Daniel Ness, 2015-07-17 This comprehensive and exhaustive reference work on the subject of education from the primary grades through higher education combines educational theory with practice making it a unique contribution to the educational reference market Issues related to human development and learning are examined by individuals whose specializations are in diverse areas including education psychology sociology philosophy law and medicine The book focuses on important themes in education and human development Authors consider each entry from the perspective of its social and political conditions as well as historical underpinnings. The book also explores the people whose contributions have played a seminal role in the shaping of educational ideas institutions and organizations and includes entries on these institutions and organizations This work integrates numerous theoretical frameworks with field based applications from many areas in educational research Ethnicity, Race, and Nationality in Education N. Ken Shimahara, Ivan Z. Holowinsky, Saundra Tomlinson-Clarke, 2001-07-01 This volume explores contemporary issues of ethnic cultural and national identities and their influence on the social construction of identity These issues are analyzed from the perspective of seven nations China Israel Japan South Africa Ukraine Wales and the United States While different these perspectives are not mutually exclusive lenses through which to review the discourse between ethnic and educational dynamics The chapters in this book illustrate how these seven perspectives differ as well as overlap Part I explores ethnicity and race as important variables in explaining minority students academic performance and schooling in the United States and China Part II focuses on ethnic and racial identity issues in Israel Japan and South Africa Part III addresses ethnic and racial identity as it affects racial integration at different levels of education in post apartheid South Africa and the effects on schooling of a rapidly changing ethnic map in the United States Part IV focuses on issues of language and national identity in three countries Ukraine and Wales where a national language is central to nation building and China where 61 languages are in use and bilingual education is essential in enhancing national literacy and communication The questions this book addresses are highly significant in today s global economy and culture Scholars and professionals in the fields of comparative international and multicultural education and educational policy will find the volume particularly pertinent Studying Diversity in Teacher Education Arnetha F. Ball, Cynthia A. Tyson, 2011-01-16 Studying Diversity in Teacher Education is a collaborative effort by experts seeking to elucidate one of the most important issues facing education today First the volume examines historically persistent yet unresolved issues in teacher education and presents research that is currently being done to address these issues Second it centers on research on diverse populations bringing together both research on diversity and research on diversity in teacher education The contributors present frameworks perspectives and paradigms that have implications for reframing research on complex issues that are often ignored or treated too simplistically in teacher education literature Concluding the volume with an agenda for future research and a guide for preparing teachers for diversity education in a global context the contributors provide a solid foundation for all educators Studying Diversity in Teacher Education is a vital resource for all those interested in diversity and education research Adolescence Celina Chatman Nelson, Stephen C. Peck, Oksana Malanchuk, Jacquelynne S. Eccles, 2025-09-04 Explores racial ethnic identity development as a life long process of negotiating self context and others perceptions and behaviors from early adolescence to adulthood Guided by early foundational and recent compelling theories on race ethnicity and identity development across the lifespan Celina Chatman Nelson Stephen C Peck Oksana Malanchuk and Jacquelynne S Eccles provide a detailed analysis of their collected research on the Maryland Adolescent Development in Context Study MADICS to demonstrate the diversity of racial ethnic identity profiles and how they change over time MADICS began with nearly 1500 7th graders and their families in the early 1990s following many of them into their early 30s at the turn of the millennium Using mixed method research involving case studies and interview data this book demonstrates racial ethnic identity as multidimensional contextualized and idiosyncratic within a bidirectional iterative and nuanced process Through the presentation of their research findings on Prince George's County youth the authors encourage families schools and communities to have an open dialogue about race ethnicity to promote active reflection not only among developing youth but also within the world we live in today Working with Multiracial Students Kendra R. Wallace, 2006-09-01 Working with Mixed Heritage Students offers a collection of writings that bridges the social science and educational literature related to mixed heritage identity development and schooling in diverse contexts As such it is the first book of its kind to provide a direct focus on multiracial ethnic identity and formal education in the United States based on the scholarship of educational researchers The two common threads linking the chapters are the flexible yet situated nature of ethnic and racial identities among mixed heritage students and the importance of theorizing social contexts when interpreting and representing identity community and belonging In addition to exploring general themes of identity development Working with Mixed Heritage Students addresses theoretical and methodological issues in conducting research on topics related to mixed heritage students as well as implications for teacher preparation and educational practice Ultimately the authors brought together in this volume share a focus on recently mixed heritage students of first or second or third generation multiracial and multiethnic descent This diversity of perspectives on such a complex topic creates a tension within the book one that naturally emerges through interdisciplinary collaboration But it is hoped that this tension is just one of many that will lead to further reflection dialogue and action by researchers and educators working with like populations Multicultural Psychology Jennifer Teramoto Pedrotti, Denise A. Isom, 2020-07-30 Combining theory and history with an active approach rooted in self reflection Multicultural Psychology applies a framework of self awareness and social justice to foundational and current topics across Multicultural Psychology studies today Multicultural Psychology focuses on identity and its social context to help students view culture not just as a minority issue but a way of understanding all human experiences Multicultural Psychology will help students apply concepts to their own lives at point of learning to assess their own awareness and progress and to consider their own role and ability to engage in social change With this balanced approach Multicultural Psychology helps students entering the course with varied levels of cultural and diversity awareness to understand their individual and social cultural contexts to gain awareness of their interactions with others and to understand the intersections that occur with other cultures across their lives and careers Perspectives on the Knowledge Problem in New Zealand Education Megan Lourie, Graham McPhail, 2021-08-06 This book offers new ideas for thinking about how more equitable outcomes might be achieved in New Zealand so that all students are well equipped to live and work in contemporary society It addresses a social justice concern about access to the unique affordances of subject knowledge which comprises two forms of knowledge propositional knowledge that and applied knowledge know how to The book provides perspectives on curriculum design by grounding arguments in a theory of knowledge It describes the different knowledge forms of the theory and argues that understanding these differences is significant for curriculum design and enactment It explains why the current imbalance between knowledge forms is a problem and offers suggestions for change Understanding about knowledge itself enables more just and equitable outcomes for all students This book illustrates how different knowledge types and forms can be used together productively to help students develop adaptive expertise for the 21st century making it a valuable contribution to the field of education Handbook of Research on Schools, Schooling and Human Development Judith L. Meece, Jacquelynne S. Eccles, 2010-06-10 Children spend more time in school than in any social institution outside the home And schools probably exert more influence on children's development and life chances than any environment beyond the home and neighbourhood The purpose of this book is to document some important ways schools influence children's development and to describe various models and methods for studying schooling effects Key features include Comprehensive Coverage this is the first book to provide a comprehensive review of what is known about schools as a context for human development Topical coverage ranges from theoretical foundations to investigative methodologies and from classroom level influences such as teacher student relations to broader influences such as school organization and educational policies Cross Disciplinary this volume brings together the divergent perspectives methods and findings of scholars from a variety of disciplines among them educational psychology developmental psychology school psychology social psychology psychiatry sociology and educational policy Chapter Structure to ensure continuity chapter authors describe 1 how schooling influences are conceptualized 2 identify their theoretical and methodological approaches 3 discuss the strengths and weaknesses of existing research and 4 highlight implications for future research practice and

Dismantling Educational Inequality Pedro R. Portes, 2005 This long awaited solution oriented book helps readers understand how inequality is organized in our public educational system A four component developmental model provides a policy oriented framework that takes into account how children are socialized in and out of schools Given an educational system that produces unequal opportunities for student learning closing the gap requires thinking out of a box and the current conglomeration of social and economic policies A multi level strategy that aims for all to be educated at grade level through a coordinated national strategy is presented to eliminate educational inequality This is a must read controversial book that offers educators and policy makers a fundamental understanding of how the achievement gap can be eliminated at the population level Race and Colorism in Education Carla Monroe, 2016-12-08 As one of the first scholarly books to focus on colorism in education this volume considers how connections between race and color may influence school based experiences Chapter authors question how variations in skin tone as well as related features such as hair texture and eye color complicate perspectives on race and they demonstrate how colorism is a form of discrimination that affects educational stakeholders especially students families and professionals across P 16 institutions. This volume provides an outline of colorism's contemporary relevance within the United States and shares considerations for international dimensions that are linked to immigration refugee populations and Canada By situating colorism in an educational context this book offers suggestions for how educators may engage and confront this form of discrimination Biracial Women in Therapy Cathy Thompson, Angela R Gillem, 2019-07-18 Get a unique perspective on the female biracial experience Biracial Women in Therapy Between the Rock of Gender and the Hard Place of Race examines how physical appearance cultural knowledge and cultural stereotypes affect the experience of mixed race women in belonging to and being accepted within their cultures This unique book combines empirical research theoretical papers and first person narrative to address issues relevant to providing therapy to biracial women and girls helping therapists and counselors develop a treatment framework based on sociocultural factors Researchers practitioners and academics provide insight into the biracial reality taking multiple aspects of clients lives into account rather than looking for simple hierarchies of well being based on race Biracial Women in Therapy is a building block for mental health practitioners in the construction of theory and practice in working with biracial females The book examines how a biracial women's racial ethnic identity intersects with her gender and sexual identity to affect her sense of belonging and acceptance addressing issues of appearance social class disability power and guilt and dating and marriage Topics addressed in the book include the complexities of multiple minority status how ethnic differences affect biracial adolescents issues encountered by biracial women from a sociohistorical context biracial women s attitudes toward counseling stereotypes of marginalization and identity confusion a multicultural feminist approach to counseling and a first person narrative of one author's racial and sexual identity development Biracial Women in Therapy Between the Rock of Gender and the Hard Place of Race is a one of a kind resource for counselors therapists researchers and academics seeking insight into unique issues of mixed race women Intersections of Multiple Identities Miguel E. Gallardo, Brian W. McNeill,2011-02-11 Over the past two decades there has been an increase in the need to prepare and train mental health personnel in working with diverse populations In order to fully understand individuals from different cultures and ethnic backgrounds practitioners need to begin to examine conceptualize and treat individuals according to the multiple ways in which they identify themselves The purpose of this casebook is to bridge the gap between the current practice of counseling with the newest theories and research on working with diverse clientele Each chapter is written by leading experts in the field of multicultural counseling and includes a case presentation with a detailed analysis of each session a discussion of their theoretical orientation and how they have modified it to provide more culturally appropriate treatment and an explanation of how their own dimensions of diversity and worldviews enhance or potentially impede treatment. This text is a significant contribution to the evolving area of multicultural counseling and will be a valuable resource to mental health practitioners working with diverse populations. The Conscious Cultural Worker Khalilah Ali,2024-04-01. The Conscious Cultural Worker Counter Narratives of Black Women Artivists as Radical Educators uses narrative inquiry and Black feminist and womanist pedagogy to look at the teaching identities and lived experiences of Black women artivist educators in the current neoliberal anti woke moment. Their counter narratives are presented as vignettes to look at a certain time in the lives of Black women artists who use rap spoken word or visual art to turn public places like bars clubs galleries lounges and alleys into unofficial educational spaces that the author calls Communities of Reciprocity CoR. This book adds to what is known about situated learning teacher identity and the co-creation of communities of practice by focusing on the point of view of Black women as conscious culture workers. It does this by bringing attention to the fact that culture work is a kind of conversation between creatives as expert practitioners and audiences as spect actors who co-create liberatory educative texts. In this book Black women work the culture by challenging hegemonic discourse and hidden curricula wherever people who want to learn come together.
