Learning Critical Reflection Laura Béres, Jan Fook, 2019-08-13 Learning Critical Reflection documents the actual learning experiences of social work students and practitioners It explores how a more in depth understanding of the process of learning combined with an analysis of how to critically reflect will help improve the learning process The contributors are all professionals who have learnt in a formalised way how to critically reflect on their practice They speak in depth and with feeling about their experiences how downsides and upsides worked together to transform the way they understood themselves their professional identity and their practice Existing literature about critical reflection is reviewed identifying the details of learning and pulling no punches in recognising the difficulty and complexity of becoming transformed through this learning process The editors of this book also contribute their own reflections on learning how to teach critical reflection and include the findings of a research study conducted on students learning Edited by two experienced educators this book showcases the process of learning from the perspective of the learners in order that educators and students managers supervisors and frontline practitioners alike may make the most of opportunities to critically reflect in both educational and workplace settings It should be considered essential reading for social work students practitioners and educators

Practising Critical Reflection to Develop Emancipatory Change Christine Morley, 2016-04-08 Overwhelmingly critical practitioners working across a range of human service fields who are committed to emancipatory and progressive social change ideals report feeling powerless alienated from the means of change and hopeless about their capacities to make a difference in the lives of the individuals groups or communities with whom they work because of restrictive contexts that ultimately determine the nature and parameters of their work This ground breaking book addresses this dilemma by demonstrating how critical reflection as an educational tool enables practitioners to envision possibilities for change The legal system particularly in its response to sexual assault provides a perfect example of this type of context and this volume explores the work of sexual assault practitioners that are engaged in supporting victims survivors of sexual assault through the legal process By reshaping ideas that have previously been considered as predominantly theoretical and abstract Morley's work provides an innovative framework that enables social work and human services practitioners to find hope agency and practical strategies to work towards change despite operating in contexts that appear immutably oppressive

Researching Critical Reflection Jan Fook, Val Collington, Fiona Ross, Gillian Ruch, Linden West, 2015-10-05 Critical reflection helps professionals to learn directly from their practice experience so that they can improve their own work in an ongoing and flexible way something essential in today's complex and changing organisations It allows change to be managed in a way which enables individuals to preserve a sense of what is fundamentally important to them as professionals It is particularly important as it can also help make sense of some fundamental issues and so also has implications for how we live our lives However more systematic research on critical reflection is needed to help us understand what works best for professionals in different settings This timely work explores how critical reflection is researched evaluated and used as a research method itself with the aim of improving how it is taught and practised in a rigorous and transferable way Developing a more comprehensive and multi disciplinary view of the current state of critical reflection and the research directions which need to be taken the book is divided into four parts It Provides an overview of different perspectives on critical reflection and stimulates dialogue between them Establishes some common platforms from which to develop further research directions Identifies the major issues in evaluating critical reflection teaching and main methods for doing so Contributes to social science methodological innovations by exploring how methods based on critical reflection can be used for researching professional practice Contains contributions from academics
