Reflections National Gallery Diary 1987:

The Art of Reflection Marsha Meskimmon, 1996 Marsha Meskimmon examines a wide variety of women's self-portraiture from performance to body art in lively and accessible prose. She takes the cultural focus from the dominant male self-portraiture to the more marginalized gender, bringing women artists' perspectives to the forefront.

Poetics of the Iconotext Professor Liliane Louvel, 2013-05-28 Poetics of the Iconotext makes available for the first time in English the theories of the respected French text image specialist Professor Liliane Louvel. A consolidation of the most significant theoretical materials of Louvel's two acclaimed books L'Œil du Texte and Texte et image dans la littérature anglophone and Texte Image Images lire textes voir, this newly conceived work introduces English readers to the most current thinking in French text image theory and visual studies. Focusing on the full spectrum of text image relations from medieval illuminated manuscripts to digital books, Louvel begins by introducing key terms and situating her work in the context of significant debates in text image studies. Part II introduces Louvel's typology of pictorial saturation through which she establishes a continuum along which to measure the effect of the most figurative to the most literal images upon writerly and readerly textual spaces. Part III adopts a phenomenological approach towards the reading/viewing experience as expressed in conceptual categories that include the trace, focal range, synesthesia, and rhythm and speed. The result is a provocative interplay of the categorical and the subjective that invites readers to think at once more precisely and more inventively about texts, images, and the intersections between the two.

Adult Personality Development Lawrence S. Wrightsman, 1994-03-15 Why do we as adults have the personality characteristics we do? No one explanation is accepted by all; however, in this greatly expanded version of his earlier book Personality Development in Adulthood, Wrightsman helps us understand and organize the three broad theoretical approaches to explain psychological changes during the period from adolescence to the onset of late adulthood. Each of these approaches—early formation theories, stage theories, and the dialectical approach—are described and contrasted in order to help us more easily compare our experiences with those of others. Case histories, relevant current events, and boxed inserts are used throughout the book to illustrate important concepts in a thought-provoking, lively manner. Written in a compelling, non-technical style, the book is accessible to students and interested readers from all disciplines, especially psychology, clinical and developmental psychology, aging, family studies, sociology, gender studies, and nursing.

David Wilkie Nicholas Tromans, 2002 Studies in Southeast Asian Art Nora A. Taylor, 2018-08-06 This wide-ranging collection of essays examines the arts of Southeast Asia in context. Contributors study the creation, use, and local significance of works of art, illuminating the many complex links between an object's aesthetic qualities and its origins in a community.

Powell, 2008 Examining portraits of black people over the past two centuries Cutting a Figure argues that these images should be viewed as a distinct category of portraiture that differs significantly from depictions of people with other racial and ethnic backgrounds The difference Richard Powell contends lies in the social capital that stems directly from the black subject s power to subvert dominant racist representations by evincing such traits as self composure self adornment and self imagining Powell forcefully supports this argument with evidence drawn from a survey of nineteenth century portraits in depth case studies of the postwar fashion model Donyale Luna and the contemporary portraitist Barkley L Hendricks and insightful analyses of images created since the late 1970s Along the way he discusses major artists such as Fr d ric Bazille John Singer Sargent James Van Der Zee and David Hammons alongside such overlooked producers of black visual culture as the Tonka and Nike corporations Combining previously unpublished images with scrupulous archival research Cutting a Figure illuminates the ideological nature of the genre and the centrality of race and cultural identity in understanding modern and contemporary portraiture The Architects' Journal , 1987 Healing with Death Imagery Anees Ahmad Sheikh, Katharina Sheikh, 2018-10-26 Sages of various traditions and ages have reiterated that we must incorporate the inevitability of death into the fabric of life to experience life s breadth and beauty Imagery is an important tool in dealing with death and this book is devoted to exploring many facets of this fascinating issue It begins with an overview of ancient and modern approaches to the use of death imagery for therapeutic purposes including a discussion of its possible benefits Chapter 2 specifically exploring Stephen Levine s contributions in this area shows that only by opening up to the reality of death can one make living a conscious process of growth A number of excellent imagery based experiential exercises are discussed in detail Chapter 3 demonstrates the significance of confronting death through mental and artistic images it discusses six examples of death related religious and existential works of art Recently there has been an upsurge of interest in near death experiences and their salutary effects on attitudes beliefs and values Of particular interest here are increases in spirituality concern for others an appreciation of life and an enhanced sense of meaning and purpose in life Chapter 4 presents a detailed critical overview of this field of investigation with special emphasis on the transformatory after effects of near death experiences Of all the major religions in the world Buddhism is at the forefront of exploring the topic of death and dying and developing specific meditative exercises for confronting death Chapter 5 presents an in depth treatment of death imagery in Buddhist thought Exploring the use of hypnosis for death rehearsal Chapter 6 continues the theme that confrontation with death can lead to healthful consequences A variation of this technique hypnotic suicidal rehearsal is also discussed it seems to be effective for use with clients who are contemplating suicide Case examples clarify the details of the process Over the years several clinicians have proposed the use of imagery for reconstructing death related events and thereby facilitating the grieving process for individuals who are experiencing symptoms rooted in unfinished grieving Chapter 7 gives an exhaustive account of the use of imagery for unresolved grieving including a number of case histories Researchers have perhaps devoted more time and energy to the investigation of death anxiety than any other death related topic Chapter 8 reviews the literature on death anxiety and death imagery and demonstrates a core connection between the two phenomena The authors claim that death imagery has the potential not only to ameliorate death anxiety but also to lead to a more authentic existence In Chapter 9 the authors explain how death imagery can be used constructively in death education they present several practical suggestions and specific guided imagery exercises The volume closes with a presentation of a detailed death imagery experiential exercise aimed at encountering death to enhance our appreciation of life The reader will notice this thread running steadily throughout the book This comprehensive book devoted to the role of death imagery in health and growth perhaps the first of its kind will be helpful in changing the rather sinister view of death prevalent in our culture to a deeper appreciation for its enhancing potential

Women and Portraits in Early Modern

Europe Andrea Pearson, 2016-12-05 As one of the first books to treat portraits of early modern women as a discrete subject this volume considers the possibilities and limits of agency and identity for women in history and with particular attention to gender as categories of analysis for women's images Its nine original essays on Italy the Low Countries Germany France and England deepen the usefulness of these analytical tools for portraiture Among the book's broad contributions it dispels false assumptions about agency's possibilities and limits showing how agency can be located outside of conventional understanding and conversely how it can be stretched too far It demonstrates that agency is compatible with relational gender analysis especially when alternative agencies such as spectatorship are taken into account It also makes evident the importance of aesthetics for the study of identity and agency The individual essays reveal among other things how portraits broadened the traditional parameters of portraiture explored transvestism and same sex eroticism appropriated aspects of male portraiture to claim those values for their sitters and as sites for gender negotiation resistance and debate invoked considerable relational anxiety Richly layered in method the book offers an array of provocative insights into its subject

The Georgian London Town House Kate Retford, Susanna Avery-Quash, 2019-03-07 For every great country house of the Georgian period there was usually also a town house Chatsworth for example the home of the Devonshires has officially been recognised as one of the country's favourite national treasures but most of its visitors know little of Devonshire House which the family once owned in the capital In part this is because town houses were often leased rather than being passed down through generations as country estates were But most crucially many London town houses including Devonshire House no longer exist having been demolished in the early twentieth century This book seeks to place centre stage the hugely important yet hitherto overlooked town houses of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries exploring the prime position they once occupied in the lives of families and the nation as a whole It explores the owners how they furnished and used these properties and how their houses were judged by the various types of visitor who gained access
