Reflections Along A Political Journey:

Psychoanalytic Reflections on Politics Eszter Salgó, 2013-11-07 Psychoanalytic Reflections on Politics Fatherlands in mothers hands is a playful exploration of how people's desires, fantasies and emotions shape political events and social phenomena. It highlights the mythical sources of today's political projects, the power of political imagination and the function of symbolism in political thought. Eszter Salgó argues that the driving force for the formation of political communities is fantasy, illusions in a Winnicottian sense, phantasies in a Lacanian sense, phantoms as described by Nicolas Abraham and Maria Torok, and dreams as interpreted by Sándor Ferenczi. She introduces the metaphor of the fantastic family as a symbolic representation of political communities both to reflect on people's deeply felt desire to find in public life the resolution, love and wholeness of early childhood and to unveil the political elite's readiness to don the mask of the ideal parent. The book is divided into two parts. The first part of the book explores the theories of Donald Winnicott and Jacques Lacan, the matrimony on the stage of politics between the good enough mother and the Symbolic Father, which inaugurates the story of democracy's fantastic family. The second part presents the fantastic families of selected countries such as Hungary, Italy and the world community to explain the proliferation of cosmogony projects and to document the failure of the political elites to offer a satisfactory performance of their maternal and paternal functions. Psychoanalytic Reflections on Politics Fatherlands in mothers hands presents a new way of considering the art of politics based on the understanding that people perceive reality through imagination and unconscious fantasy. It will be of interest to psychoanalysts and academics from across the disciplines of politics, psychology, anthropology, sociology, philosophy, literature and art. Reflections on Political Theory

N. Wood, 2001-12-18 In this thought provoking study Neal Wood challenges the conception of political theory as a lofty discipline remote from the world of real politics. Drawing on the examples of thinkers from Plato to those of the nineteenth century, he attempts to define political theory by examining the nature of the state and politics by identifying the major characteristics that their theories share and by analyzing the conditions that have favoured their creation. Wood critically explores the two principle approaches to studying the work of past theorists, the philosophical and historical, and evaluates the relevance of Marxism. The various theories are not treated as blueprints but collectively as a voice of reason from the past which can inspire and guide present and future theorizing. Political Journeys Fred Halliday, 2012-08-14 One of the great contrarians of international relations scholarship, Fred Halliday was able to combine his understanding of the broad sweep of modern history with a profound knowledge of modern revolutions, the Middle East and national movements. This collection of Halliday's political essays, written for the online journal openDemocracy between 2004 and 2009, is proof of a subtle worldview that continues to generate questions: What is the relation between religion, nationalism and progress? Is a new international order possible? When is intervention a force for progress? From the big headline topics such as the Iraq War to the unexpected comparisons of Tibet and Palestine or Afghanistan and the Falklands, Halliday's writings provide a perennially surprising and enlightened guide to the major issues of international politics The Works of the Right Honorable Edmund Burke ...: Political miscellanies. Reflections on the revolution in France. Phenomenological Reflections on Violence James Dodd, 2017-04-21 This book's six essays are guided by a skeptical philosophical attitude about the meaning of violence that refuses to conform to the exigencies of essence and the stable patterns of lived experience They are readings as much as they are reflections attempts at interpretation as much as they are attempts to push concepts of violence to their limits They draw upon a range of different authors and historical moments but without any attempt to reduce them into a series of examples elucidating a comprehensive theory The aim is to follow a path of distinctively episodic and provisional modes of thinking and reflection that offers a potential glimpse at how violence can be understood

Long Journey to the Border Vincent O'Sullivan, 2011 John Mulgan was part of a gifted yet uneasy group of young New Zealanders who made their mark between the wars men such as Ian Milner James Bertram Dan Davin and Geoffrey Cox An Oxford graduate he worked as a publisher at Oxford University Press before leaving for the front in World War Two Fascinated but sometimes troubled by his home country Mulgan saw New Zealand as a place of challenge and austere demands a land that produced men more practical than cultivated In his famous novel Man Alone he depicted it as a tough often heartless country characterised by the solitary figure who has come to symbolise the male New Zealand psyche He wrote more warmly of the place and the people in the poignant memoir Report on Experience published after his death Mulgan was a glamorous figure handsome gifted and good at anything he attempted His last years were spent fighting in the Allied cause in Egypt and Greece where he distinguished himself But there were darker threads too which culminated in his decision to take his own life in Cairo just after the end of the war and aged only 33 In this penetrating biography Vincent O Sullivan draws on a large collection of personal papers official records and contemporary memoirs to paint a vivid portrait of a man who came to represent so much about his country and his time Gadamer and Ricoeur

Francis J. Mootz III, George H. Taylor, 2011-04-14 Hans Georg Gadamer and Paul Ricoeur were two of the most important hermeneutical philosophers of the twentieth century Gadamer single handedly revived hermeneutics as a philosophical field with his many essays and his masterpiece Truth and Method Ricoeur famously mediated the Gadamer Habermas debate and advanced his own hermeneutical philosophy through a number of books addressing social theory religion psychoanalysis and political philosophy This book brings Gadamer and Ricoeur into a hermeneutical conversation with each other through some of their most important commentators Twelve leading scholars deliver contemporary assessments of the history and promise of hermeneutical philosophy providing focused discussion on the work of these two key hermeneutical thinkers The book shows how the horizons of their thought at once support and question each other and how in many ways the work of these two pioneering philosophers defines the issues and agendas for the new century Our Politics Douglas Kane, 2019-05-13

Douglas Kane an American politician and economist offers readers a straightforward personal account of what it is like to run for and hold public office the demands conflicts temptations and rewards created by political economic and social forces Throughout the book Kane references Illinois and Wisconsin politics The campaigns of his wife Kathleen Vinehout and her years in the Wisconsin senate show that the centralization of political power the structure of campaign organizations and the policy decisions that Kane experienced as an Illinois legislator are not unique to any one state In Our Politics Kane reflects on his nearly fifty years of active engagement in state and local politics In a series of essays he seeks to understand the forces motivations incentives and technologies that shape our politics and produce the consequences that we live with every day He describes how candidates and officeholders deal with the fundamental contradictions inherent in the democratic process and how and why the political power structure has changed He also explores the personal experience of being a legislator from deciding how to vote to building relationships with party leaders fellow legislators the governor and the voters in the district Kane concludes by considering the possibility of change how it might happen and the steps that candidates political parties activists and others might take to better our politics with results more to our liking While many journalists record politics from the outside and numerous political memoirs focus on personalities and what happened to whom and when this book gives an insider's view of politics at the level of state government This book is not about those politicians but about our politics which together we have created and together we must deal with Catalogue of Books Exclusive of Prose Fiction in the Central Lending Library Leeds (England).
