Reflections On The Economic Transition:

Thoughts on Economic Development in China Ma Ying, Hans-Michael Trautwein, 2013-03-05 This book is about mutual influences of thinking about economic development in China and in the West from the 18th century until the present. Its chapters are contributed by development economists and historians of thought from China and other parts of the world. The book describes important stages in the evolution, cross fertilization and contextual modification of ideas about economic order, development and institutional change. It illustrates how Western concepts and theories have been adopted and adapted to Chinese conditions in different waves of modernization from the late 19th century until the present and that this was and is no one way traffic. The book examines to what extent pre-classical thinking in the West, in particular French Physiocracy in the mid 18th century, was influenced by China as an ideal and a source of ideas at a time when China was the largest and most advanced economy in the world. It discusses to what extent different approaches of modern Western style economics, in particular in the fields of development economics and institutional economics, can be used to understand the rapid transitions and developments of the Chinese economy in recent decades and to what extent they need to be modified in the light of new experiences and insights. Against this background, several contributions to the volume provide assessments of the current state of economic science and teaching in China, in particular with regard to Chinese views on Western economics. The book should be of interest to those who are interested in the economic history of China.

Thoughts of Francois Perroux and Raul Prebisch on Development Strategy of Third World Countries G. Krishnan-Kutty, 1999 The Contributions of Francois Perroux (1903-1987) The French Economist and Those of Raul Prebisch (1904-1986) The Latin American Economist and Administrator are brought to the focus of attention. In this monograph, the theories of F. Perroux are proved to be of very great use in probing into the various issues of development in the Third World countries. This is more so with regard to the explanation of colonialism in India under British rule and the domination exercised upon this ancient land by European countries. Raul Prebisch had explained the situation in Latin American countries as a whole. His contributions are of limited application only, but the ideas of F. Perroux are of a very original nature in modern economics and are of great significance in interpreting the various aspects of development in Asia and Africa. Much more research work must be done in the same direction in the years to come and it will be

Primary Commodities and Economic Development

Stephan Pfaffenzeller, 2016-08-12 Our post industrialised global economy has achieved spectacular success and pushed back poverty to an extent previously thought impossible This success is ultimately based on the continued supply of both renewable and non renewable resources Will this supply of primary commodities remain sufficient to support global economic growth Why are the gains for countries specialising on commodity production often so limited Can commodity dependent countries diversify into other economic activities Primary Commodities and Economic Development addresses the changing position of primary commodities in the world economy and investigates their importance for commodity exporting under developed countries The book commences with a review of the theoretical foundations for inter dependence between commodity specialisation and economic underdevelopment Having related the role of commodity exports and the commodity terms of trade to growth models relevant to developing economies the discussion shifts to an in depth review of the statistical properties of the commodity terms of trade The review of commodity price trends at the global level is then rounded off with a series of country case studies showing the concrete threats and opportunities surrounding commodity specialization This book will be of essential reading for those with an interest in development economics and international economics as well as for scholars of natural resource and agricultural economics

Economic Transition and Political Legitimacy in Post-Mao China

Feng Chen, Feng Ch?en, 1995-01-01 Tracing the role of ideas in Chinese economic reform from 1978 to the present this book explores the conversion of China's policymakers to capitalist economic thinking Chen argues that the reform process has created a gap between the legitimacy of the leadership which remains rooted in Marxist Leninist ideology and the practice of reform which has abandoned such ideological constraints Through a systematic survey of party documents and resolutions official publications leaders speeches academic journals and newspapers Chen shows how Chinese policymakers reconceptualized

the ownership system and adjusted related policies Focusing on a number of economic policy issue areas such as state economy rural reform privatization and income distribution he analyzes in depth the implications of this gap for the current Chinese leadership and the future of China s political development Ideas in the History of Economic Development Estrella Trincado,Andrés Lazzarini,Denis Melnik,2019-08-05 This edited volume examines the relationship between economic ideas economic policies and development institutions analysing the cases of 11 peripheral countries in Europe Latin America and Asia across the nineteenth and twentieth centuries It sheds light on the obstacles that have prevented the sustained economic growth of these countries and examines the origins of national and regional approaches to development The chapters present a fascinating insight into the ideas and visions in the different locations with the overarching categories of economic nationalism and economic liberalism and how they have influenced development outcomes This book will be valuable reading for advanced students and researchers of development economics the history of economic thought and economic history African Development Perspectives: A Holistic Reflection T A Ngwana,2024-01-05 Africa remains a continent that is yet to achieve its full potentials despite an abundance of resources and a rich cultural pedigree There have been various attempts to dissect the impediments to the continent s progress in its march towards development and true independence Consequently this book moves away from mere identification of challenges to proffering solutions The ideas put forward about African development in this book draw from a multiplicity of backgrounds They are also offered through the prism of the lived experiences of contributors who are keen on engendering an African solution that weaves global dynamics into Africa s cultural context and did not shy away from identifying themselves as global citizens from Africa The compelling read is a critical appraisal of germane issues in Africa s quest for development which speaks truth to both the powerful and the powerless within and beyond Africa on why prioritising Africa s development is as pressing as the Global climate catastrophe Land Use: Reflection On Spatial Informatics Agriculture And Development Mrityunjay M. and local disparities The book analyses the changes that will result from further market domination under the Sub national Review but also the opportunities that will arise for local economic development agents particularly those with a concern for social justice It looks specifically at regional and sub regional strategy making partnership networking and building institutional capacity local labour market policy and policy towards cities An additional feature of the book is that several authors draw on international comparisons This book was published as a special issue of Local Economy
