Moving Image offers the first philosophical discussion on Plotinus philosophy and film. It discusses Plotinian concepts like the One in a cinematic context and relates Plotinus theory of time as a transitory intelligible movement of the soul to Bergson's and Deleuze's time image. Film is a unique medium for a rapprochement of our modern consciousness with the thought of Plotinus. The Neoplatonic vestige is particularly worth exploring in the context of the newly emerging Cinema of Contemplation. Plotinus search for the intelligible that can be grasped neither by sense perception nor by merely logical abstractions leads to a fluent way of seeing. Parallels that had so far never been discussed are made plausible. This book is a milestone in the philosophy of film. Running On Sand Linda Anne Atterton, 2016-04-29 When Grace's father dies she is left with an uncaring mother and a brother Chris who becomes the centre of her world of sea and sand on the windswept North Norfolk coast. Grace's mother remarries and her rich stepfather pays for Chris to go to boarding school. Knowing that his dream is to become a doctor Grace lets him go. The price she pays for her brother's dream is her own nightmare in the hands of her stepfather. She finds a way to escape by pretending she is somewhere safe by turning into something else. But how safe is the sea? How long can you hold your breath before you drown? When Grace in desperation turns to the sea for help what will the sea demand from her in return? This poignant story of love and loss pulls no punches. It carries us through sunshine and shadow to a terrible end that must become somehow a new beginning.

Monet, Narcissus, and Self-Reflection Steven Zalman Levine, 1994 Steven Z. Levine provides a new understanding of the life and work of Claude Monet and the myth of the modern artist. Levine analyzes the extensive critical reception of Monet and the artist's own prolific writings in the context of the story of Narcissus popular in late nineteenth century France. Through a careful blending of psychoanalytical theory and historical study Levine identifies narcissism and obsession as driving forces in Monet's art and demonstrates how we derive meaning from the accumulated verbal responses to an artist's work.
