

What is reform?

- Reform: making changes to something with the goal of improving it
- American society was both good and bad
- For those who were wealthy and well off, life was great (landowning men usually)
- For those who were poor and not well off, life was not so great (workers, women and the common man)

Reform In The Making:

Reform in the Making Ann Chih Lin, 2002-06-10 Is it time to give up on rehabilitating criminals Record numbers of Americans are going to prison and most of them will eventually return to society with a high chance of becoming repeat offenders But a decision to abandon rehabilitation programs now would be premature warns Ann Chih Lin who finds that little attention has been given to how these programs are actually implemented and why they tend to fail In Reform in the Making she not only supplies much needed information on the process of program implementation but she also considers its social context the daily realities faced by prison staff and inmates By offering an in depth look at common rehabilitation programs currently in operation education job training and drug treatment and examining how they are used or misused Lin offers a practical approach to understanding their high failure rate and how the situation could be improved Based on extensive observation and over 350 interviews with staff and prisoners in five medium security male prisons the book contrasts successfully implemented programs with subverted abandoned or neglected programs those which staff reject or which do not teach prisoners anything useful Lin explains that staff and prisoners have little patience with programs aimed at long range goals when they must face the ongoing immediate challenge of surviving prison life Finding incentives to make both sides participate fully in rehabilitation is among the book's many contributions to improving prison policy Services Trade Reform: Making Sense Of It Philippa Dee, 2013-09-13 With the Doha Round of multilateral trade negotiations moribund it is time to reconsider the future of trade negotiations as an impetus for reform Services trade is a leading edge behind the border issue so a services perspective offers critical insights into the future of trade negotiations more generally This book traces the author's thinking on how to make sense of services trade reform drawing on her analytical empirical and policy related work on services issues from both academic and government perspectives It covers policy reform policy forums and what it takes politically to achieve reform and offers critical new insights into the future of trade negotiations The book shows policy makers how to approach the economics and politics of services trade reform domestically consistent with relevant special features of services trade It shows analysts the full policy implications of those special features including what they mean and how services reform should be treated in the future in national and international forums In covering such broad territory the book draws together published material that previously has been scattered across place and time including modelling that establishes empirically the special features of services that are relevant Reforming Law Reform Michael Tilbury, Simon N.M. Young, Ludwig Ng, 2014-01-01 As a special administrative region of China Hong Kong has its own legal system rooted in the common law Reforms to this system take into account Hong Kong's unique conditions as an international city and draw widely on practices around the world Since 1980 recommendations from a Law Reform Commission chaired by the Secretary for Justice have resulted in comprehensive revisions in key areas of law ranging from commercial arbitration and interception of communications to divorce and copyright Recently however the government has been slow to act on the Commission's recommendations. Questions have also arisen about whether the Commission under-resourced, part-time and government-led can really meet the needs of an increasingly sophisticated society. Is law reform itself also in need of reform? This collection of essays by distinguished experts from around the world seeks answers to the question. The book explores the varied experience of law reform in Hong Kong and other common law jurisdictions and makes recommendations for strengthening the process of law reform both in Hong Kong and elsewhere.

Michael Tilbury is Kerry Holdings Professor in Private Law in the Faculty of Law, the University of Hong Kong. Simon N M Young is a professor in the Faculty of Law, the University of Hong Kong and was formerly Director of the Centre for Comparative and Public Law. Ludwig Ng is a partner in ONC Lawyers Hong Kong. This important book should be a wake-up call to lawmakers in Hong Kong and beyond on the urgent need for effective law reform. It is especially important for Hong Kong whose competitive advantage is being harmed by institutional paralysis and official lethargy. The editors' modest recommendations deserve urgent action by Hong Kong's governors to bring up to date its archaic and outmoded legislation. Lord Lester of Herne Hill QC. Law reform is essential, especially in these fast-changing times. The law reform agency plays an important role in this process. This work examines the experience of the agency in Hong Kong and elsewhere and discusses how its effectiveness can be enhanced. This valuable contribution deserves to be read.

The Hon Andrew Li, Chief Justice of Hong Kong, 1997-2010. This is probably the first collection in Hong Kong of writings on law reform examining clinically how law reform is and can be processed with reference to other law reform institutions in the pursuit of effectively meeting the often shifting needs of society and economy. Important chapters on reform of different areas of law are also included in this book. The editors and contributors are to be congratulated for masterminding such an admirable source of information and inspirational ideas.

Stephen Kai Yin Wong, Barrister, Secretary of the Law Reform Commission of Hong Kong. In this collection of essays, the learned editors, Tilbury, Young, and Ng have drawn together an outstanding group of authors representing many years of experience in law reform across the common law world. From the UK, Canada, Australia, and Hong Kong, the insights of the authors are both reflective and forward-looking, providing a rich resource towards reforming law reform.

Professor Rosalind Croucher, President, Australian Law Reform Commission. The Reform Bulletin, 1910. The Politics of Regulatory Reform. Stuart Shapiro, Debra Borie-Holtz, 2014-01-21. Regulation has become a front-page topic, recently often referenced by politicians in conjunction with the current state of the U.S. economy. Yet despite regulation's increased presence in current politics and media, The Politics of Regulatory Reform argues that the regulatory process and its influence on the economy is misunderstood by the general public as well as by many politicians. In this book, two experienced regulation scholars confront questions relevant to both academic scholars and those with a general interest in ascertaining the effects and importance of regulation. How does regulation impact the economy? What roles do politicians play in making regulatory decisions? Why do politicians enact laws that require regulations and then try to hamper agencies' abilities to issue those same regulations? The authors answer these questions and untangle the misperceptions behind regulation by using an area of regulatory policy that has been underutilized until now Rather than focusing on the federal government Shapiro and Borie Holtz have gathered a unique dataset on the regulatory process and output in the United States They use state specific data from twenty eight states as well as a series of case studies on regulatory reform to question widespread impressions and ideas about the regulatory process The result is an incisive and comprehensive study of the relationship between politics and regulation that also encompasses the effects of regulation and the reasons why regulatory reforms are enacted

State Reform and Development in the Middle East Amr Adly,2012-12-12 The economies of Turkey and Egypt remarkably similar until the early 1980s have since taken divergent paths Turkey has successfully implemented a policy of export led industrialisation whilst Egypt s manufacturing industry and exports have stagnated In this book Amr Adly uses extensive primary research to present detailed comparisons of Turkey s and Egypt s state administrative and private sector capacities and links between the two The conclusion the author draws is that the external contexts for both were so alike that this cannot account for their diverging paths Instead the author suggests a counterintuitive yet compelling explanation that a democratic polity is far more likely than an authoritarian one to engender a successful developmental state Emerging in the wake of the January revolution in Egypt when hopes for democratisation were raised this book provides a fresh perspective on the topical subject of state reform and development in the Middle East and will be of interest to students and scholar alike
