Inspiring Faith in Schools Marius Felderhof, 2016-05-23 Inspiring Faith in Schools addresses the privileging of secularism that appears to affect RE in countries influenced by modern western thought. The authors argue that a more engaging form of RE would emerge if religious life were to inhabit centre stage. Currently religious faith is made to hover in the wings awaiting the call to face the inquisitorial challenge of the modern day enquirer. The consequent relationship between pupil and the Divine as the purpose of study is then already intrinsically irreligious as indicated in the Book of Job by putting God in the dock whereas it is the pupil who should be cross examining his or her life. What are the ways of exciting and engaging the young so that they begin to entertain the possibility of religious life as a genuine option for themselves. Leading scholars in philosophy and theology from the UK, Australia, Canada and the USA come together to address these questions together with RE experts. Marius Felderhof writes an Afterword summing up the challenges faced by such a re-visioning of RE.

Encyclopedia of Educational Reform and Dissent Thomas C. Hunt, 2010-01-20 The history of American education is replete with educational reform and to a lesser extent educational dissent. Consider the present: you have various forms of privatization, school choice, the No Child Left Behind act, home schooling, value added, accountability, alternative teacher preparation programs, on line instruction etc. This range of activity is not exceptional. For instance, consider the past: progressive education, open education, the junior high school, the middle school, Life Adjustment education, career education, vocational education, the comprehensive high school, school to work, year round schooling, behavioral objectives, proficiency exams, high stakes testing, whole language, learning packages and self paced instruction, modular scheduling, site based management, all presented as the way to reform American schools at least in part. Then you have the reformers themselves such as John Dewey, George Counts, Herbert Kohl, John Holt, Charles Silberman, Admiral Hyman Rickover, James Bryant Conant, all the way back to Horace Mann himself. Dissenters and dissenting movements, while not as numerous and certainly not as well known in educational circles, count the various faith based schools and individuals such as Archbishop Hughes of New York. Clearly this is an area rich in ideas, rife with controversy and vital in its outcome for individuals and the nation as a whole. And yet strangely enough there exists no major encyclopedia bringing the varied strands together in one place as a ready reference for scholars, teachers, school administrators and students studying to enter the educational profession. This two volume work is intended to be that authoritative resource. Key themes and topics include: biographies of reformers and dissenters, theoretical and ideological perspectives, key programs and legislation, judicial verdicts impacting educational change in America, the politics and processes of educational reform and policy making, dissent and resistance to reform, technology's impact on educational reform. A Reader's Guide in the front matter groups entries around such themes to help readers find related entries more easily.
