Lorenzen, 1981 Religious Change and Cultural Domination, 1981 Religious Changes and Cultural Transformations in the Early Modern Western Sephardic Communities Yosef Kaplan, 2019-02-11 From the sixteenth century on hundreds of Portuguese New Christians began to flow to Venice and Livorno in Italy and to Amsterdam and Hamburg in northwest Europe In those cities and later in London Bordeaux and Bayonne as well Iberian conversos established their own Jewish communities openly adhering to Judaism Despite the features these communities shared with other confessional groups in exile what set them apart was very significant In contrast to other European confessional communities whose religious affiliation was uninterrupted the Western Sephardic Jews came to Judaism after a separation of generations from the religion of their ancestors In this edited volume several experts in the field detail the religious and cultural changes that occurred in the Early Modern Western Sephardic communities Highly recommended for all academic and Jewish libraries David B Levy Touro College NYC in Association of Jewish Libraries News and Reviews 1 2 2019 Cultural Domination Thomas M. Besch, Harold Kincaid, Tarun Menon, Raphael van Riel, 2024-12-10 Cultural domination has received attention inside and outside of academia but it remains under explored in recent philosophical debate To fill this gap this book brings together ten original research contributions that engage the theme from a variety of different perspectives They range from contributions to the philosophy of social science to advanced work in normative political philosophy The diversity of approaches reflects the intellectual richness of the theme Ideas of cultural domination not only raise complex conceptual and methodological questions that can challenge our understandings of domination or culture such ideas can also play an important role both in explanations of salient social phenomena such as social structures and in an evaluation and critique of such phenomena The diversity of styles of analysis theoretical commitments and normative frameworks across the chapters makes this book ideal for advanced undergraduate and graduate students looking for an entry point into this complex issue as well as for scholars in philosophy social science and cultural studies interested in the current state of the art Islamization and Native Religion in the Golden Horde Devin DeWeese, 2010-11-01 This book is the first substantial study of Islamization in any part of Inner Asia from any perspective and the first to emphasize conversion narratives as important sources for understanding the dynamics of Islamization Challenging the prevailing notions of the nature of Islam in Inner Asia it explores how conversion to Islam was woven together with indigenous Inner Asian religious values and thereby incorporated as a central and defining element in popular discourse about communal origins and identity The book traces the many echoes of a single conversion narrative through six centuries the previously unknown recounting of the dramatic contest in which the khan zbek adopted Islam at the behest of a Sufi saint named Baba T kles DeWeese provides the English language translation of this and another text as well as translations and analyses of a wide range of passages from historical sources and epic and folkloric materials Not only does this study deepen our understanding of the peoples of Central Asia involved in so much turmoil today but it also provides a model for other scholars to emulate in looking at the process of Islamization and communal religious conversion in general as it occurred elsewhere in the world Islamist Insurgents on the Defensive Dave Dilegge, 2018-02-28 This work is the fourth Small Wars Journal anthology focusing on radical Sunni Islamic terrorists and insurgent groups It covers this professional journals writings for 2016 and is a compliment to the earlier Global Radical Islamist Insurgency anthologies that were produced as Vol I 2007/2011 published in 2015 and Vol II 2012/2014 published in 2016 and Jihadi Terrorism Insurgency and the Islamic State spanning 2015 published in 2017 This anthology which offers well over six hundred pages of focused analysis follows the same general conceptual breakdown as the earlier works and is divided into two major thematic sections one focusing on al Qaeda and Islamic state activities in 2016 and the other focusing on US Allied policies and counterinsurgent strategies The Untouchables Oliver Mendelsohn, Marika Vicziany, 1998-04-30 In a sensitive and compelling account of the lives of those at the very bottom of Indian society Oliver Mendelsohn and Marika Vicziany explore the construction of the Untouchables as a social and political category the historical background which led to such a definition and their position in India today The authors argue that despite efforts to ameliorate their condition on the part of the state a considerable edifice of discrimination persists on the basis of a tradition of ritual subordination Even now therefore it still makes sense to categorise these people as Untouchables The book promises to make a major contribution to the social and economic debates on poverty while its wide ranging perspectives will ensure an interdisciplinary readership from historians of South Asia to students of politics economics religion and sociology The Gospel Among the Nations: A Documentary History of Inculturation Hunt, Robert A, 2014-04-10 The Gospel Among the Nations brings together in a single volume the most important primary documents illustrating how Christians have dealt with the most fundamental issue of the churchs mission how to translate the gospel in new cultural settings The texts range from Pope Gregorys famous instructions to Augustine of Canterbury on his mission to England to W E Hockings fateful Attitudes toward People of Other Faiths Beginning with a masterful introduction to the theme Robert Hunt assembles scores of texts that reveal the way that missionaries church leaders and local Christians have contributed to the extension of Christianity over two millennia and thus made it truly a world religion The Gospel Among the Nations is an essential resource for students researchers and practitioners in world Christian history and mission studies Cultural Hegemony in a Scientific World, 2020-12-07 This volume in political epistemology offers a comprehensive discussion of the multiple applicability of Gramscian concepts and categories to the historical sociological and cultural analysis of science The authors argue that the perspective of hegemony and subalternity allows us critically to assess the political directedness of scientific practices as well as to reflect on the ideological status of disciplines that deal with science at a meta level historical socio historical and epistemological Contributors include Massimiliano Badino Javier Balsa Lino Camprub Ana Carneiro Lu s Miguel Carolino Riccardo Ciavolella

McLeod,1987-01-01 Fundamentalisms and the Media Stewart M. Hoover,Nadia Kaneva,2009-06-09 The turn of the twenty first century has seen an ever increasing profile for religion contrary to long standing predictions of its decline. Instead the West has experienced what some call a realignment of religion where it persists in conjunction with other institutions and structures. Outside the West religion is an ever more prominent force in social and political movements of both reform and retrenchment. Across these contexts no issue in religion is of as much concern as fundamentalism or rather the fundamentalisms within various traditions which are seen to be fomenting religious social ethnic and political tension and conflict. The contributions to this volume represent the first effort to look at fundamentalisms and the media together and address the resulting relations and interactions from critical perspectives of history technology geography and practice. The result lays important groundwork for scholarship on these new and increasingly important phenomena.

The Materiality of the Past Anne Murphy, 2012-11-29 Anne Murphy offers a groundbreaking exploration of material representations of the Sikh past showing how objects as well as historical sites and texts have played a vital role in the production of the Sikh community as an evolving historical and social formation from the eighteenth century to the present. Drawing together work in religious studies postcolonial studies and history Murphy explores how relic objects such as garments and weaponry have like sites played dramatically different roles across political and social contexts signifiers of authority and even sovereignty in one collected revered and displayed with religious significance in another and are connected to a broader engagement with the representation of the past that is central to the formation of the Sikh community. By highlighting the connections between relic objects and historical sites and how the status of sites changed in the colonial period she also provides crucial insight into the circumstances that brought about the birth of a new territorial imagination of the Sikh past in the early twentieth century rooted in existing precolonial historical imaginaries centered in place and object. The life of the object today and in the past she suggests provides unique insight into the formation of the Sikh community and the crucial role representations play in it.
