Remaking The Chinese City Modernity And National Identity 1900 1950:

Remaking the Chinese City Joseph Esherick, 2000 Annotation Collects in one place some of the most interesting and exciting new work on Chinese urban history Remaking Chinese Urban Form Duanfang Lu, 2006-09-27 In this pioneering study of contemporary Chinese urban form Duanfang Lu provides an analysis of how Chinese society constructed itself through the making and remaking of its built environment She shows that as China's quest for modernity created a perpetual scarcity as both a social reality and a national imagination the realization of planning ideals was postponed The work unit the socialist enterprise or institute gradually developed from workplace to social institution which integrated work housing and social services The Chinese city achieved a unique geography made up in large part of self contained work units Remaking Chinese Urban Form provides an important reference for academics and students conducting research on China It will be a key source for courses on Asia in architecture urban planning geography sociology and anthropology at both the graduate and undergraduate level The insightful yet accessible introduction to urban China will also be of interest to architects urban designers and planners as well as general audience who wish to learn about contemporary Chinese society Writing Beijing Yiran Zheng, 2016-04-29 One of the oldest cities in the world Beijing was an imperial capital for centuries After the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949 Beijing became not only the political center of the new communist country but also the signifier of socialist ideology and revolutionary culture Now in the 21st century Beijing embodies global conflicts and global connections Over the course of the last century then Beijing moved from the quintessential traditional capital to the symbol of communist urban form and finally to a cosmopolitan metropolis These three stages in the history of Beijing and its shifting representations are the topic of this study Like other capitals Beijing is much more than its physical entity It also functions as a concept a representation As city planners have and continue to present Beijing to the world as a model the fluctuating images of Beijing have become solidified in urban space Today the urban form of Beijing juxtaposes diverse spaces that span centuries embodying the various representations of the city by its planners in different eras These representations of space also provide possibilities for writers to rethink and rebuild the city in their literary works Chinese writers and filmmakers often essentialize those urban spaces by making them symbols of different urban cultures the old houses representing traditional patriarchal Chinese culture while soviet style buildings reflect revolutionary culture Finally the more recent sprouting of apartments condos and townhouses stands for the invasion of western modernity and provides evidence of global capitalism in contemporary China Inspired by Henri Lefebvre this study establishes a framework that connects urban spaces representations of space to writers and literary productions representational space I analyze the three major urban spatial forms of traditional communist and globalized Beijing and examine what these urban spaces mean to Chinese writers and filmmakers as well as how they use them to configure particular images of Beijing I argue that these different configurations are actually the projections of those writers and filmmakers own cultural imaginations they provoke a form of emotional catharsis and also produce alternative visions of the cityscape Writing War Aaron William Moore,2013-06-01 Writing War examines over two hundred diaries and many more letters postcards and memoirs written by Chinese Japanese and American servicemen in the Pacific from 1937 to 1945 As he describes conflicts that have often been overlooked by historians Aaron William Moore reflects on diaries as tools in the construction of modern identity dissolving social cultural and political orders Boatmen asserted their own values bemoaned exploitation and imagined their sexuality largely in order to cope with their low social status Through studying the Sichuan boatmen we gain an insight into the ways in which twentieth century nonindustrial Chinese workers imagined their place in the society and appropriated without challenging them the traditional values

Globalization, the City and Civil Society in Pacific Asia , The Rise of Cantonese Opera Wing Chung Ng,2015-05-15 Defined by its distinct performance style stage practices and regional and dialect based identities Cantonese opera originated as a traditional art form performed by itinerant companies in temple courtyards and rural market fairs In the early 1900s however Cantonese opera began to capture mass audiences in the commercial theaters of Hong Kong and Guangzhou a transformation that changed it forever Wing Chung Ng charts Cantonese opera s confrontations with state power nationalist discourses and its challenge to the ascendancy of Peking opera as the country s preeminent national theatre Mining vivid oral histories and heretofore untapped archival sources Ng relates how Cantonese opera evolved from a fundamentally rural tradition into urbanized entertainment distinguished by a reliance on capitalization and celebrity performers He also expands his analysis to the transnational level showing how waves of Chinese emigration to Southeast Asia and North America further re shaped Cantonese opera into a vibrant part of the ethnic Chinese social life and cultural landscape in the many corners of a sprawling diaspora Touring China Yajun Mo,2021-12-15 In Touring China Yajun Mo explores how early twentieth century Chinese sightseers described the destinations that they visited and how their travel accounts gave Chinese readers a means to imagine their vast country The roots of China s tourism market stretch back over a hundred years when railroad and steamship networks expanded into the coastal regions Tourism related businesses and publications flourished in urban centers while scientific exploration investigative journalism and wartime travel propelled many Chinese from the eastern seaboard to its peripheries Mo considers not only accounts of overseas travel and voyages across borderlands but also trips within China On the one hand via travel and travel writing the unity of China's coastal regions inland provinces and western frontiers was experienced and reinforced On the other travel literature revealed a persistent tension between the aspiration for national unity and the anxiety that China might fall apart Touring China tells a fascinating story about the physical and intellectual routes people took on various journeys against the backdrop of the transition from Chinese empire to nation state "Kingdom-Minded" People Denise Austin, 2011-09-23 This book explores how Christian identity motivated early twentieth century Chinese business Christians toward economic social and religious contributions in China and beyond Parallels are also revealed today particularly through the influence of Pentecostal charismatic and evangelical training Chinese Walls in Time and Space Roger Des Forges, Minglu Gao, Chiao-mei Liu, Haun Saussy, 2010-03-31 Are walls remnants of ancient and medieval societies destined to become anachronistic in modern and post modern times Or will they persist shaping as well as adjusting to new conditions Do walls necessarily constrain and even isolate those who live within them or can they act as a medium of support and communication for people on both sides This volume addresses these questions Authors from six disciplines history art law medicine communication and film provide multiple perspectives on various kinds of walls material ones around and within states cities and towns as well as virtual ones regulating the administration of justice the flow of pathogens and the transmission of information
