Path Dependence and New Path Creation in Renewable Energy Technologies James Simmie, 2016-01-08 Why are old technologies persisted with after better alternatives have been invented This book examines this question a central concern of evolutionary economics specifically focusing on renewable energy technologies The concept of path dependence is used to analyse why and how technological development can become locked in to inefficient ways of doing things This book shows how lock in can be avoided by the creation of new technological pathways The chapters focus on the comparatively recent introduction of new wind turbine technologies for the generation of carbon free electricity This case study provides valuable lessons in understanding the issues confronting inventors attempting to commercialise their new ideas in the form of innovations in the face of historically established conventional technologies It is also set within the critical debate on climate change and the need to de carbonise energy supplies in order to stop further man made deterioration in the global environment This book was originally published as a special issue of European Planning Studies      OECD Reviews of Regional Innovation Competitive Regional Clusters National Policy Approaches OECD,2007-05-30 This report analyses the objectives targeting instruments and inter governmental role sharing used by 26 regional cluster programmes in 14 OECD countries      The Handbook of Evolutionary Economic Geography Ron A. Boschma,Ron L. Martin,2010 This wide ranging handbook studies and defines the paradigm of evolutionary economic geography The distinguished contributors highlight the key conceptual theoretical and empirical advances and present a clear statement of their aims objectives and methods      Sustainable Development and the Governance of Long-Term Decisions Jan in 't Veld,2009      Governing Smart Specialisation Dimitrios Kyriakou,Manuel Palazuelos Martínez,Inmaculada Perriáñez-Forte,Alessandro Rainoldi,2016-10-04 In recent years smart specialisation has been a key building block of regional economic and development policy across the European Union Providing targeted support for innovation and research it has helped identify those areas of greatest strategic potential developing mechanisms to involve the fullest range of stakeholders before setting strategic priorities and using the policy to maximize the knowledge based potential of a region or territory Governing Smart Specialisation contributes to the emerging debate about the role of the entrepreneurial discovery process EDP which is at the heart of smart specialisation strategies for regional economic transformation Particular focus is placed on what methods procedures and institutional conditions are necessary in order to generate information that helps buttress policy decisions It draws on existing literature that analyses the relevance of EDP within smart specialisation for regional policy Chapters are complemented with case studies about regions with different geographical and socioeconomic characteristics in Europe from Norwegian regions to the Greek region of East Macedonia and Thrace As one of the first books to directly address the EDP this is essential reading for students interested in regional economics public policy urban studies and technology innovation as well as for policy makers in regional and national administrations      Micro-foundations for Innovation Policy E. Foundations for Innovation Policy provides critical insights into the development of innovation policy Remaking the Global Economy Jamie Peck, Henry Wai-Chung Yeung, 2003-08-21 With a bibliography pp 231 252 Tourism and Innovation C. Michael Hall, Allan M. Williams, 2008-02-19 Tourism is often described as an industry with high growth rates and it is subject to radical change in how it is produced and consumed However there is still a relatively poor understanding of how such changes are brought about that is through innovation This book is the first to provide a comprehensive review of innovation in tourism while also considering how tourism itself contributes to innovative local regional and national development strategies This timely book places tourism innovation in the context of current academic and policy concerns relating to knowledge competition and the management of change A substantial introductory chapter provides an overview of what makes innovation in tourism both distinctive from and similar to innovation in other economic sectors This is followed by three general scene setting chapters which explore how competition and the search for competitiveness drive tourism innovation how knowledge transfers and knowledge creation lead the process and how institutions shape innovation These provide a coherent theoretical framework for understanding the roles of different agencies in innovation ranging from the state to the firm to the consumer The next four chapters analyze innovation at different scales Two chapters review the territorial dimensions of innovation through the fresh perspectives of the national and regional innovation systems followed by reviews of the determinants of innovation in the firm and the contested and complex role of entrepreneurship The final chapter summarises the importance of understanding tourism innovation This is a groundbreaking volume which provides an accessible introduction to a key but neglected topic It provides a readable account of the multidisciplinary research on innovation and relates the emerging theoretical framework to tourism A clear conceptual framework is complemented by fifty boxes which provide a range of illustrative international case studies This book will be a useful guide for researchers and students of tourism studies management and business and geography Procuring Complex Performance Nigel Caldwell, Mickey Howard, 2010-09-13 This book examines the management of Procuring Complex Performance PCP in large scale programmes that includes the downstream support phase in sectors such as construction healthcare transport aerospace marine and defence It brings together a series of edited chapters to explain why the traditional combination of linear project management and highly detailed contracts are now unsuited to the dynamics of emerging customer requirements based on performance and outcome Working with leading business professors across the UK and Europe Caldwell and Howard present the case for why large scale programmes of world class organizations often represent a shifting frontier between the boundaries of public private provision and silos of operations expertise Adopting a procurement perspective the authors explain how complex performance means not just coping with the dynamics of buyer supplier relationships but incorporates the shift from production orientation towards availability of bundled services such as maintenance and upgrade delivered over extended often multi decade timeframes The strength of PCP is its empirical case based support for new business models based on through life management availability contracting and service support which challenge simplistic notions of dyadic hierarchical relationships and transfer of risk to the supply base This unique publication is essential reading for scholars and practitioners seeking to understand the context of innovation and supply as a coordinated and integrated approach to managing and procuring complex performance      Keys to the City Michael Storper,2013-07-21 Why do some cities grow economically while others decline Why do some show sustained economic performance while others cycle up and down In Keys to the City Michael Storper one of the world s leading economic geographers looks at why we should consider economic development issues within a regional context at the level of the city region and why city economies develop unequally Storper identifies four contexts that shape urban economic development economic institutional innovational and interactional and political The book explores how these contexts operate and how they interact leading to developmental success in some regions and failure in others Demonstrating that the global economy is increasingly driven by its major cities the keys to the city are the keys to global development In his conclusion Storper specifies eight rules of economic development targeted at policymakers Keys to the City explains why economists sociologists and political scientists should take geography seriously      The Social Dynamics of Innovation Networks Roel Rutten,Paul Benneworth,Dessy Irawati,Frans Boekema,2014-06-27 The social dynamics of innovation networks captures the important role of trust social capital institutions and norms and values in the creation of knowledge in innovation networks In doing so this book connects to a long standing debate on the socio spatial context of innovation in economic geography which is usually referred to as the Territorial Models of Innovation TIMs literature This present volume breaks with the TIM literature in several important ways In the first place this book emphasizes the role of individual agency because individuals and their networks are increasingly recognized as the principal agents of knowledge creation Secondly this volume looks at space as a continuous field of opportunity rather than as bounded territory with a set of endowments such as knowledge base and social capital Although individually these elements are not new to the TIM literature it has thus far failed to grasp their critical implication for studying the social dynamics of innovation networks The approach to the socio spatial context of innovation in this volume is summarized as Knowledge Economy 2 0 It emphasizes that human creativity is now the main source of economic value and that human creativity and knowledge creation is not an organized process within organizations but happens bottom up in formal and informal professional and social networks of individuals that cut across multiple organizations      Milieus of Creativity Peter Meusburger,Joachim Funke,Edgar Wunder,2009-03-10 Milieus of Creativity is the second volume in the book series Knowledge and Space This book deals with spatial disparities of knowledge and the impact of environments space and contexts on the production and application of knowledge The contributions in this volume focus on the role of places environments and spatial contexts for the emergence and perpetuation of creativity Is environment a social or a spatial phenomenon Are only social factors relevant for the development of creativity or should one
