Security Strategy And The Global Economics Of Defence Production:

Security, Strategy and the Global Economics of Defence Production Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). School of Policy Studies, 1999 As the recent fighting in Serbia illustrates the technology of modern warfare is in constant evolution with implications spanning a wide range of public policy areas from the broad dimensions of alliance strategy to the specific confines of defence investment production and trade For the past several years technological innovation in the arms industry of the world's leading states has been proceeding in relation to the phenomenon of globalisation in the civilian sector Although the combined impact of the postulated revolution in military affairs and the globalisation of industry has been felt in all Western states it has been of particular concern in two NATO countries Canada and the United Kingdom as each is located on the margins of a continental market in defence goods Both have established a set of privileged linkages and interests with this market although they have retained a certain strategic political and economic distance Security Strategy and the Global Economics of Defence Production features contributions from a broad range of policy analysts and practitioners in Canada and the United Kingdom whose primary concern is to identify and analyse the major challenges that Ottawa and London will be facing in the coming decade Among the issues and challenges considered are understanding the changing nature of threat and risk to security interests devising appropriate means of harnessing and responding to technological change in warfare and assessing the relative merits of regional defence industrial groupings as opposed to trans Atlantic arrangements The contributors also discuss developments in policy respecting the procurement and export of arms as well as the enhancement of the quality of bilateral defence co operation and trade David G Haglund is director of the Centre for International Relations Queen's University S Neil MacFarlane is director for the Centre of International Studies and Lester B Pearson Professor of International Relations at Oxford University

Security, Strategy and the Global Economics of Defence Production Canada-UK Colloquium (1998 : Halifax, N.S.), 1998 Defence Industries in the 21st Century Çağlar Kurç, Richard A. Bitzinger, Stephanie G. Neuman, 2021-05-14 Defence Industries in the 21st Century explores the transformation in the global defence industrial production through examining the interaction between international and domestic factors With the global defence industry and arms market likely continue to expand and mature the ways in which this progression could influence international politics remain obscure In practice as the contents of this book show the defence industrial bases and arms export policies of emerging states display significant variance This variance is the result of a unique balance between domestic and international factors that has shaped the defence industrialisation behaviour and policies of the less industrialised states One of the most important conclusions of the book is that the interplay between domestic and international factors clearly influences the variation in the emerging states defence industrialisation policies as well as their success or failure While international factors create opportunities they also limit the options available to emerging economies Domestic factors also play an important role by shaping the policy choices of the states decision makers

Exploring the balance between international and domestic factors and the ways in which they influence defence industrialisation in emerging states Defence Industries in the 21st Century will be of great interest to scholars of Defence Industries Arms Manufacturing and Defence Strategic and Security Studies more generally The chapters were originally published in Defence Studies Comparative Strategy and All Azimuth Federalism, Democracy and Labour Market Policy in Canada Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). Institute of Intergovernmental Relations, Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). School of Policy Studies, 2000 In Federalism Democracy and Labour Market Policy in Canada the authors provide comprehensive assessments of the current state of governance within the areas of income support for the unemployed active labour market measures and youth policy The analysis focuses on how the current state of governance reflects a combined commitment to specific social policy goals principles of federalism and democratic oversight of the policy making process This volume sheds new light on the complex nature of the intergovernmental regimes governing labour market policy It makes recommendations concerning how different governance structures might better serve both Canadians and the federation War as Business Armin Krishnan, 2016-03-03 The privatization of defence assets and the outsourcing of military services from the armed forces to the private sector is an increasing trend This book approaches the issue of military privatization by linking it to the transformation of the defence industries since the early 1990s and shows the extent to which many military functions and activities ranging from military research to military consulting training to operational support services have already been outsourced in the US and in Europe This detailed study provides new and updated information on the ongoing privatization of the defence sector and offers an original theoretical explanation as to why the most modern armed forces throughout the world have come increasingly to rely on private companies for nearly everything they do Contributing to a better understanding of military privatization and its close connection to technological change the book explains the complexity of the whole phenomenon and discusses its implications for national and international security

Dangerous Trade Jennifer Erickson, 2015-05-19 The United Nations s groundbreaking Arms Trade Treaty ATT which went into effect in 2014 sets legally binding standards to regulate global arms exports and reflects the growing concerns toward the significant role that small and major conventional arms play in perpetuating human rights violations conflict and societal instability worldwide Many countries that once staunchly opposed shared export controls and their perceived threat to political and economic autonomy are now beginning to embrace numerous agreements such as the ATT and the EU Code of Conduct Jennifer L Erickson explores the reasons top arms exporting democracies have put aside past sovereignty security and economic worries in favor of humanitarian arms transfer controls and she follows the early effects of this about face on export practice She begins with a brief history of failed arms export control initiatives and then tracks arms transfer trends over time Pinpointing the normative shifts in the 1990s that put humanitarian arms control on the table she reveals that these states committed to these policies out of concern for their international reputations She also highlights how arms trade scandals threaten domestic reputations and thus help improve compliance Using statistical data and interviews conducted in France Germany Belgium the United Kingdom and the United States Erickson challenges existing IR theories of state behavior while providing insight into the role of reputation as a social mechanism and the importance of government transparency and accountability in generating compliance with new norms and rules

Canadian Defence Industry in the New Global Environment Alistair D. Edgar, David G. Haglund, 1995-05-01 Alistair Edgar and David Haglund examine changes in the international demand for defence products in the post Cold War era review the reorganization and rationalization of the supply side of the international defence market through various government policy initiatives and corporate strategies and discuss the ways in which the Canadian government and defence producers have attempted to cope with this new and uncertain international environment They also explore the international and domestic contexts military economic and political within which defence industries operate Edgar and Haglund's analysis draws on extensive interviews with political and industry leaders military personnel and government officials from Canada the United States the United Kingdom France Belgium the Netherlands Norway Denmark Spain and Germany This timely study of the domestic American and other NATO defence markets will interest scholars and students of Canadian defence policy Canadian foreign policy and Canadian external relations and public servants politicians and personnel in the industry

The Art of War in the Network Age Joseph Henrotin, 2016-09-16 Previous studies have looked at the contribution of information technology and network theory to the art of warfare as understood in the broader sense This book however focuses on an area particularly important in understanding the significance of the information revolution its impact on strategic theory The purpose of the book is to critically analyze the contributions and challenges that the spread of information technologies can bring to categories of classic strategic theory In the first two chapters the author establishes the context of the book coming back to the epistemology of revolution in military affairs and its terminology The third chapter examines the political bases of strategic action and operational strategy before the next two chapters focus on historical construction of the process of getting to know your opponents and the way in which we consider information collection Chapter 6 returns to the process of informationalization in the doctrine of armed forces especially in Western countries and methods of conducting network centric warfare The final chapter looks at the attempts of Western countries to adapt to the emergence of techno guerrillas and new forms of hybrid warfare and the resulting socio strategic outcomes

Managing the Revolution in Military Affairs R. Matthews, J. Treddenick, 2001-08-20 The collapse of the Soviet Union and the end of the Cold War was the catalyst for profound changes in the global security and defence management environment including alterations in the size structure and configuration of the Armed Forces emergence of asymmetrical warfare recognition of the strategic significance of military infosphere embracing all dimensions of the virtual and vertical battlespace emphasis on coalition warfare and defence industrial cooperation and reform of the financial procurement and logistical systems The contributors to this book evaluate these environmental changes within a defence management context

Canadian Environments Robert C. Thomsen, 2005 Responding to the comprehensive topic Old Environments New Environments scholars from a variety of disciplines reflect the various connotations that the term environment carries in a Canadian context Whether moving within the realm of foreign policy visual arts constitutional questions tourism nature preservation or aboriginal rights these essays put the capaciousness and cohesiveness of the nation to the test by illustrating the pressures enforced upon it by multiculturalism the claims for self determination anti confederate agitation and globalisation The environments scrutinised are many and various but within each the linchpin remains the quest for identity on the part of the individual the group or the nation at large Individually as well as collectively the essays in this volume constitute an important contribution to the ongoing debate on Canadianness

Forces for Good Graeme Cheeseman, 2004 Forces for good develops and explores the concept of cosmopolitan militaries It examines how governments militaries and institutions have responded politically doctrinally and operationally to claims that militaries have a new role in cosmopolitan law enforcement that allows and perhaps even requires the use of force to protect and defend those who are the victims of gross abuse of human rights The contributors include academics defence practitioners and serving military officers

BOOK JACKET The Globalization of Political Violence Richard Devetak, Christopher W. Hughes, 2007-12-18 This edited volume offers important new methodological and multi disciplinary insights into the study of globalization and political violence

Power Versus Prudence T. V. Paul, Teleglobe Raoul-Dandurand Chair of Strategic and Diplomatic Studies, Université du Québec à Montréal. Centre d'études des politiques étrangères et de sécurité, 2000 With the end of the Cold War nuclear non proliferation has emerged as a central issue in international security relations While most existing works on nuclear proliferation deal with the question of nuclear acquisition T V Paul explains why some states over 185 at present have decided to forswear nuclear weapons even when they have the technological capability or potential capability to develop them and why some states already in possession of nuclear arms choose to dismantle them In Power versus Prudence Paul develops a prudential realist model arguing that a nation's national nuclear choices depend on specific regional security contexts the non great power states most likely to forgo nuclear weapons are those in zones of low and moderate conflict while nations likely to acquire such capability tend to be in zones of high conflict and engaged in protracted conflicts and enduring rivalries He demonstrates that the choice to forbear acquiring nuclear weapons is also a function of the extent of security interdependence that states experience with other states both allies and adversaries He applies the comparative case study method to pairs of states with similar characteristics Germany Japan Canada Australia Sweden Switzerland Argentina Brazil in addition to analysing the nuclear choices of South Africa Ukraine South Korea India Pakistan and Israel Paul concludes by questioning some of the prevailing supply side approaches to non proliferation offering an explication of the security variable and its linking of nuclear proliferation with protracted conflicts and enduring rivalries Power versus

Prudence will be of interest to students of international relations policy makers policy analysts and the informed public concerned with the questions of nuclear weapons non proliferation and disarmament T V Paul is an associate professor in the Department of Political Science McGill University He has published several books and numerous articles on international security and the politics of nuclear weapons including Asymmetric Conflicts War Initiation by Weaker Powers The Absolute Weapon Revisited Nuclear Arms and the Emerging International Order and International Order and the Future of World Politics

The Economics of the Global Defence Industry Keith Hartley, Jean Belin, 2019-11-08 This book makes an original contribution to our knowledge of the world's major defence industries Experts from a wide range of different countries from the major economies of North America and Western Europe to developing economies and some unique cases such as China India Singapore South Africa and North Korea describe and analyse the structure conduct and performance of the defence industry in that country Each chapter opens with statistics on a key nation's defence spending its spending on defence R D and on procurement over the period 1980 to 2017 allowing for an analysis of industry changes following the end of the Cold War After the facts of each industry the authors describe and analyse the structure conduct and performance of the industry The analysis of structure includes discussions of entry conditions domestic monopoly oligopoly structures and opportunities for competition The section on conduct analyses price non price competition including private and state funded R D and performance incorporates profitability imports and exports together with spin offs and technical progress The conclusion explores the future prospects for each nation's defence industry Do defence industries have a future What might the future defence firm and industry look like in 50 years time This volume is a vital resource and reference for anyone interested in defence economics industrial economics international relations strategic studies and public procurement
