Screening Woolf Earl G. Ingersoll, 2016-12-06 As the subtitle indicates this book has three majors concerns The first and most important concern is an examination of the film adaptations of Woolf s novels To the Lighthouse Orlando and Mrs Dalloway in the order the films were released This is the heart of the matter a fairly conventional effort to acknowledge film reviews as well as the criticism of academicians in film or literature as a starting point for a fresh view of these three film adaptations Since many film specialists prefer that no film ever be adapted from literary fiction and many literature specialists have similarly wished that their favorite novels had never been filmed the effort to mediate the two sides can be challenging Of the three films To the Lighthouse is the least successful tending toward the old Masterpiece Theater

mode of attempting to be faithful to the source text to use the term of the film theorist Robert Stam but missing the essence of the novel Director Sally Potter's Orlando is cinematically the most venturesome and attractive although some Woolf readers condemn Potter's erasure of Woolf's intent to celebrate her affair with Vita Sackville West whose son Nigel Nicolson called Woolf's Orlando the longest and most charming love letter in literature Mrs Dalloway tends toward the Merchant Ivory style of treating literary masterworks indeed the film credits include a debt of gratitude to the producer-director partnership and is generally carried by the star power of Vanessa Redgrave although it is difficult to imagine her having a crush on another young woman even at eighteen The book's second concern is Woolf's interest in what she would call the cinema As a member of Bloomsbury she saw and participated in the discussion of the cinema especially avant garde films which she considered to be more the future of cinema than film adaptations upon which she heaped great scorn for their ravenous if not rapacious consumption of vulnerable literary fiction such as Leo Tolstoy's Anna Karenina Woolf specialists such as Leslie Hankins proclaim her one of the earliest and most significant British film theorists for the brilliant essay The Cinema 1925 as film was just beginning to establish itself as art and not merely popular entertainment The third concern is a complex effort to explore the David Hare Stephen Daldry film adaptation of Michael Cunningham's Pulitzer Prize winning novel The Hours an homage to Mrs Dalloway in which Virginia Woolf has a starring role as portrayed by Oscar winner Nicole Kidman The film and Kidman's prosthetic nose produced a violent division among the Woolfians who either commended its bringing legions of new readers to Mrs Dalloway and potentially to Woolf Mrs Dalloway becoming the best seller it could not have been in her lifetime or were outraged by the film's diminishment of probably the most important female British novelist of the 20th century Even Nobel Laureate Doris Lessing spoke out against the travesty of a novelist she considered a foremother of later 20th century writers

The Barbarian Principle Jason M. Wirth, Patrick Burke, 2013-09-04 Toward the end of his life Maurice Merleau Ponty made a striking retrieval of F W J Schelling's philosophy of nature The Barbarian Principle explores the relationship between these two thinkers on this topic opening up a dialogue with contemporary philosophical and ecological significance that will be of special interest to philosophers working in phenomenology and German idealism

The Spanish Eye Robert Havard, 2007 The guiding principle of this title is that the sister arts of painting and poetry are mutually illuminating their common currency being the visual image Five masters El Greco Velazquez Goya Picasso and Dali are discussed with a view to distinguishing what is peculiarly Spanish in their way of looking at reality

Modernity and the Hegemony of Vision David Michael Levin, 1993-11-08 A genuine contribution to the literature important especially to specialists in Continental philosophy but also to historians literary theorists and others who read recent European philosophy and who thus would want to think through the problem of the hegemony of vision David Hoy University of California Santa Cruz

Wuppuluri,Newton da Costa,2019-11-22 Tell me Wittgenstein once asked a friend why do people always say it was natural for man to assume that the sun went round the earth rather than that the earth was rotating His friend replied Well obviously because it just looks as though the Sun is going round the Earth Wittgenstein replied Well what would it have looked like if it had looked as though the Earth was rotating What would it have looked like if we looked at all sciences from the viewpoint of Wittgenstein s philosophy Wittgenstein is undoubtedly one of the most influential philosophers of the twentieth century His complex body of work has been analysed by numerous scholars from mathematicians and physicists to philosophers linguists and beyond This volume brings together some of his central perspectives as applied to the modern sciences and studies the influence they may have on the thought processes underlying science and on the world view it engenders The contributions stem from leading scholars in philosophy mathematics physics economics psychology and human sciences all of them have written in an accessible style that demands little specialist knowledge whilst clearly portraying and discussing the deep issues at hand The Mentor ,1924 Finding the Figure in the Carpet Lee McKay Johnson,2006-12-05 In his 1896 short story The Figure in the Carpet James sets forth a riddle for his critical readers as he approaches the major phase in his career He imagines a fictional novelist Hugh Vereker who tantalizes his critics with the idea of a single thread a design woven throughout all of his major works hidden in plain sight The design Vereker says is as obvious as a foot stuck in a shoe but the distinguished novelist is convinced no one will ever see it One critic Corvick however during a trip to India has an astonishing flash of revelation he sees the figure and the discovery is immense When Corvick returns and shares his epiphany with Vereker the novelist assures him that his discovery is precisely accurate there is not a single wrong note But Corvick dies in a road accident before he can write his definitive book on Verekers secret design My study will show the reader that there is a distinct figure in the carpet in the works of Henry James himself But James only uses the figure in a select group of his major novels and tales all six of which we will examine here These major works are all experimental and radical and show James allowing himself the artistic freedom to follow his own arcane and personal path The pattern is fully manifested in The Turn of the Screw in 1897 and remains the consistent thread all the way through the Masters final completed novel The Golden Bowl in 1904 I began writing about the relation of writing to painting and how James translates structural aspects of the silent art of painting into prose James borrows both silence and simultaneity from the painter his brother of the brush and experiments with their narrative equivalents I saw with increasing clarity that James admiration of the powers of painting led him into depicting nonverbal aspects of consciousness in language Finally I saw the whole system lock into place everything fit The figure in the carpet was revealed as visible silence With only a minute adjustment of focus I suddenly saw that James narrative pictorial structure that I had been tracing all these years constitutes the figure in the carpet itself The pictorial pattern literally governs every line and chooses every word James brings the reader into the full consciousness of his character by taking us into the silent radiation of the visible As readers we experience the silence before language the silence between words and the silence after language In this book I will show my reader how the figure in the carpet operates as the controlling design in every square inch of text in each of James most famous novels and tales

Artful Itineraries Paul Fisher, 2014-01-14 This study investigates the paradoxical dynamics of American high culture in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries by examining the strategies of Americans who wrote about European art in order to promote and legitimize literary careers Contrary to the myths they themselves disseminated American writers in Europe did not escape American culture but rather created and participated in US Cultural institutions like journals museums and universities Transatlantic careers articulated a cult of Europe in a privileged American space served social and aesthetic hierarchies and constructed formidable versions of professional authority of American writers The book focuses on four art careers Americans practiced in Europe travel writing art reviewing connoisseurship and salon hosting It illuminates the careers of William Dean Howells Henry James Bernard and Mary Berenson Celia Thaxter and Gertrude Stein as itineraries of high cultural formation and self definition In four chapters the study examines these paradigmatic careers as both literary and cultural history relating them to a diverse American society as well as Bostonian high culture Americans created and deployed expatriate art careers the author argues in a landscape of gender ethnic and class relations The use of Europe was both figural and practical writers created a fantasized Europe that both enacted social repression and enabled social liberation Ultimately as the example of James Weld Johnson demonstrates elitist and Europhile high culture reflected a much larger America as well as the narrower cultural institutions that historically fostered it A Treatise on Painting in Four Parts Consisting of an Essay on the Education of the Eye with Reference to Painting and Practical Hints on Composition, Chiaroscuro, and Colour John Burnet, 1880
