Ealing Revisited Mark Duguid, Lee Freeman, Keith Johnston, Melanie Williams, 2019-07-25 Ealing Revisited provides a major reappraisal of one of British cinema's best loved institutions Ealing Studios During its heyday Ealing produced a string of classic comedies including Kind Hearts and Coronets 1949 The Lavender Hill Mob 1951 and The Ladykillers 1955 but there is much more to Ealing than these films as this volume of new writing on the studio shows Addressing both known and less familiar aspects of Ealing's story its films actors and technicians the contributors uncover what has gone unexplored or unspoken in previous histories of the studio and consider the impact that Ealing has had on British cultural life from the 1930s to the present Listed in the Independent on Sunday's Cinema books of 2012 <http://www.independent.co.uk/arts-entertainment/books/reviews/ios-books-of-the-year-2012-cinema-8373713.html> Film And Television In Education Robert Watson, 2003-09-02 First published in 1990 The aim of the series is to define and defend a comprehensive aesthetic both theoretical and practical for the teaching of the arts There can be little doubt that of the six great arts which the Library of Aesthetic Education is committed to defending and defining film has been the most ignored in the curriculum of our schools There is a grand irony in this for film is not only the one unique art form developed in our own century but also the most unequivocally popular Film was envisaged as part of a system of communications which had to be decoded in terms of ideology and contextualized in terms of power and control Robert Watson's Film and Television in Education with its telling subtitle An Aesthetic Approach to the Moving Image sets out to remedy the neglect Moving Pictures and Renaissance Art History Patricia Emison, 2025-10-01 Film like the printed imagery inaugurated during the Renaissance spread ideas not least the idea of the power of visual art across not only geographical and political divides but also strata of class and gender Moving Pictures and Renaissance Art History examines the early flourishing of film from the 1920s to the mid 1960s as partly reprising the introduction of mass media in the Renaissance allowing for innovation that reflected an art free of the control of a patron though required to attract a broad public Rivalry between word and image between the demands of narrative and those of visual composition spurred new ways of addressing the compelling nature of the visual The twentieth century also saw the development of the discipline of art history transfusions between cinematic practice and art historical postulates are part of the story told here Audrey Hepburn Barry Paris, 2001-09-01 The most ambitious and personal account ever written about Hollywood's most gracious star Audrey Hepburn by Barry Paris is a moving portrayal. The New York Times Book Review that truly captures the woman who captured our hearts. With the insights of family and friends who never before spoke to a Hepburn biographer and never before published photographs, Paris has created an in-depth portrait of the actress from her childhood in Nazi-occupied Europe through her legendary career and into her UN ambassadorship. The Illustrated Guide to Film Directors David Quinlan, 1983-01-01 To find more information about Rowman and Littlefield titles please visit www.rowmanlittlefield.com The Cumulative Book Index, 1952 Motion Picture Photography H. Mario Raimondo-Souto, 2014-11-18 In 1891 William Dickson, a researcher at Thomas Edison's firm, developed the Kinetograph, a motion picture camera that used Eastman Kodak's new celluloid film. Almost immediately an industry was born. The new artistic and technical discipline of motion picture photography matured as the film industry grew. From the beginnings of the movie camera, developments in film production and exhibition have been inextricably linked to the evolution of motion picture photography. This work traces the history of motion picture photography from the late 19th century through the year 1960 when color photography became the accepted standard. Generously illustrated, it covers each decade's cameras, lenses, cameramen, film processing methods, formats, studios, lighting techniques, and major cinematographic developments. Each chapter concludes with examples of the decade's outstanding cinematography. Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here.
