Making Doctors An Institutional Apprenticeship:

Making Doctors Simon Sinclair, 1997-11-01 Few outsiders realize that student illness is frequently and ironically a by product of medical training This unique study by a medical doctor and trained anthropologist debunks popular myths of expertise and authority which surround the medical establishment and asks provoking questions about the acquisition and dissemination of knowledge within the field In detailing all levels of basic training in a London medical school the author describes students official activities that is what they need to do to qualify as well as their unofficial ones such as their social life in the bar This insider s expos should prompt a serious reconsideration of abuses in a profession which has a critical influence over untold lives In particular it suggests that the structures and discourses of power need to be re examined in order to provide satisfactory answers to sensitive questions relating to gender and race the dialogue between doctor and patient and the mental stability of students under severe stress

Technologized Images, Technologized Bodies

Jeanette Edwards, Penelope Harvey, Peter Wade, 2010 ethnographic approaches Offering a fascinating and wide range of perspectives the chapters in this volume bring an innovative focus that reflects the authors shared interest in the body and visualising technologies

Anthropology of Nursing Karen Holland, 2019-09-09 This book aims to introduce nurses and other healthcare professionals to how anthropology can help them understand nursing as a profession and as a culture Drawing on key anthropological concepts the book facilitates the understanding and critical consideration of nursing practice as seen across a wide range of health care contexts and which impacts the delivery of appropriate care for service users Considering the fields in which nurses work the book argues that in order for nurses to optimize their roles as deliverers of patient care they must not only engage with the realities of the cultural world of the patient but also that of their own multi professional cultural environment The only book currently in the field on anthropology of nursing this book will be a valuable resource for nursing students at all academic levels especially where they can pursue specific modules in the subject as well as those other students pursuing medical anthropology courses As well as this it will be an essential text for those post graduate students who wish to consider alternative world views from anthropology and their application in nursing and healthcare in addition to their undertaking ethnographic research to explore nursing in all its fields of practice

The Pursuit of Pleasurable Work Trevor H. J. Marchand, 2021-11-01 Against the backdrop of an alienating technologizing and ever accelerating world of material production this book tells an intimate story one about a community of woodworkers training at an historic institution in London s East End during the present renaissance of craftsmanship The animated and scholarly accounts of learning achievement and challenges reveal the deep human desire to create with our hands the persistent longing to find meaningful work and the struggle to realise dreams In its penetrating explorations of the nature of embodied skill the book champions greater appreciation for the dexterity ingenuity and intelligence that lie at the heart of craftwork

Identity as a Foundation for Human Resource Development Kate Black, Russell Warhurst, Sandra

Corlett,2017-08-25 Human Resource Development HRD involves the design delivery and evaluation of learning and or training interventions within organisations to improve the work performance of individuals and groups This edited collection will demonstrate the potential of identity theorising for problematizing and reconceptualising HRD activities Identity will thus be established as a foundation for enhancing HRD policy and practice While identity has emerged as a key focus for theoretical debate and for empirical research within management and organisational studies the potential of identity as a new paradigm for understanding learning and for examining HRD more broadly is still emergent That identity has such potential can be seen in the increasing recognition that training and development for many contemporary occupations represents nothing less than a project of the self Identity as a Foundation for Human Resource Development will complete a gap in the market providing sound single source theoretical foundations from the latest trends in identity theorising now a key area of organisation studies and apply these to HRD policy and practice The emphasis throughout will be on informing HRD policy and practice research and education the book includes a chapter on resources and techniques for HRD educators In short the book will put identity to work for HRD scholars The intended audiences are Human Resource Development scholars academics students and professionals this exciting new volume will provide a thoughtful theoretical analysis and operational practise for modern HRD Starting Research in Clinical Education Eliot L. J Marchand, Cris Shore, Veronica Strang, Richard Wilson, Mark Nuttall, 2012-07-25 In two volumes the SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology provides the definitive overview of contemporary research in the discipline It explains the what where and how of current and anticipated work in Social Anthropology With 80 authors contributing more than 60 chapters this is the most comprehensive and up to date statement of research in Social Anthropology available and the essential point of departure for future projects The Handbook is divided into four sections Part I Interfaces examines Social Anthropology's disciplinary connections from Art and Literature to Politics and Economics from Linguistics to Biomedicine from History to Media Studies Part II Places examines place region culture and history from regional area studies to a globalized world Part III Methods examines issues of method from archives to war zones from development projects to art objects and from ethics to comparison Part IV Futures anticipates anthropologies to come in the Brain Sciences in post Development in the Body and Health and in new Technologies and Materialities Edited by the leading figures in social anthropology the Handbook includes a substantive introduction by Richard Fardon a think piece by Jean and John Comaroff and a concluding last word on futures by Marilyn Strathern The authors each at the leading edge of the discipline contribute in depth chapters on both the foundational ideas and the latest research Comprehensive and detailed this magisterial Handbook overviews the last 25 years of the social anthropological imagination It will speak to scholars in Social Anthropology and its many related disciplines The Moral Imagination and the Legal Life Zenon Bankowski, Maksymilian Del Mar, 2016-03-03 What role can resources that go beyond text play in the development of moral education in law schools and law firms How can these resources especially those from the visual and performing arts nourish the imagination needed to confront the ethical complexities of particular situations This book asks and answers these questions thereby introducing radically new resources for law schools and law firms committed to fighting against the moral complacency that can all too often creep into the life of the law The chapters in this volume build on the companion volume The Arts and the Legal Academy also published by Ashgate which focuses on the role of non textual resources in legal education generally Concentrating in particular on the moral dimension of legal education the contributors to this volume include a wide range of theorists and leading legal educators from the UK and the US Cold, hard steel Agnes Arnold-Forster, 2023-06-27 Brilliant volatile and invariably male the surgeon stereotype is a widespread and instantly recognisable part of western culture Setting out to anatomise this stereotype Cold hard steel offers an exciting new history of modern and contemporary British surgery The book draws on archival materials and original interviews with surgeons analysing them alongside a range of fictional depictions from the Doctor in the House novels to Mills Boon romances and the pioneering soap opera Emergency Ward 10 Presenting a unique social cultural and emotional history it sheds light on the development and maintenance of the surgical stereotype and explains why it has proved so enduring At the same time the book explores the more candid and compassionate image of the surgeon that has begun to emerge in recent years revealing how a series of high profile memoirs both challenge the surgical stereotype and simultaneously confirm it An electronic edition of this book is freely available under a Creative Commons CC BY NC ND licence Anatomy Museum Elizabeth Hallam, 2016-06-15 The wild success of the traveling Body Worlds exhibition is testimony to the powerful allure that human bodies can have when opened up for display in gallery spaces But while anatomy museums have shown their visitors much about bodies they themselves are something of an obscure phenomenon with their incredible technological developments and complex uses of visual images and the flesh itself remaining largely under researched This book investigates anatomy museums in Western settings revealing how they have operated in the often passionate pursuit of knowledge that inspires both fascination and fear Elizabeth Hallam explores these museums past and present showing how they display the human body whether naked stripped of skin completely dissected or rendered in the form of drawings three dimensional models x rays or films She identifies within anatomy museums a diverse array of related issues from the representation of deceased bodies in art to the aesthetics of science from body donation to techniques for preserving corpses and ritualized practices for disposing of the dead Probing these matters through in depth study Anatomy Museum unearths a strange and compelling cultural history of the spaces human bodies are made to occupy when displayed after death
