Making Of The Broads A Reconsideration:

The Making of the Broads. A Reconsideration of Their Origin in the Light of New Evidence. By J.M. Lambert ... and J.N. Jennings [and Others], Etc. [With Plates and Maps.]. NORFOLK BROADS., Joseph Newell Jennings, Joyce M. LAMBERT, 1960

The Making of the Broads Royal Geographical Society (Gran Bretaña), 1973 Beyond Pilgrim Souvenirs and Secular Badges Sarah Blick, 2007-07-08 Brian Spencer former Keeper of the Museum of London was a major scholar of medieval popular culture He almost single handedly established the study of pilgrim souvenirs and secular badges He defined what these objects were and ascertained their function manufacture style and iconography with a careful use of primary documents and intricate stylistic analysis He identified every major souvenir and badge discovered in Great Britain during the last few decades He also made prominent contributions to the field of seal matrices gaming pieces and horse paraphernalia What bound all of these interests together was his understanding that the study of these artefacts could shed light on the beliefs and practices of a large number of people This is reflected in the frequency with which his work is cited This volume is a collection of essays written by those who worked with Brian directly and those with whom he corresponded Fluvial Geomorphology of Great Britain K.J. Gregory, 2012-12-06 Fluvial Geomorphology of Great Britain studies the development of river made land forms together with the associated fluvial processes There are many sites of scientific interest and value throughout the UK The GCR sites described in this volume represent the wide range of fluvial land forms in the UK and the accounts provide scientific descriptions of all the fluvial geomorphology sites in Britain selected for statutory nature conservation as SSSIs The Medieval Antecedents of English Agricultural Progress Bruce M.S. Campbell, 2023-05-31 Until recently historians tended to stress the perceived technological and ecological shortcomings of medieval agriculture The ten essays assembled in this volume offer a contrary view Based upon close documentary analysis of the demesne farms managed for and by lords they show that by 1300 in the most commercialized parts of England production decisions were based upon relative factor costs and commodity prices Moreover when and where economic conditions were ripe and environmental and institutional circumstances favourable medieval cultivators successfully secured high and ecologically sustainable levels of land productivity They achieved this by integrating crop and livestock production into the sort of manure intensive systems of mixed husbandry which later underpinned the more celebrated output growth of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries If medieval agriculture failed to fulfill the production potential provided by wider adoption of such systems this is more appropriately explained by the want of the kind of market incentives that might have justified investment innovation and specialization on the scale that characterized the so called agricultural revolution than either the lack of appropriate agricultural technology or the innate backwardness of medieval cultivators Water management, communities and environment Hilde Greefs, Marjolein 't Hart, 2006 More so than in most other countries water management was crucial in the Middle Ages and early modern era in the Low Countries where both man and the changing ecological conditions strongly affected the landscape Striking is the enormous variation in solutions to the water threat The authors in this Jaarboek voor Ecologische Geschiedenis primarily focus on the interaction between society and the environment social political and social economic factors prove to explain why the solutions implemented were sometimes sustainable and sometimes not The various case studies are introduced by Martin Reuss a water management specialist from the United States

Advances in Ecological Research, 1982-03-04 Advances in Ecological Research first published in 1962 is one of Academic Press's most successful and prestigious series In 1999 the Institute for Scientific Information released figures showing that the serial has an Impact Factor of 9.6 with a half life of 10.0 years placing it 1st in the highly competitive category of Ecology The Editors have always striven to provide a wide range of top quality papers on all aspects of ecology such as animal plant physiology population community landscape and ecosystem ecology Eclectic volumes in the serial are supplemented by thematic volumes on such topics as Estuaries and Ancient Lakes Now edited by Dr Hal Caswell of Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution Advances in Ecological Research continues to publish topical and important reviews interpreting ecology as widely as in the past to include all material that contributes to our understanding of the field

Geomorphology in the Anthropocene Andrew S. Goudie, Heather A. Viles, 2016-10-10 The Anthropocene is a major new concept in the Earth sciences and this book examines the effects on geomorphology within this period Drawing examples from many different global environments this comprehensive volume demonstrates that human impact on landforms and land forming processes is profound due to various driving forces including use of fire extinction of fauna development of agriculture urbanisation and globalisation and new methods of harnessing energy The book explores the ways in which future climate change due to anthropogenic causes may further magnify effects on geomorphology with respect to future hazards such as floods and landslides the state of the cryosphere and sea level The book concludes with a consideration of the ways in which landforms are now being managed and protected Covering all major aspects of geomorphology this book is ideal for undergraduate and graduate students studying geomorphology environmental science and physical geography and for all researchers of geomorphology
