Making And Breaking Childrens Lives:

Making and Breaking Children's Lives Craig Newnes, Nick Radcliffe, 2005 Making and Breaking Children's Lives examines how children are hurt in modern society The New Early Years Professional Angela D. Nurse, 2007-06-11 Celebrating the spirit and need for increased multi disciplinary working and co operation in the care and education of children this book addresses the emergence of a new type of early years professional It will support the reader in understanding the background and context to the current situation of change and excitement as well as help them reflect on the challenges and possibilities of future Early Years and interagency working It covers key issues such as families children and culture health and well being safeguarding children leadership and management Adopting an analytical and reflective style appropriate for degree level study this book is a core reader for all Early Childhood Studies and Early Years courses

Inscription, Diagnosis, Deception and the Mental Health Industry Craig Newnes, 2016-04-30 The Psy complex governs us all by inscribing diagnosing and interfering in our lives This volume takes historical sociological and psychological perspectives in exploring the complicity of patients professions and governments with Psy and attempts by all three to constrain the industry's activities Participation, Citizenship and Trust in Children's Lives H. Warming, 2013-01-11 This book critically analyzes and theorizes trust dynamics in children's lives and how they impact upon children's participation citizenship and well being drawing on a wealth of empirical evidence that examines trust in various institutional and cultural contexts Mental Health Ethics Phil Barker, 2010-11-09 Mental Health Ethics provides an overview of traditional and contemporary ethical perspectives and critically examines a range of ethical and moral challenges present in contemporary psychiatric mental health services Deconstructing Developmental Psychology Erica Burman, 2007-09-12 What is childhood and why and how did psychology come to be the arbiter of correct or normal development How do actual lived childhoods connect with theories about child development In this completely revised and updated edition Deconstructing Developmental Psychology interrogates the assumptions and practices surrounding the psychology of child development providing a critical evaluation of the role and contribution of developmental psychology within social practice In the decade since the first edition was published there have been many major changes The role accorded childcare experts and the power of the psy complex have if anything intensified This book addresses how shifts in advanced capitalism have produced new understandings of children and a new and more punitive range of institutional responses to children It engages with the paradoxes of childhood in an era when young adults are increasingly economically dependent on their families and in a political context of heightened insecurity The new edition includes an updated review of developments in psychological theory in attachment evolutionary psychology theory of mind cultural historical approaches as well as updating and reflecting upon the changed focus on fathers and fathering It offers new perspectives on the connections between Piaget and Vygotsky and now connects much more closely with discussions from the sociology of childhood and critical educational research

Coverage has been expanded to include more material on child rights debates and a new chapter addresses practice dilemmas around child protection which engages even more with the raced and gendered effects of current policies involving children. This engaging and accessible text provides key resources to inform better professional practice in social work education and health contexts. It offers critical insights into the politics and procedures that have shaped developmental psychological knowledge. It will be essential reading for anyone working with children or concerned with policies around children and families. It was also of interest to students at undergraduate and postgraduate levels across a range of professional and practitioner groups as well as parents and policy makers.

Teaching Critical Psychology Craig Newnes, Laura Golding, 2017-11-10. This edited volume may be the definitive text on methods and content in teaching psychology from an international and critical perspective. Chapters from internationally renowned contributors working clinically, educationally and in the community with a range of client groups outline critical teaching by and for professionals and service recipients. This timely book offers a unique research based and philosophically coherent approach to teaching psychology including teaching methods, the lecture content of radical approaches to modern psychology and debates as to whether the aim of teaching is to liberate or control. Themes include the nature of pedagogy, the importance of teaching and learning style, the relevance of context and content and the ways in which traditional teaching forms a part of the disciplinary rather than critical project. Teaching Critical Psychology offers guidance in teaching pupils, students, peers and those on academic programmes at undergraduate and postgraduate level.

Children, Health and Well-being Geraldine Brady, Pam Lowe, Sonja Olin Lauritzen, 2015-06-24. This book brings together new and leading scholars who demonstrate the importance of research with children and from a child perspective allowing for a fuller understanding of the meaning and impact of health and illness in children's lives. Demonstrates the importance of research with children and research from a child perspective in order to fully understand the meaning and impact of health and illness in children's lives. Encourages critical reflection on contemporary health policy and its relationships to culturally specific ways of knowing and understanding children's health. Brings together new and leading scholars in the field of children's health and illness. Moves the highly important issue of children's health into the mainstream sociology of health and illness.

Developing Professional Practice 14-19 Andrew Armitage, Gina Donovan, Karen Flanagan, Sabrina Poma, 2013-11-04. The Developing Professional Practice series provides a thoroughly comprehensive and cutting edge guide to developing the necessary knowledge, skills and understanding for teaching within the 0-7, 7-14 or 14-19 age ranges. Each of the three titles offers a genuinely accessible and engaging introduction to a wide range of professional practice supporting the education of babies to young adults. Discussion of current developments in theory, policy and research is combined with guidance on the practicalities of working with each age group. Numerous examples of real practice are included throughout along with a range of additional features to help promote understanding.
