Making Of Cities:

The Art of City Making Charles Landry, 2012-05-16 City making is an art not a formula The skills required to re enchant the city are far wider than the conventional ones like architecture engineering and land use planning There is no simplistic ten point plan but strong principles can help send good city making on its way The vision for 21st century cities must be to be the most imaginative cities for the world rather than in the world This one change of word from in to for gives city making an ethical foundation and value base It helps cities become places of solidarity where the relations between the individual the group outsiders to the city and the planet are in better alignment Following the widespread success of The Creative City this new book aided by international case studies explains how to reassess urban potential so that cities can strengthen their identity and adapt to the changing global terms of trade and mass migration It explores the deeper fault lines paradoxes and strategic dilemmas that make creating the good city so difficult explores the intertwined development of urbanization and globalization using a historical approach that demonstrates the many forms transnationalism has taken each shaped by the circumstances of a particular time and place It also emphasizes that globalization has not been persistent or automatic many people have been as likely to resist or reject outside connections as to establish or embrace them The essays in the collection revolve around three foundational themes The first is an emphasis on connections among the United States East and Southeast Asia Latin America and South Asia Second contributors ground their studies of globalization in the built environments and everyday interactions of the city because even world spanning practices must be understood as people experience them in their neighborhoods workplaces stores and streets Last is a fundamental concern with the role powerful empires and nation states play in the emergence of globalizing and urbanizing processes Making Cities Global argues that combining urban history with a transnational approach leads to a richer understanding of our increasingly interconnected world In order to achieve prosperity peace and sustainability in metropolitan areas in the present and into the future we must understand their historical origins and development Contributors Erica Allen Kim Leandro Benmergui Matt Garcia Richard Harris Carola Hein Nancy Kwak Carl Nightingale Amy C Offner Margaret O Mara Nikhil Rao A K Sandoval Strausz Arijit Sen Thomas J Sugrue Sustainable Education and Development - Making Cities and Human Settlements Inclusive, Safe, Resilient, and Sustainable Joseph N.
